THEIR JUST DESERTS.

Two Men Plead Guilty, But the Third One Said Not Guilty, Yet Had Nothing to Say in Defence of Himself.

After ten months confinement to the bed, the result of a most cowardly assault, Mr. Edward Rogers, the well known labor man, is able to be out again with the assistance of a pair of crutches.

It will be some time yet before he will be entirely recovered, so the ferocity of the assault may be imagined.

He was in court this morning to appear against the three men who are charged with having assaulted him. Two of them have pleaded guilty, and the third, Thomas Kelleher, who was arrested yesterday, pleaded not guilty.

He is not over 20 years of age.

The case was tried and Mr. Rogers testified that on the afternoon of September 18, he was standing on Appleton street in conversation with Thomas O'Boyle, when five men came along and pushed him off the sidewalk. He turned and asked them what they were trying to do, whereupon two of them turned and punched him, and later the three, one of the defendants punched him, knocking him to the ground and then kicked him in the face. The defendant in asking Mr. Rogers questions, partly incrriminated himself by saying that no one kicked him they only punched him.

Dr. Gage testified to the extent of the injuries which were serious.

Mr. O'Boyle and Officer Walsh also testified for the government.

For the defence Kelleher had nothing to say and the court sentenced him to the house of correction for one year, stating that such a sentence was warranted by the brutality of the offense. The sentence will go into effect upon the expiration of that which he is now serving for drunkenness.

Joseph O'Brien and Thomas Donnelly the other two were each sentenced to the House of Correction for one year for assault, and an additional four months in the same institution for drunkenness.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

The Turtle club met on Sunday afternoon and added four new names to the list making a membership of 137. There will be a meeting at 7.30 tomorrow evening.

A Lawrence clergyman, Rev. Geo. H. Young, rises to protest that a lecture given in that city on Sunday afternoon on "Patriotism," was nothing more or less than "a tirade" against another form of worship by Rev. Hugh Montgomery.

An Ulster Story.

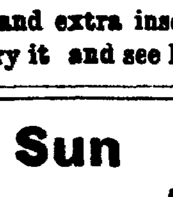

The King of Friezes will make hard sledding in the coat business this season judging by indications. A gentleman walked into the Merrimack Clothing Co.'s store Monday evening about 8.30 o'clock and in a very business like manner asked for the best ulster in the store for $15 50 The King of Friezes was shown him and after examining it critically with the assistance of a friend who accompanied him he spoke as follows: I have begun a way down city and looked at the fifteen dollar ulsters in the stores on my way through and am satisfied that this is the best I have seen. It is the first time we have done this going around and now I know it pays, I've been getting "soaked" long enough." The price of the king of friezes is $12.00 and being a heavy strictly wool frieze is ahead of anything ever seen in Lowell at the price. Talking about sales and big purchases we have purchased the biggest stock of clothing which came into Lowell this fall. We are here to prove it. Merrimack Clothing Co., opposite city hall.

A Parents' Duty.

It is the duty of parents to see that their children get none but wholesome reading. They should also see that they have every opportunity to read about the current events of the world, that they may become intelligent and keep up with the procession. INSIDE FACTS

What the Ministers Found Out by Investigation.

CITE CASES OF DESTITUTION TO THE CHURCH LEAGUE.

An Interesting Gathering and a Lively Debate.

The Church League met in the board of trade rooms last evening.

The purpose of the meeting was to receive and act upon the report of the committee, which inquired into the condition of the needy; and also to act upon the suggestion that a central bureau of relief be formed.

The meeting was called to order by Pres. George A. Batchelder and Rev. Dr. Seymour invoked divine blessing. Rev. Mr. Merriam served as secretary pro tem. until Rev Mr. Tilton was unanimously elected. The latter not being present, Rev. Mr. Raboteau was chosen secretary pro tem.

Rev. Mr. Johnson said he had received a call from Mrs. F. C. Clarke of Boston who represents a midnight mission for fallen women in Boston. She is here to visit the local clergy, and to try to institute such a mission here. Mr Johnson suggested that the executive committee of the league consider the advisability of inviting her to appear before the league as soon as other matters are disposed of.

The president then read a letter from Rev. J. O. Campbell tendering his resignation from the executive committee.

The president then called for the report of the committee appointed to investigate the extent of destitution in Lowell, and Mr. Merriam, as chairman, submitted the following report:

The day following the appointment of the committee, we placed a book in the Young Men's Christian association rooms to receive names of applicants for work and relief. The first day there were ten; the second day 60. We paid $5 to a young man recommended by Secretary Harlow to keep the records, but unfortunately he disappeared, records and all, and has not yet returned, so I am unable to give the valuable information contained in that book Only a few of all who solicited aid were what might be termined unworthy. They were of the better class of wage earners. I inquired among the leading industries of Lowell and was given a great deal of information which tended to show the spread of destitution and suffering. In the order of my inquiries the first mill owner said his mill was running short handed on half time, and he ventured to say that those who claimed to be running full time tell deliberate falsehoods. Second, the employes he is unable to furnish work for are suffering to a pinch. Another, running full time, and lots of applicants for work. The next usually employed 600, now 300, lots of applicants, the number increasing largely the past two weeks. Another said he had but six or eight applicants daily but this was because it is generally known that no extra help is being employed here. One mill has nearly 1000 men about its gates every day, but the speaker questioned the character of the men as a whole. Another who employs intelligent men is 300 short of full quota with lots of applicants One was running 41 short of full force and on three quarters time, lots of applicants. Another one-half to three-quarter full force, five days a week and scores of applicants. Two others were running part force all the time, and one full force of 2100 all the time; all however had lots of applicants.

The evasive replies I received showed things to be worse than the mill men cared to admit. The conclusion reached as based upon our investigation is that the mills are only running on partial time with a partial force, and that great numbers are out of work and need assistance.

Destitute Women.

Miss Mudge of Y. W. C. A. tells me that her experience with destitute and needy women shows that there is great suffering among them. They are unquestionably in a deplorable condition, and I dread to conjecture the result if their condition is not soon improved. These are some of the individual cases investigated by Miss Mudge.

Young woman, 20 years of age, with her mother dependent on her, earns but 22 cents for a whole day's work. She is a worthy Christian girl and says it is impossible for her to live at this rate.

A young girl of 18 has a mother and three little brothers dependant on her. Gets only $3 per week and this only pays for rent, fuel, food, &c. Goes into mill at 7.30 and gets out at 4 p. m. Does not earn enough to exist.

Young girl in family of ten says the older boys have no work; all that comes in is what the father earns. Anxious to get work to help out family.

Young girl of family of ten; pays board for herself and three younger children. Cannot get living wages in the mill.

Single girl, Catholic, Irish, boarding—no means of paying board; needs work badly and does anything.

Widow, Irish, Catholic, does housework but has been out of work since last summer; money is nearly spent and she has none for board.

Three Protestant girls who have done table work, are not experienced in other work and can find none; cannot pay board; expects to have to leave any day. One girl turned out of boarding house at night, no place to go.

Girl 19 years old, no parents, is out of work five weeks; does housework; very needy.

American girl, worked in box shop, ten in family, mother and father dead, brothers pay her board, work in machine shop—wages cut down.

A young girl, one of a family of ten, Canadians, father works in woolen mill, brothers work in mill when they can get work, no means of support but what father earns.

A young girl, Irish Catholic, out of work three months, boarding, no friends in this country but cousins—needs work.

American, members of First Congregational church, father no work, machinist, or works about machine shop, four others out of work; brother painter, no work; sisters work in plush mill, not running for two months.

I investigated the pawn shops and was told that up to two weeks ago pledges had been mostly received from the lower classes but times have continued so hard that they seem to have nothing to pawn and cannot redeem their pledges. The more respectable people are now coming in with pledges.

The labor bureaus are over-run with applicants for assistance as well as the employment offices."

He then submitted the following recommendations:

Whereas the facts already collected seem to indicate that actual distress is impending within our city,

Resolved, 1 That we establish an agency for relief to become the servant of the Church league in ministering to the poor of the city.

2 That all churches be invited to contribute such a sum of money as shall meet the necessary expenses incident in carry forward such ministration and in providing for this need

3. That the pastor and delegates of each church be the committee to receive the funds for this relief.

4. That the people of Lowell be invited to place at the disposal of such agency such supplies of fuel, clothing, etc., as their generosity shall prompt.

CHARLES L MERRIAM
FRANCIS E. SAUNDERS.

The report was then discussed.

Dr. Dana said the people were not so badly off but what they could keep the premiums paid up on their life insurances.

Mr. Merriam remarked that the poor people will refuse to meet all other obligations in order to keep their policies paid, as a manager of a life insurance company had informed him. Dr. Dana then spoke at some length on the condition of things in the city during which he denounced the "$60,000 piece of fallacyism."

The matter was further discussed pro. and con., by Revs. Dana, Merriam, Hall, Mallory, Greene, Huntington, Seymour, and Mr. Saunders.

The matter was finally referred to the executive committee to be carried out as deemed expedient. The meeting then adjourned.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Pass a Big Batch of Petitions For Street Improvements

The board of aldermen held a special meeting last evening, Aldermen Lovejoy and F W. Puffer absent.

The board of health sent in a communication calling attention to the necessity of a sewer to drain the section which now empties into River Meadow Brook. The communication was placed on file.

The following petitions were referred: G. W. Bagley and others for sewer in Foster street; Charles Callahan to open sewer in Lakeview avenue; William Nichols for an electric light at the junction of Moody and Tilden streets; J. F. Savage same at the corner of Tenth and Metheun streets; George Emsley same on Weed street; J. A. McQuade and others for appointment of J. A. Gately as constable; Ann Blessington for removal of trees on South street; Peter London, John B. Swift and others for new highway in southern portion of the city; A. J. Simpson and others remonstrating against accepting James court; W. E. Fitch to build an addition to the brick building at the corner of Middlesex and Gorham streets.

A petition asking for a recount of the senatorial vote was received and it was voted to begin the recount at 2.30 this afternoon.

A resolution authorizing the city to seize land adjacent to the Edson cemetery for the purpose of providing additional accommodations for single graves, was passed unanimously.

The amendment to the ordinance regulating hackney coaches and express teams was passed to be ordained.

Several reports of the street committee were ordered to lie in the city clerk's office seven days.

The petition of W. W. Clark for an undertaker's license was referred to the board of health.

The following resolutions took their final passage: To accept sidewalk on the easterly side of Concord Street; to accept sidewalk on the southerly side of Shaw street upon petition of W. E. Potter; to change the name of a portion of Salem street to Pawtucket street; to remove trees on Bridge street upon petition of Margaret Manning. The following petitioners were given leave to withdraw: A. H. Milliken, that New School street be called School street; Alvin Hughes and Mary A. Hallisey, for abatement of sewer assessments.

Street Department Work.

At the meeting of the street committee yesterday afternoon, Alderman Evans presided.

They instructed Supt. Crowley to straighten Beacon street and lay sidewalks on a portion of the same.

Alderman Evans desired to know if anything was to be done in regard to the Dummer street extension. Councilman Dolan replied that last year's committee voted to recommend a loan of $51,000 to pay for property destroyed. As improvements have been made since then he thought that a larger sum should be awarded.

Councilmen Hoban, Constantineau and Alderman Evans were appointed a committee to visit the premises and form an estimate of the amount required.

The committee then went into executive session and held a consultation over the Concord river bridge matter. It was finally voted to ask the city council for an appropriation of $60,000 for the new bridge.

Jammed Between the Cars.

A man named Thomas McCarty, residing at 64 Willie street, and employed by Davis & Sargent, was caught between the cars on Western avenue at 7.30 o'clock this morning and badly jammed. He was removed to St. John's hospital where upon examination it was found that he was badly injured internally.

An Apple Famine.

We have often heard of off years for apples, but this year apples are very scarce. Housewives are asking, what shall we do for our pies? The finest pies in the land are made from crystallized pie preparation. With it you can make all kinds of pies. Get it at the Boston Branch Grocery, 455 Middlesex street.

A Big Sale Reported.

It is reported that the entire newspaper establishment controlled by Consul Benj. Lenthier has been sold to a Boston and New York stock company. This will include the daily Le National of this city.

HAWAII

Dole Recognized as Head of Government.

REPORT OF MR. GRESHAM ON THE MATTER.

May Have Been Given Out to Test Public Feeling.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The state department yesterday received a communication from Honolulu telegraphed from San Francisco. It arrived by the steamer China. It is written in the navy department cipher. Experts were set to work upon the dispatch and Secretary Gresham took a copy out to Woodley for a conference over the matter with President Cleveland. Nothing was given out from the state department as to the substance of the dispatch.

W. P. Hastings, secretary of the Hawaiian legation, was shown the dispatch from San Francisco containing the news that Minister Willis had arrived in Honolulu and was about to present his credentials to President Dole. This news was obviously a great relief to the mind of the members of the legation. They declined to talk about the matter, as usual, but the satisfaction expressed at the presentation by Minister Willis of his credentials to President Dole suggested that they might have feared that the minister would be found to have been accredited to the queen.

Hawaiians' Hopes Raised.

The plan of the Hawaiian representatives evidently is to stand rigidly up for the rights they have secured by the recognition of their government. Minister Thurston touched the marrow of their hopes when he said that any attempt to overturn the present government by a foreign power would be an act of war. An act of war requires the consent or declaration of congress.

Congress will undoubtedly take up the subject of Hawaii in some way immediately upon assembling in December. The fight, it is said, will be made on the administration policy on this line—that it has declared war without the consent of congress, and has therein done an unlawful act. What effect it would have on this proposed policy if the present government should peaceably yield to the persuasions of the Americans is also discussed. The question involved is whether so peaceable a resistance could be regarded as an act of war. It is argued it would be an act of aggression on a sovereign power none the less because the power peacefully yielded to the threats of so overwhelmingly superior a force.

Gresham's Policy a Puzzler.

It still remains an unanswerable problem to those of diplomatic experience how the American minister accredited to the Hawaiian government can, immediately upon presenting his credentials, set about to destroy that government. This gives rise to many surmises such as that the real policy to be pursued by the state department has not hitherto been announced at all, but that Secretary Gresham's report to the president was simply designed to give opportunity to read the public sentiment on the subject.

It is not at all probable that it is true, but it shows that the policy of Gresham is considered so entirely extraordinary that incredulity and speculations cluster about it. There is a surmise that the restoration of the queen to the throne may not be followed by the entire withdrawal of the influence of the United States, but that, with the work of the last administration once undone, a protectorate may be established over the monarchy.

One clear and certain result of the present incident would seem to be that annexation will never be profferred to the United States by the Hawaiians again. If there is ever to be annexation the movement will originate in this country.

Minister Thurston at Washington.

L. A. Thurston, the minister of the present 'government of Hawaii to the United States, returned to this city last night. He left this city some weeks ago to take charge of the Hawaiian exhibit at the World's fair.

Mr. Thurston was asked what course he proposed to pursue in view of the situation his government is placed in by the declation of the administration policy. He replied that he had not perfected his plans as yet. He thought he would be in Washington for several days at least, but intimated that his duties might call him away at any time.

Mr. Thurston has been a prominent leader in what is known as the reform movement which has been in progress in the Hawaiian Islands for a number of years past. He is one of the most influential of those who secured the reformed constitution from King Kalakua in 1887. He is a natural orator, and the recent revolution in the islands was due in no small part to his efforts.

His father and mother were born in the islands and were children of the early missionaries who went out in sailing vessels from New England around Cape Horn. He, also, was born in the islands, and after being educated in the United States studied law and commenced practice in Honolulu.

Consul Wilder's Opinion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—At the Hawaiian consulate in this city no word was received which would throw further light on the situation at the islands. Consul Wilder stated that in case the administration should ask the provisional government to step down and out, the request would not be granted; but in case that force should be threatened the provisional government could have but one course to pursue; resistance 'to the power of the United States would be useless, but it would protest with all its moral force against such a highhanded outrage. Should the United States protectorate of the monarchy be withdrawn, that monarchy would not last a day. Unquestionably, the next revolution would not be as peaceable as the last and the monarchy would surely be overthrown once and for all.

A Startling Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—It is reported that the British warship Champion secretly left Esquimault for Honolulu Nov. 8, the day after Secretary Gresham's letter was made public.

Going Over Old Ground.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Sir Julian Pauncefote has entered upon negotiations with Secretary Gresham for the settlement of claims for British sealers seized in Behring [illegible] to the modus vivendi [illegible].

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

BUFFALO, Nov. 14.—Seventy-five citizens of Buffalo lie under the charge of conspiracy, which will be presented to the grand jury when it meets. All of them are alleged to be members of the "American Protective association," the anti-Catholic secret society which has established several branches and already has a newspaper organ.

The case will be in the nature of a test to obtain an opinion from the courts whether this society comes within the scope of a criminal conspiracy and its literature under the ban of the law as matter tending to incite riot.

The names of the defendants cannot be obtained at the present writing, but it is known that the proprietor of the newspaper, printed as the organ of the American Protective association, several attorneys, merchants, business men, some civil officers and a clergymen are on the list. It has been a difficult task to obtain these lists for prosecution, as each member subscribes on solemn oath not to divulge his own connection with the order or the name of any fellow member. If it is possible the graver crime of treason against the state will be proved, which offense is punishable by 10 years' imprisonment.

DENNIS VESSEL LOST.

Crew Exhausted When Rescued by the Steamer Sutherland.

NORFOLK, Nov. 14—The British steamship Sutherland, from Charleston for Bremen, which put in here for coal, brought to this city Captain MacDonald and crew of six men belonging to the schooner Peter H. Crowell of Dennis, Mass.

The Crowell sailed from Norfolk Nov. 3 for Fall River, with a cargo of coal. She encountered bad weather from the first, and on Nov. 5 there were five feet of water in her hold, which steadily increased. When sighted by the Sutherland, Saturday morning, her decks had been swept, her sails lost and all her boats carried away. The men were in an exhausted condition, and had to be hauled on board the steamer with lines.

In Memoriam.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Sixty years ago Edwin Booth was born. In the concert hall in Madison Square Garden exercises were held yesterday to commemorate that day. Fifteen hundred people gathered there, among whom were those most prominent on the stage, in literature and in other fields. The hall was appropriately decorated. The remarks on the great actor's life and work by Joseph Jefferson, Henry Irving, Salvini and Parke Godwin were particularly touching.

Sophs Suspended.

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 14—The whole sophomore class of Bates college was suspended yesterday, because of the strong backing it gave to two of its men who were caught disturbing a public literary meeting of the freshmen last week. The two sophomores expelled the gas from the pipes with an air pump, and thus suddenly left the class and audience in darkness.

By Way of Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Marcos Morales, president of the Cuban league in this state has received dispatches which aver that, a rebellion is in full sway in Cuba. He says that the natives of that island have risen in force and have determined to throw off the yoke of Spain. They expect help from their countrymen in the United States and President Morales says it will be given.

Sang For the Queen.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Carl Rosa Opera company gave a performance of "Fra Diavolo" at Balmoral castle yesterday. The ballroom had been converted into a theater. After the performance her majesty gave an audience to the principal singers and conversed cordially with them. Mrs. Carl Rosa was present at the queen's special request.

Cincinnati Tribune In Trouble.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—A receiver has been asked for the Cincinnati Tribune by Augustus W. Bruck. He alleges that the company is not paying its obligations; is to the extent of $55,000 in debt, without prospect of extrication, and that the company is now thoroughly insolvent and unable legitimately to carry on its business.

Moody Merrill's Misdeeds.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—A petition for the disbarment of Moody Merrill, based on the alleged misconduct of Merrill in connection with a transaction about a mortgage which resulted in the loss of $4000 to Jennie A. Eastman, the administratrix of the estate of J. B. Eastman, has been filed by the Bar association.

Mercier Declares Himself.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—Ex-Premier Mercier, being twitted with disloyalty, avowed himself as in favor of Canadian independence and an entire cutting away from the mother country. He claimed that the first duty of Canadians was to Canada and not to Great Britain.

Cleveland Is For Modification.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Mr. Whiting of the ways and means committee says that he believes that the influence of President Cleveland will be exerted to modify the tariff bill as it now stands so that it will be acceptable to the Democrats of the house.

Senator Platt's Bereavement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Platt is dead. The remains were removed to Mindan, Conn., at 7:30 this morning. Senator Platt, his son, James Platt, and wife, and John W. Coe accompanied the remains to Mindan.

President Is All Right.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Secretary Thurber denied that there was any truth in the rumors of President Cleveland's sickness.

Four Lives Lost.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 14.—By the burning of the Wetter block last night four lives were lost. The property loss is $500,000.

A Majority of 80,900.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—The full vote for McKinley in the state was 432,900; Neal, 352,000.

A Delightful Concert.

On Sunday evening last Mr. W. H. Bent held another delightful parlor concert at his residence on Livingstone avenue, at which orchestral and vocal music composed the program, Mr. Joseph Leach being the soloist. The members of the orchestra were: Violins, Miss Charlton, Mr. M. A. Cuttle, Dr. Amasa Howard, viola, Mr. Thomas Nesmith; 'cellos, Messrs. A. W. Whitney and John Sawyer; flute, Mr. Walter Sawyer. clarinet, Mr. S. R. Fleet; horn, Mr. D. E. Dudley; pianists, Mrs. Dudley and Mr. Solon Stevens.

The program was a difficult one and was admirably rendered. A large number of Mr. Bent's musical friends were present and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed.

A SWINDLER

PEOPLE CASHED MANY CHECKS FOR HIM

And Found That His Paper Was Worthless.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—There are a large number of people in this city and Lynn besides the police who would like to learn the present whereabouts of a young man who a little while ago successfully swindled them out of large sums of money. This young man's right name is Talbot D. Gadd, but he was better known in this city as Ira McBride, for it was under that name that he passed here.

For a year and a half he worked for Superintendent Burgher of the Watkins Automatic Fire Alarm and Extinguisher company, in the capacity of special agent. While there he was an especially good employe, and it is said brought a good deal of business into the concern. McBride always dressed well and went in the very best of society. He is about 28 or 30 years of age. He made friends with everybody, and until he hastily left the city an enemy of his would have been hard to find. But within a week after his departure there were dozens looking for his scalp.

He always made his lodgings at the Grand hotel on Columbus avenue, and there used to entertain his friends in a most lavish manner. He was a great lover of wine, and this, together with a certain woman he adored, are thought to have caused his downfall, although there is but little doubt but that he has swindled people in a like manner in other cities, and this is looked upon as the reason for his going under an assumed name.

A Grand Sweep.

When he came to Boston about two years ago he was practically a stranger in this city, for his home is in the far west. With him, however, he brought several recommendations of a most complimentary nature, and he had but little trouble in getting a position from Superintendent Burgher. Everything went along well until shortly before his departure from Boston, and then he "worked" his friends and acquaintances, securing in different sums before he left money amounting to $3000 to $4000.

Shortly before his departure from Boston, say five or six weeks, there appeared on the scene a woman who claimed to be his wife, and who was formerly an actress connected with the McCaull Opera company. She lived with him at the hotel until his disappearance. She is now known to be in New York.

Soon after he came to Boston he made the acquaintance of a young man on Boylston street, and the latter became greatly interested in McBride, and for some time "chummed" with him. Often McBride would ask the young man to discount paper and cash checks for him, which he would do. He always found them good until the fellow left town, and then he discovered that he cashed paper for him to the extent of about $800 which was absolutely worthless.

This is the fact in a great many cases, and among his victims are Superintendent Burgher of the automatic company, who endorsed a draft for $150 which was worthless; W. H. Richardson & Co., gents' furnishers; Tailor Farrington; Proprietor Reynolds of the Hotel Grand; Jeweler Cohen; R. H. White & Co.; Louden & Wilson, tailors; Shoe Dealer Graham; Tailor Freidman and many others.

Just before his departure he went to Lynn and there swindled three firms on the representation that his employers had sent him to collect money, when in reality he had no authority to do this. From J. O. Marshall he obtained $299; Dearborn Bros., $100, and from M. Butman he also secured quite a sum. Others are anxious to find him.

When McBride went to Superintendent Burgher and told the latter that he had decided to go with his wife for a few days to the White mountains there was no objection offered and he started on his supposed journey, but he never came back. It was not until some time afterward that the office discovered that he had left behind his badge and other things belonging to the office, which first made them suspicious. It was then that his other crookedness came to light and the chief inspector was consulted. Since then his whereabouts have been unknown.

McBride came from a good family, and his father, E. T. Gadd, of the firm of E. T. Gadd & Co., wealthy real estate dealers of Lincoln, Neb., has often been called upon to clear the son of trouble and settle his debts. This time he refused to aid the young man.

When quite young he left home and went to the south, where he became a Texas ranger. He afterward went into the real estate business, where he made quite a lot of money, but squandered it all on women. He afterward became treasurer of the McCaull Opera company. At one time it is said that he was also an actor.

He had for an intimate friend while in this city a young man named Scott who swindled the Bauermiller Piano company of New York out of a considerable amount of money and for whose arrest a reward has been offered. It is thought that both of the young swindlers are now together.

BALLOT NOMINATIONS.

IT WAS SUCCESSFULLY TRIED IN LAWRENCE LAST WEEK.

It is Suggested That the Democrats of Lowell Use the Same Procedure in Order to Put Up the Very Strongest Aldermanic Ticket.

The absorbing topic in political circles, more especially in the democratic party, relative to the coming municipal contest, is how shall the nominations for aldermen be made—by city committee or by convention?

Yesterday afternoon a SUN reporter met Capt. Dolan of Lawrence in front of THE SUN building, and in conversation with him learned much of interest in regard to the experiment of the Lawrence democratic city committee, of which he is chairman, in having aldermanic nominations made by means of the Australian ballot, with the compliance to the law by having the city committee nominate officially the men who polled the highest vote in the election.

The new system has been previously mentioned in THE SUN and according to all reports, newspaper and otherwise, it was a grand success, and these reports are confirmed by Capt. Dolan in a most remarkable degree.

He said in course of his conversation "The idea of the Australian ballot was adopted for the reason that the democratic city committee wanted to put the very strongest ticket in the field to ensure a victory. The city is democratic, but still there is always that uncertainty about the city election which behooves the democrats to put up the best to win without fail. Now our municipal election history for a couple of years has not been of the best, so this year it was proposed to make a change. I suggested the ballot as I had done for two years previously, and although there was great objection to breaking away from the old plan, and although everything was done to prevent it, the new plan was put in practice and I think and can candidly say that never before after caucuses has there been such satisfaction, harmony and quietness, and so united a promise to support the party candidates. It is just this way—usually when the city committee made the nomination the men got on the ticket who had the biggest pull in the committee; this is not always the way but generally speaking the men nominated were not the strongest to select. And then in the convention often times many of the delegates were pledged for a man on the hope that if such a man was elected he would pay back for the favors in municipal patronage. A convention nominates a ticket and usually the men with the biggest pull goes on it; it is very seldom that a ticket is made up completely with representative, thoroughly qualified men. Now I never saw the time, after either city committee or convention nominations when everybody was satisfied. Usually there are candidates and their friends who talk and kick and threaten because they think the nominations were by "machine." This does not apply alone to Lawrence; in Boston it will be the same way; the city committee will nominate, and McEttrick and his friends will go to the workingmen and say that the democratic ticket was of "machine" nomination. There were many candidates in Lawrence and each thought he was a sure winner if nominated. I had advocated the Australian ballot system as the most satisfactory, and so when it was put into practice everybody waited to see the result.

"The caucuses came off, and every one was as quiet and orderly a meeting as a prayer meeting; why, it was something surprising. No wire pulling, no pushing of ballots in your face, but simply the ballot which you marked in your booth was needed.

"And today I don't think you can find a word of complaint in the whole city. And now every democrat will support the ticket.

"In the caucus over 3000 votes were cast, and in Ward Three alone nearly 800 votes were given. The ticket selected is undoubtedly the strongest the democrats have ever put up and it will be nominated by the city committee and will win.

"To show how thoroughly representive the aldermanic ticket is I will say—understanding that I use the prefix simply in the way it is generally used to denote a person of blood ties and of race descent—that the ticket includes three Irish Americans, one French American, one Englishman and one Scotchman, thus representing every faction of the party. If this isn't representation I would like to know how you could improve it."

Capt. Dolan had further remarks to make about the success of the system but the substance is concisely told as above.

Timothy D. Finnegan of Ward Three has announced his intention to enter the contest for the council. He is prominent in the A. O. H. and in the Foresters. John Murtagh of Crosby street has been a candidate for the council on several occasions and got beaten by a few votes. He has entered the race this year and hopes his friends will stand by him in the caucus. He is well known throughout the ward.

The friends of Mr. Shannahan in Ward Three are confident that he will be successful in securing the nomination for the school board. His competitor is George M. Harrigan, the present incumbent whose whose friends are hustling in his interest with strong hopes of winning.

Councilman P. J. O'Brien, James H. Smith and John J. Ryan, Mathew Mansfield, Owen Callahan, Patrick Barry, Frank J. McMahon are all working hard for the nomination for the council. They cannot all be nominated, but the voters of the ward will select some four from the entire list of candidates and it is a lengthy one.

The meeting of the city committee on Thursday evening will be an important one inasmuch as it will fix the date for the caucuses to nominate the tickets for council, and school committee.

Day by day the feeling that an unusually strong ticket must be put in the field by the democrats is growing. Lawrence has set a worthy example in the method of selecting the best men, viz. the men most likely to be elected. The plan is too new to be adopted at such short notice in Lowell. In Lawrence it had been advocated for years, and was finally tried as an experiment. The success of the trial has been far greater than was anticipated, and it is not improbable that the plan will be permanently adopted.

GETTING OUT OF IT.

Witherby Maintains His Dignity or Thinks He Does.

Mrs. Witherby—Oh, look out, dear! You are putting that mucilage brush in the ink bottle.

Witherby (jabbing it in)—Well, what of it?

Mrs. Witherby—There! If that isn't just like a man. So obstinate! You wouldn't admit you're wrong. I should think you would be ashamed to give way so to your feelings.

Witherby—Wrong! Obstinate! (Jabbing it in again.) What do you mean? I guess I can put a mucilage brush in an inkwell if I want to.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course, but how foolish! I should think you would have more self control. I never saw such a man!

Witherby (gaining time)—Didn't, eh? Umph. You don't know what you are talking about. How do you know but what I wanted that mucilage brush in that inkstand?

Mr. Witherby—How absurd! What could you possibly want it there for?

Witherby (sarcastically)—Well, it is barely possible that I put it there on purpose. Of course, being a woman, such a thing would never occur to you, but as I am only a common, ordinary man I suppose I shall have to go into detail. I believe you painted two pieces of china the other day, didn't you? And I also believe, madam, that you requested me to pack them in a plain soapbox and send them to your uncle in Chicago.

Mrs. Witherby—Yes. I supposed you had forgotten all about it.

Witherby—Certainly you did. It takes a woman to go on a supposition like that. The fact that I was never known to forget anything in my life counts as nothing. You jumped at the conclusion that I forgot. It is, however, of no consequence that I am continually misjudged. I am used to it. Now, madam, I presume you are aware that if that box ever reaches your uncle it must be properly addressed.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course.

Witherby—Precisely. And I presume you may be aware that writing the address on a card and tacking the said card on the box is a very unsafe, unbusiness-like method.

Mrs. Witherby—I don't know as I had thought about it.

Witherby—Certainly not. I have been thinking for you for the last 20 years, and it would be strange if you should begin now. Well, madam, to proceed, what is the most natural, feasible, simple method to get that box addressed? Why, with a brush and a little ink, isn't it?

Mrs. Witherby—But, my dear, I could have got you another brush. I——

Witherby—Certainly you could. I was aware of that. But in your simple, guileless, woman's way you are of course not supposed to know of the chemical value of the admixture of mucilage and ink for marking purposes. You are not aware, madam, that ordinary ink applied with an ordinary brush will run into wood. I am not surprised that you do not know that a little mucilage rightly administered is the exact thing to prevent this.

Mrs. Witherby—Well, it may be all right, but it certainly did look funny.

Witherby—Of course it looked funny. Every woman sees things in a funny light at rare intervals, even if they haven't a sense of humor. Now, if you will get that soapbox, I will fix it up.

Mrs. Witherby—Well, of course, darling, if that was your idea, why, all right. I'll fetch it right up. (Leaves the room.)

Witherby (wiping his brow)—Phew! That was a narrow escape. I wonder what I would have done if it hadn't been for that box?

Mrs. Witherby (after the box)—And he thinks I believe him!—New York Press.

A SHORT TRUE STORY FOR WOMEN

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.

—II—

CHAPTER I.—The $4 Eton.

Imagine such a thing! A double breasted, reefer, Eton suit, of heavy flannel, warm enough for the lowest Lowell mercuries; strong and serviceable, in handsome shades of Navy blue, brown, dark green and black and as trim and stylish as anything seen on the street, and all for $4! The story starts well, doesn't it?

CHAPTER II.—The $6 Empire.

Have you seen our Empire Blouse Suit, made of Diagonal Serge in a wide variety of colors, and made doubly desirable for warmth and wear by being lined throughout? We are fitting the ladies of Lowell in this handsome suit for $6. We should be backward about disclosing this absurdly low price, only we know that in these hard times you won't think any the less of us for paring our prices way down to the core.

CHAPTER III.—Concerning Cashmeres.

The first two chapters have probably fairly well prepared you for surprises. That is fortunate, for here comes one of the surprises of your life. A Cashmere—a perfectly made, stylish, and beautifully made Cashmere Suit for $8! These are especially rich and heavy goods; and these suits (and the $4 and $6 suits as well) have the big 4½ yard skirt, now so distinctly AU FAIT.

CHAPTER IV.—$19 Tailor-Mades.

What woman does not admire a tailor made suit? But tailor-made suits have hitherto been a little uppish in price. We have something in tailor-made that we are rather surprised at ourselves. It is All-Wool, Homespun, in various shades, and stitched throughout with silk and trimmed throughout with military braid; and we will fit you in it perfectly for $10. How can we do this, you ask? There are people in the trade asking the same thing?

CHAPTER V.—Our High Grade Custom work.

If you want something extraordinarily nice, something full of individuality, that will perfectly suit your personality, as well as perfectly fit your figure, we will make up a tailor-made suit in different fabric for from $10 to $35. THE KIND THAT CURES

WILLIAM I. ASH,

"Heavy Deathly Feeling!"

A REMARKABLE CURE IN MALDEN, MASS.

"FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER!"

DANA'S SARSAPARILLA CO.,

GENTLEMEN:—About a year ago I was troubled with a HEAVY DEATHLY FEELING in my stomach, everything I ate caused severe distress.

I noticed your ad. in a Bangor paper and being a native of that place, and reading of the benefit old acquaintances had received from it, I secured a bottle of

at Miners' Drug Store in this city, they being the only ones that kept it in stock at that time. Strange to say that FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER and continued to improve and after taking two bottles I had a hearty appetite and could digest almost anything I ate.

I have recommended it to at least a dozen friends, and all I have heard from, have derived great benefit from it.

Very truly yours, WM. I. ASH
No 1 Rockland Place, Malden, Mass.

We hereby certify that we sold Mr Ash DANA'S SARSAPARILLA and his statement we know to be true in every particular.

BUSINESS

Improving as Shown by Financial Conditions.

BANKERS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SCARE

Which Has Recently Affected the Business of the Country.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Two score of gentlemen who preside over Boston's treasure houses gathered at the Parker House yesterday afternoon to welcome James H. Eckels to the city, at the dinner of the Boston Bank Presidents' association. The young comptroller of the currency is here to meet Boston bankers, and incidentally to tell what he can, from his official position, that will interest and benefit them.

He received a cordial reception at the dinner, which was served at 3 o'clock, and made a speech. Phineas Pierce, president of the Continental bank, presided, and, after dinner had been disposed of, introduced Mr. Eckels as the guest and speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Eckels said:

The commanding position which the banks of this country occupy in our financial world cannot be denied, nor the importance of our banking institutions overestimated. Established upon a safe basis and honestly conducted upon conservative lines, they are the greatest of all agencies for the promotion of a people's prosperity, but stripped of safeguards or dishonestly managed, the injury which they bring upon a people is only limited by the extent of their opportunities.

Benefits to All.

The supreme function which they fill is the distribution of the people's wealth, so as to make it a never-ending source of benefit to all.

Take from them, without cause, support, and inevitably the injury falls upon all. Demand of them in a moment of fright the money given in their keeping that it may find lodgment in hiding places, and of necessity the banks must withdraw this life blood from the arteries of trade, and the shop and store and factory must close and labor go unemployed.

Between May 4 and October of this year the withdrawals in individual deposits in national banks alone were $290,000,000 and of banks and bankers' deposits to the amount of $79,000,000, a total of $378,000,000.

To meet this drain the banks were compelled to call in loans, thus depleting the resources of active trade to the extent of $318,000,000, and from banks and bankers to the amount of $51,000,000, while to their borrowings was added $37,000,000.

Small Withdrawals Counted.

In the light of these figures, apart from the statistics of a like nature which could be added from state, savings and private banks, who can doubt but that the shrinkage in deposits on the one hand, contributing only to the fund of hoarded money and the calling in on the other of loans necessitated by the demands of depositors, withdrawing such vast sums from the activities of business, contributed more than all else to the stagnation from which we have suffered?

The most serious feature of the whole matter was the withdrawals of small amounts by depositors who were not borrowers, and whose accounts, as is well known to all bankers, are most valuable in the banking business, and constitute a most stable and important addition to the fixed capital of commercial banks, and is the fund which is used to meet the current demands of the business of each community.

This fact alone is sufficient to refute the charge that the financial stringency was the result of a bankers' panic, were it possible to believe that a body of intelligent, shrewd and prudent business men could be capable of setting in motion the machinery which would accomplish their own distress and ruin.

I trust and believe that this condition of affairs will soon give way to a better and different order of things, and industries now dead lened through the action of an affrighted people quickened into life.

Outlook Is Bright.

Happily at last the financial measure which threw so much of doubt upon our monetary system, destroyed the confidence of the people in our banks and paralyzed the activities of business no longer remains upon the statute book to plague us. Its operation worked harm to us abroad; it wrought disaster at home

Its repeal leaves us at last free to enter upon financial legislation that will accord with those principles of sound economics which through all the past centuries have, and in the future will, control the world's monetary operations. With such legislation aiding instead of retarding the unwritten laws of commerce and trade, the wealth of the American people must, in the very order of things, become as vast as their energies are unbounded.

In conclusion, permit me to say that the advocates of sound money must not rest content with the vantage ground which now is theirs. The declaimer advocating a money cheap and plenty is yet abroad in the land and will continue so long as there is hope of terms of compromise or yielding to his demands.

I am not unmindful of the fact that cheap money doctrines have time and time again taken a hold upon our people, but this seeming popularity is neither indicative of their real strength nor of their soundness as financial principles. No errors are so spontaneously popular with the mass of the people as financial ones, and none are so easily dispelled if aggressively attacked.

Scheig and Floyd Captured.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Philip Scheig, formerly paying teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, and Frank Floyd, were arrested at Southampton last night on board the steamer Saale from New York. Scheig is charged with stealing $75,000, and Floyd is charged with being an accomplice in the robbery.

Charley Mitchell as an Actor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Charley Mitchell has signed a contract with Theatrical Managers Powers and Edwards for 12 weeks at $2,000 per week. His engagement, it is said, will not affect the proposed fight, for it is agreed that he can break the theatrical contract at a day's notice.

Noted Southern Lady Dead.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Marion Twiggs Meyers, daughter of the late General Twiggs of the Confederate army, and widow of the late General A. C. Meyers, chief of the staff of General Jeff Davis, died of paralysis at Alexandria.

A Boy's Awful Error.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The cause of the wreck on the Rock Island road last Wednesday, causing 12 deaths, was brought to light yesterday when C. C. Shields, a twelve-year-old boy, confessed to having thrown from the rear of the wrecked train the fuse to notify the train following that the train was behind time. The boy said he did not know what the signal was for, and was released from custody.

SWIFT AND POWERFUL

Is the Cruiser Columbia, the Latest Addition to Our Navy.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Half a mile from Deer island innocently floats the Columbia, the swiftest warlike craft upon the wave. Given a whaleback, with a cruiser built on top of her, and you have the Columbia. The simple simile can be made even plainer by saying that the sides, gun and spar decks might be all shot away and there would then remain a veritable cast-iron nautilus.

Less imposing and less formidable than the New York, she will on the whole be more dreaded. The New York having been so recently tested over the same course, comparisons are natural, although somewhat out of order for as fighters they belong to distinctly different classes of craft.

Both, however, are cruisers. The New York belongs to the belted family, having plates of steel along her sides. The Columbia falls within the lines of what are generally termed protected cruisers, her shield being the coat of steel beneath her lower deck, which curves downward at the sides and ends, giving the lines of a whale's back.

The Columbia's run from Philadelphia was remarkable for its speed, being accomplished in 13 hours and 7 minutes, or 1 hour and 28 minutes quicker than the New York. But the equivalent of 4500 more horses, or 21,000 Dobbins, was what made the achievement possible. Speed is the great desideratum these days, as shown by the lines of the Minneapolis and the Brooklyn, soon to follow the Columbia; but there is a limit to the size and strength of shafting.

From this momentary obstacle, however, came a decided advantage. By subdividing the power by means of a third screw, the difficulty was not only obviated but increased economy secured, it being possible to disconnect the screws, the free revolution causing very little resistance to those in operation.

Chief Officer Aiken says that there are other exceptionally good points about the Columbia beside her speed.

SCIENTISTS PERISHED.

Whaling Vessel Came Across the Wrecked Ripple In Baffin's Bay.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The crew of the whaler Aurora, which has just arrived at Dundee, report that they discovered in Baffin's bay the wreck of the schooner Ripple. This is the vessel in which two Swedish men of science, Bjorlig and Kalvennius, left St. John's, N. F., in June, 1892. Their purpose was to collect specimens of the flora and fauna of Greenland along Davis' strait.

The crew of the Dundee boat, after a search along the shore, found two cairns near the spot where the Ripple had gone to pieces. One was covered with the remains of human bodies. Under the other cairn were found manuscripts and a note, written in English, asking the finder to send the papers to Baron Nordenskiold or the nearest consul. Near this cairn lay a skeleton, supposed to be that of either Bjorlig or Kalvennius

And They Were Experts!

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—A shell from a large gun fired during the Crimean war was discovered buried in the ground at Dobraja Nadoshda. The shell was being examined by several alleged experts in such matters when one of them struck the missile with a hammer, causing it to explode, killing nine people on the spot and severely wounding a number of others.

Oriental Disasters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The steamship China brings news of two severe calamities in Japan. One was a flood at Oita, in which 300 persons were drowned and over 2000 houses destroyed, and the other was the foundering of 44 fishing boats off the western coast by a typhoon and the loss of all their occupants, numbering 142 men.

Jennie Is Persistent.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Counsel for Miss Jennie Mighell, whose suit against Albert Baker (Sultan of Johore) for breach of promise of marriage was recently dismissed on the grounds that the sultan was a ruling sovereign over whom the English courts have no jurisdiction, has lodged an application against this decision.

Fight For Property Likely.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—William Bryant, a wealthy grocer of this city, died here in July last. Now it is said that Bryant was really Levi Dean of Lincolnville, Me., who had deserted his family 30 years ago. Bryant had a wife and two children in this city and litigation over the estate of $100,000 is probable.

The Kaiser's Warning.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The recent order of the emperor issued to the army as a result of the gambling trial at Hanover directs that proceedings concerning courts of honor be initiated against officers compromised in a trial. Any officers who are found to have violated their rank and honor will be cashiered.

Dodds Is Making Progress.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Le Temps publishes dispatches from Kotonou saying that Colonel Dodds' column occupied Atcherite on Nov. 7. All the tribes in the vicinity have surrendered, and they have turned over to the French 400 rifles and four cannons and a considerable amount of ammunition.

Foreigners Warned.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 14.—In consequence of the renewed bombardment of Rio de Janeiro, stringent instructions have been received by the commanders of foreign warships to take all the necessary steps to protect foreign property in the city.

The Salvationists' Congress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Salvation Army's Columbian congress began with a monster prayer meeting at the headquarters, Read street. Commander Booth was the leader. There will be a parade of the congress tonight.

Reports Didn't Suit Authorities.

MADRID, Nov. 14.—The correspondents of El Pais of Madrid and The Telegraph of London were expelled from Melilla, the authorities not approving of the character of the reports they sent to their papers.

Attempted Assassination.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—M. K. Georgievitch, the Servian minister to France, was dining at a restaurant when a man fired a shot at him, wounding him in the side. The assailant was arrested.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

A fire at Monson, Mass., caused a loss of about $50,000.

Ex-Member of the House of Commons Lalor is dead.

Boston's water supply has held its own since the last rains.

Rev. Dr. Morrison, founder of the Scotch Evangelical Union church, died at Glasgow.

The failure of Brown & Freeman, granite contractors of Mt. Desert, Me., is announced.

Dr. A. A. Miner was nominated by the Prohibitionists as a candidate for mayor of Boston.

Mrs. Mary Luce, aged 86, fell down stairs at New Bedford, Mass., and died from the shock.

John McCullough of Portland, Me., aged 37, committed suicide. The cause was despondency.

Requisition papers have been granted to bring William Marlow, an escaped convict, back to Massachusetts.

Governor McKinley of Ohio has accepted the invitation of the Home Market club of Boston to speak at its dinner Nov. 24.

A shed at Gale Bros.' shoe factory at Exeter, N. H., containing about $300 worth of naphtha cement, was burned.

The British parliament will not be prorogued until the parish councils and employers' liability bill shall have passed.

Baron Alexander Von Bach, the Austrian statesman, is dead. He was born in 1813 and was in public life for nearly 40 years.

Henry Labouchere denounces the British government for allowing the wholesale slaughter of Matabeles by the Chartered company.

John Moylan was killed and Bartholomew Fogarty injured by the collapse of a staging on Commonwealth flats, South Boston.

"Chicken" Welsh, for assault with intent to murder, was given seven years in state prison by Judge Hopkins at Plymouth, Mass.

Two hundred and fifty people killed, 80 missing, 400 wounded and $2,500,000 loss, is the latest estimate of the disaster at Santander, Spain

John H. McLaren, manager of the Royal Insurance company, and the greatest English authority on fire insurance, died at Birkenhead, Eng.

An unknown man who registered as J. Hine at the Central House, New Haven, was found dead in bed. Death was due to suffocation by illuminating gas.

By the new measurement of the federal geodetic survey of the height of mountains in Vermont, Mt. Killington's height is given as 170 feet, therefore being the loftiest peak in the state.

Miss Mary Reed of Cincinnati, a nurse among the lepers in India, has contracted the disease herself Her last letter home, instead of lamenting that fact, asks that $50 dollars of her small salary be withheld and given to the flood sufferers in the south.

Owen Sullivan of Danbury, Conn., aged 21, sentenced to the county jail for one year for theft, escaped from the Bridgeport hospital. He was transferred to that institution last Monday. Sullivan placed a dummy in his bed and jumped from the window.

James Brady, 60 years old, a farm laborer, died at the Hartford hospital. In a fit of delirium from typhoid fever he had crawled out of a window in the fourth story of the Columbian hotel on Market street, and held on to the sill by his hands until he dropped to the sidewalk.

GOLD RESERVE DEFICIT

Will Be Overcome by Action of Banks of New York.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A plan has just been perfected whereby the gold reserve of the treasury may be increased to its legal limit of $100,000,000. This is to be accomplished by means of an understanding with the banks of New York, whereby they are to increase the proportion of gold in their deposits with the New York subtreasury to cover the certified class that are presented by importers in payment of customs duties.

It is the system now in vogue for the banks to keep special deposits at the subtreasury for this use, and heretofore the gold has not averaged more than 1 per cent. The bulk of payments are made in treasury notes. As the deficit in the gold reserve now is only $15,000,000 and the associated banks of New York have on hand fully $60,000,000 it is thought that this scheme, which is a result of the recent visit of the secretary to New York, will be carried through.

BACK TO JAIL.

Noted Crook Brought From Connecticut State Prison to Lynn.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 14.—William Marlow, one of the shrewdest crooks in this state, was brought here by State Officer Joseph Shaw from the Connecticut state prison after a tedious journey.

Marlow has a history never to be forgotten by the officials in this part of the state. It was he who liberated several prisoners from Salem jail, escaping himself, in the spring of 1889. The men stole $200 from the safe besides securing some revolvers.

Requisition papers were signed by Lieutenant Governor Wolcott Saturday, and when he was released from the state prison in Connecticut yesterday, where he had served for burglary, Officer Shaw took him and brought him to this city, and today he was sent to Salem, where he will serve out a sentence of 33 months. Marlow is 25 years of age.

Tories Have a Home Rule Scheme.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—It is reported that the Tories are preparing an Irish home rule scheme, which will be published after the return of Joseph Chamberlain to England

For the benefit of those who contemplate house-keeping, whether on a large or small scale, we have prepared a set of Plans so arranged in goods and prices as to be adapted to the wants of all classes, and which will be found of the greatest assistance to beginners and others who aim to get the best possible results for their money, and which combine the greatest possible usefulness with the least possible expenditure. These Plans will be known as

and are the outcome of our very extensive dealings with the public and our thorough knowledge of their requirements. We claim for them the following essential elements, on which we base their success:

ORIGINALITY, BECAUSE no house in our business has ever proposed or adopted any such plans for securing to the purchaser such benefits as these afford, and because no matter what competitors may promise or hold out in copying these plans (as they undoubtedly will) they must fall far short of the quality, even if the quantity and prices are the same. On this particular point you get our guarantee.

FEASIBILITY, BECAUSE these plans have been originated and prepared by us, not merely for an advertisement, but are intended as a positive benefit to the purchaser in helping him to secure such goods as will give the greatest satisfaction in every respect. AND WE GUARANTEE that the goods set forth in either plan, if taken altogether, shall be found from $15 to $50 cheaper than they can be bought for elsewhere.

POPULARITY, BECAUSE all intending purchasers can find in these plans the realization of their ideas, and because no matter which you accept, you will find it is just exactly as if you had framed it yourself.

A Well Known Printer's Testimony.

MR. LYMAN METCALF, 46 Middle Street, one of the best known printers in Lowell, says: "Last winter I was troubled with congestion, and a distressing catarrhal trouble of the stomach. I tried two prominent Boston physicians and paid them a lot of money; but they did me no good. I was then induced by a friend to try a sample bottle of

ELLINGWOOD'S COUGH BALSAM

I felt immediate relief, and before I had finished the whole bottle I was completely cured, and the troubles have never returned. I then recommended it to a friend of mine, who was also cured of a severe throat trouble after he had used half a bottle. I have so much faith in it that I urge all who suffer with Congestion, or Lung Troubles, to try it."

THE SUN acknowledges the receipt with compliments of Representative James Stuart Murphy, a copy of the report on manual training and industrial education by the state commission. It is a valuable volume and gives much interesting information in the special branches of school work.

Some of the bricklayers have had their attention directed to a phase of the contract labor law which they think they can turn to their advantage. It appears from the information given by some of them last evening that during the recent strike some of the local master masons hired bricklayers from Canada and that the circumstances were such as to bring the transactions within the jurisdictions of the contract labor law.

A large crowd witnessed the old fashioned game of "peggy" which was played on the North Common yesterday, between two teams, on one John J. Ryan, Wm. H. Merritt and Barney Cahill, and on the other, J. F. Courtney, Frank O'Brien and Robert V Saunders The former team won two out of three rounds. James H. Smith was to have been referee, but was detained by political engagements The winners will accept challenges.

An entertainment and banquet was given last evening by Merrimack lodge, I. O. O. F., at the hall on Middlesex street. A large attendance was present The arrangements were in charge of Vice Grand David Burns, Noble Grand Jonathan Woods and others A fine program was presented and supper was served in the upper hall Speeches were made by Past Grand David Willman and Past Grand Masters Francis Jewett and A. B. Plimpton. Tonight Oberlin lodge will celebrate its 50th anniversary with appropriate exercises.

What "Old Hundred" Hayes Says

In speaking of Greenhalge's large vote Mr. Hayes, the famous "Old Hundred," says he was slightly disappointed on the vote in the city, and believes that if Hugh Montgomery had not declared for the republican ticket, Mr. Greenhalge would have carried Lowell by 1300 Mr. Hayes will lead in cheers for Gov-elect Greenhalge every day in the week and all day Sunday.

Work Will Continue.

Although there has been more or less talk about the stopping of work on the new post office because of the expenditures exceeding the appropriation, the situation seems to be about the same as when the U S inspector was here several weeks ago. He assumed that the building would be covered in, and if sufficient warmth was had, interior work could go on during the winter. Yesterday workmen were slating the roof. Superintendent Conlon says he expects that as soon as Mr. Staples is finished contracts for interior work will be given out. He also states that not over $125,000 of the $200,000 appropriation has been spent.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—On Thursday evening Annie Ward Tiffany will be seen here in "Lady Blarney," a new play written for her by Mr. Alfred Kennedy, who has succeeded in giving for the star a part which affords her numerous opportunities to display her versatility as a character actress. It is the best thing Miss Tiffany has done in late years. The characters of all the acts are dramatic and the dialogue is bright and catchy.

"Hands Across the Sea" in its previous performances in this city has usually packed the theatres in Lowell, and still its drawing powers are as strong as ever. Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday matinee.

MUSIC HALL.—Little Allie Fisher proved herself a star of the first magnitude last night as Birdie Lamar, in "The Upper Hand." For so young a child her acting is surprisingly artistic She was applauded to the echo, too, and will be the talk of the city before the week is half over. Mr. Meldon and Miss Tucker sustained the serious interest with their usual success, Messrs Thomas, Watson and Lyle all made big hits in comedy parts and Joe Harrington had a bit as a Chinaman, that brought him and Mr Thomas a scene call. Miss Williams played two parts well. The rest of the company was satisfactory, and the play was very well staged.

STREET NUMBERS.

How the Renumbering Troubles Letter Carriers and Others

The work of renumbering Lowell's residences is assuming such progress as to add greatly to the labors of the local letter carriers All the force is obliged to carry a book containing a list of the old and present number on each residence that has been renumbered. Much of the added labor could be spared if people who subscribe for regular papers, dailies, weeklies and monthlies would request the publisher to place the new number on their regular papers.

This is important in cases where sickness or accident prevent the regular carrier from working. Many of the carriers state that on streets which have been renumbered many months, papers bear the old number. The "boys" hope that subscribers will promptly request the publishers to alter their address and thus lessen their work for the coming winter.

The same cause leads to the failure in delivery of many papers. SUN subscribers should send in their new numbers.

CATHOLIC CHURCH AT FALL RIVER BURNED TODAY.

Police Think it Was Set on Fire—Loss Will Reach $30,000 and There is Insurance on It

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

FALL RIVER, Nov. 13—The church of Notre Dame de Lourdes on Bassett street, Flint Village, was destroyed by fire this morning.

At 12.30 o'clock Rev. Fr. Bessette, while returning from a sick call, discovered a blaze making great headway. He gave an alarm by ringing the church bell, and after a few moments help arrived, and the sacred vessels and vestments were saved.

Before water could be secured by the fire department the building was a mass of flames that lit up the whole city.

Two general alarms were rung in quick succession, and the firemen were kept busy until 5 o'clock this morning

The total loss will be $30,000, and the insurance is $16,000.

The origin of the fire is uncertain.

The building could accommodate 2000 people and was located only a short distance from the little church that was burned at noon yesterday. The police think the fire was of incendiary origin, but have no clue to the identity of the firebug.

The church was the place of worship for the 10,000 French Canadians living in Flint village, and was to be supplanted by a church now in process of construction, to cost $300,000 and accommodate from 4000 to 5000 persons. This new church will not be ready for occupancy for some months.

MONSON HAD A BLAZE.

The Loss is Estimated at $50,000

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

PALMER, Nov. 13 A disastrous fire broke out this morning in Monson about 2 o'clock.

It was first discovered in the north basement of the Central block, which is owned by Norcross & Reynolds. The block was a three story wooden building.

The loss is estimated at not less than $50,000, which is covered by insurance.

Killed in South Boston.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

BOSTON, Nov. 13. John Moylan, one of a gang of workmen at work on the new block, corner of E and 1st street, South Boston, was today precipitated from a staging into the cellar. He was killed, and a companion, Bartholmew Fogarty, was fatally hurt.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Progress of Y. W. C. A. Work Reported by Officers.

The Young Women's Christian association held a public meeting at the First Congregational church, yesterday afternoon. Rev. George F. Kenngott acted as presiding officer of the meeting and invocation was offered by Rev. Dr. Court. This was followed by scriptural reading by Rev. H. Lockhart. Mrs. H. B. Shattuck then submitted a report of the work done by the association in this city. Included in the report was the following statement:

From June 1, 1892, to June 1, 1893 4 corporation prayer meeting—attendance, 79, 51 young women's gospel meetings 1201, 28 noon prayer meetings, 148, 2 workers' prayer meetings, 30, 21 bible training classes, 111; 12 general bible classes, 144, 2 special public religious meetings, 60, 12 directed to boarding houses, applications for help and places in employment bureau for eight months, 437, daily average attendance at rooms, 30, total for all purposes, 10,736; 7 socials and receptions; 4 educational classes, students enrolled, 40, 1 club swinging class, students enrolled, 8, total number of members, 350; 75 members of committees. classes for 1893—Current events, English literature, English grammar New Testament Greek, penmanship, French, dressmaking, Workers' Bible Training class, general bible class.

Mrs. W. H. Pepin rendered a vocal selection and Mrs. Joseph Cook of Boston gave an address on the work of the association.

Addresses were also delivered by Revs. Dr. Thomas, Dr. Dana, J. O. Campbell and Dr. Seymour.

Rev. Dr. Greene offered prayer and the meeting closed with benediction by Rev. G. F. Kenngott. During the meeting the ladies' quartette responded with several selections.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Ex-Mayor Palmer says he wants a fine saddle horse, one of majestic bearing, with long mane and tail, of chestnut color, which will be fit for a colonel to ride, and which will set off a colonel's uniform.

While Warrant Officer Peter A. Cawley is away Seizure Officer Donaldson will take his place in court, keeping the list, sympathizing with offenders, collecting fines, jollying the reporters and a few other things.

A number of the male friends of Mr. John Cassidy who has been unwell for some time past, visited him at his home on Sherman street yesterday afternoon. The guests entertained with musical selections, while few could be more hospitable than the host. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

It is reported that two of the machine shop officials, having been frightened by the trouble at the Lawrence mills, started out yesterday with huge rubber boots covering their pedal extremities, to inspect the canal walls near the machine shop and that while crossing the canal on a plank both fell in and were wet up to the neck, and chilled through though fortunately not drowned.

Rev. Mother Vincent, O. S. D., of St Catharine's convent, Springfield, Ky., who has been visiting the Dominican nuns in Centralville, returned to Boston yesterday where she will remain a week at the houses of the order in the near vicinity of Boston. While here she was visited by many of St. Michael's parishioners. She is accompanied by Sr. Raymunda. Both were greatly pleased at the flourishing condition of the schools.

Who Is He?

Does any one know Thomas Moore, a man, aged 45 years?

He died yesterday at the House of Correction in Cambridge.

He was sent there from this city on September 30, having been arrested three times in as many days for drunkeness

When arrested he would not give any residence, and it is thought he had none in this country.

A Self Supporting Society.

A new musical organization has been formed in this city with a membership of about 35 The officers are President, George H. THEIR NARROW ESCAPE.

CONGREGATION INHALED GAS AND WERE STUPIFIED.

Late Comers to Church Discovered the Cause of so Much Sleepiness.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 14. The entire congregation of St. Paul's Catholic church was more or less asphyxiated by escaping gas yesterday.

So gradually had they inhaled the fluid that no one observed its effect until one of the altar boys fell over into a priest's arms. Even then, so stupefied had the congregation become, that the fainting of the boy caused no excitement.

A member of the congregation, who happened to come late into church, noticed the smell of gas and the sleepy condition of the congregation, and at once opened the doors and windows, thus doubtless, saving many lives.

BIG BANK RAID.

ROBBERS OPENED FIRE FIRST AND WOUNDED OFFICER.

Escaped With Much Booty, Although a Sheriff's Posse Will Chase Them to the Bitter End.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 14. A daring bank robbery, with an attempt to murder the president of the bank of Milton, took place at Milton, Ore., 10 mile south of this city, yesterday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock, when few persons were on the street, three men, well mounted, without attracting any special attention, rode leisurely into town and dismounted at the door of the bank of Milton.

Two entered the bank, while the third stood guard outside and held the horses.

Pres. A. Hopson, cashier N. A. Davis and assistant cashier William Hopson were in the bank at the time.

The first intimation of the coming of the robbers they had was when two shots were fired by the intruders before making any verbal demand.

Both shots took effect in Pres. Hopson's body, inflicting painful flesh wounds and felling him to the floor.

The revolver was held so close to the head of cashier Davis that the concussion knocked him down.

He handed them a tray of counter change containing $944.25. Taking this, they left immediately without an attempt to get the cash in the vault.

The noise of the shots spread the alarm, and within five minutes an armed and mounted posse was in pursuit, but all traces were lost after a short distance.

The weather was very foggy, and it was impossible to see more than 200 yards.

Salvationists Bring Suit.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

HILLSBORO', Ill., Nov. 14. Members of the Salvation Army have brought suit against the aldermen and policemen of Pana for $4,000 damages for false imprisonment. Over 100 witnesses have been subpoened to appear at the trial.

His Arm Torn in a Machine.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

ELLSWORTH, Nov. 14. George Haynes had his arm terribly lacerated in a planing machine in Hopkins' foundry yesterday. He would have been drawn in bodily if the machine had not been shut down.

Will Not Give Consent.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Nov. 14—The West Virginia, South Virginia and West Michegan Episcopalian standing committees have refused assent to the consecration of Rev. Fr. Hall as bishop of Vermont.

Shot His Sweetheart.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 14. Yesterday Michael McNamara shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. Ellen Sweeney and her daughter Mary, then shooting himself in the head. He will die.

Marriage Intentions.

Cletus Marville, to Obeline Lavernere, 26.
George F. Lyon, San Francisco, 55, to Gladys G. Long, Billerica, 17.

INSIDE FACTS

What the Ministers Found Out by Investigation.

CITE CASES OF DESTITUTION TO THE CHURCH LEAGUE.

An Interesting Gathering and a Lively Debate.

The Church League met in the board of trade rooms last evening.

The purpose of the meeting was to receive and act upon the report of the committee which inquired into the condition of the needy; and also to act upon the suggestion that a central bureau of relief be formed.

The meeting was called to order by Pres. George A. Batchelder and Rev. Dr. Seymour invoked divine blessing. Rev Mr. Merriam served as secretary pro tem until Rev Mr. Tilton was unanimously elected. The latter not being present, Rev. Mr. Raboteau was chosen secretary pro tem.

Rev. Mr Johnson said he had received a call from Mrs. F. C. Clarke of Boston who represents a midnight mission for fallen women in Boston. She is here to visit the local clergy, and to try to institute such a mission here. Mr Johnson suggested that the executive committee of the league consider the advisability of inviting her to appear before the league as soon as other matters are disposed of.

The president then read a letter from Rev J. O. Campbell tendering his resignation from the executive committee.

The president then called for the report of the committee appointed to investigate the extent of destitution in Lowell, and Mr Merriam, as chairman, submitted the following report:

The day following the appointment of the committee, we placed a book in the Young Men's Christian association rooms to receive names of applicants for work and relief. The first day there were ten; the second day 60. We paid $5 to a young man recommended by Secretary Harlow to keep the records, but unfortunately he disappeared, records and all, and has not yet returned, so I am unable to give the valuable information contained in that book. Only a few of all who solicited aid were what might be termined unworthy. They were of the better class of wage earners. I inquired among the leading industries of Lowell and was given a great deal of information which tended to show the spread of destitution and suffering. In the order of my inquiries the first mill owner said his mill was running short handed on half time, and he ventured to say that those who claimed to be running full time tell deliberate falsehoods. Second, the employes he is unable to furnish work for are suffering to a pinch. Another, running full time, and lots of applicants for work. The next usually employed 600, now 300, lots of applicants, the number increasing largely the past two weeks. Another said he had but six or eight applicants daily but this was because it is generally known that no extra help is being employed here. One mill has nearly 1000 men about its gates every day, but the speaker questioned the character of the men as a whole. Another who employs intelligent men is 300 short of full quota with lots of applicants. One was running 41 short of full force and on three-quarters time, lots of applicants. Another one-half to three-quarter full force, five days a week and scores of applicants. Two others were running part force all the time, and one full force of 2100 all the time; all however had lots of applicants.

The evasive replies I received showed things to be worse than the mill men cared to admit. The conclusion reached as based upon our investigation is that the mills are only running on partial time with a partial force, and that great numbers are out of work and need assistance.

Destitute Women.

Miss Mudge of Y. W. C. A. tells me that her experience with destitute and needy women shows that there is great suffering among them. They are unquestionably in a deplorable condition, and I dread to conjecture the result if their condition is not soon improved. These are some of the individual cases investigated by Miss Mudge.

Young woman, 20 years of age, with her mother dependent on her, earns but 22 cents for a whole day's work. She is a worthy Christian girl and says it is impossible for her to live at this rate.

A young girl of 18 has a mother and three little brothers dependent on her. Gets only $3 per week and this only pays for rent, fuel, food, &c. Goes into mill at 7.30 and gets out at 4 p. m. Does not earn enough to exist.

Young girl in family of ten says the older boys have no work; all that comes in is what the father earns. Anxious to get work to help out family.

Young girl of family of ten; pays board for herself and three younger children. Cannot get living wages in the mill.

Single girl, Catholic, Irish, boarding—no means of paying board; needs work badly and does anything.

Widow, Irish, Catholic, does housework but has been out of work since last summer; money is nearly spent and she has none for board.

Three Protestant girls who have done table work, are not experienced in other work and can find none; cannot pay board; expects to have to leave any day. One girl turned out of boarding house at night, no place to go.

Girl 19 years old, no parents, is out of work five weeks; does housework; very needy.

American girl, worked in box shop, ten in family, mother and father dead, brothers pay her board, work in machine shop—wages cut down.

A young girl, one of a family of ten, Canadians, father works in woolen mill, brothers work in mill when they can get work, no means of support but what father earns.

A young girl, Irish Catholic, out of work three months, boarding, no friends in this country but cousins—needs work.

American, members of First Congregational church, father no work, machinist, or works about machine shop, four others out of work; brother painter, no work; sisters work in plush mill, not running for two months.

I investigated the pawn shops and was told that up to two weeks ago pledges had been mostly received from the lower classes but times have continued so hard that they seem to have nothing to pawn and cannot redeem their pledges. The more respectable people are now coming in with pledges.

The labor bureaus are over-run with applicants for assistance as well as the employment offices."

He then submitted the following recommendations:

Whereas the facts already collected seem to indicate that actual distress is impending within our city

Resolved, 1 That we establish an agency for relief to become the servant of the Church league in ministering to the poor of the city

2 That all churches be invited to contribute such a sum of money as shall meet the necessary expenses incident in carry forward such ministration and in providing for this need

3. That the pastor and delegates of each church be the committee to receive the funds for this relief

4. That the people of Lowell be invited to place at the disposal of such agency such supplies of fuel, clothing, etc, as their generosity shall prompt.

CHARLES L MERRIAM
WM H WIGGIN
FRANCIS E SAUNDERS.

The report was then discussed.

Dr. Dana said the people were not so badly off but what they could keep the premiums paid up on their life insurances.

Mr. Merriam remarked that the poor people will refuse to meet all other obligations in order to keep their policies paid, as a manager of a life insurance company had informed him. Dr. Dana then spoke at some length on the condition of things in the city during which he denounced the "$60,000 piece of fallacyism."

The matter was further discussed pro. and con., by Revs Dana, Merriam, Hall, Mallory, Greene, Huntington, Seymour, and Mr. Saunders.

The matter was finally referred to the executive committee to be carried out as deemed expedient. The meeting then adjourned.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

A special meeting of the common council will be held at 8 o'clock, this evening.

The Turtle club met on Sunday afternoon and added four new names to the list making a membership of 137. There will be a meeting at 7.30 tomorrow evening.

C. James McNelley of Manchester and Miss Carrie M. Tupper of Nashua were united in marriage at the Immaculate Conception church in this city Friday.

The shop of Joseph Mellen on Charles street was broken into last night and a number of articles stolen. The thieves entered by means of a rear window. The police have been notified.

Next Sunday evening Dr. Kane of the New England Keeley Cure institute, will lecture to the Lowell Reform club on the influence of alcohol on the human system. J. N. Nichols will also speak.

A Lawrence clergyman, Rev. Geo. H. Young, rises to protest that a lecture given in that city on Sunday afternoon on "Patriotism," was nothing more or less than "a tirade" against another form of worship by Rev. Hugh Montgomery.

Hartley Midgley, engineer for the United States Bunting company, while working in a portion of the works, came across a sparrow hawk, which had been injured in some manner. He captured it and found that it measured 35 inches from tip to tip.

Mr. John A. Nicholls, the well known and popular lecturer, is to deliver his new lecture on "A night in the slums of New York," at the Pawtucket church, Tuesday, Nov. 21, and a week later at the same place a lecture upon "Mary, Queen of Scots."

It is reported that Miss Halley has received a complaint from an operative in the Byfield Manufacturing company's employ, in which it is said that the company has no special pay day, and pay their help whenever they choose. An investigation is being made.

Yesterday afternoon, while Mr. James H. Riley and Mr. Frank Callaghan of Lakeview avenue were out riding, the horse shied at some obstacle on the side of the road when passing through Billerica. The buggy upset, and the occupants were thrown out, but escaped serious injury. The "Doctor" dressed the wounds.

TRIAL FOR ASSAULT.

Sheridan, Who Was Thrown Out of a Bar-room, Has Recovered.

The case of Jeremiah Tompkins for assault and battery on James Sheridan was put on trial in the police court at 11 o'clock.

Sheridan has been in the hospital for some time suffering with brain trouble the result, it is alleged, of having been thrown out of Cushing's saloon on Concord street by the clerk Tompkins.

Lawyer Courtney appears for the defendant.

Sheridan testified that in the evening of Sept. 15, he went into Curtis' barroom on Concord street and had a drink. He had had a few before. While there words arose with Tompkins and the latter threw him out. On cross-examination witness said he had a few drinks when he got through work. He had trouble with several bystanders in the saloon and upset a glass of beer belonging to a man named Quinn. Some of the bystanders held him away from Quinn, and Tompkins came around and put him out. Pat. Finerty put on witness' coat once after he had taken it off in the bar room. Witness said he was passing jokes when he took off his coat.

Dr. Jones testified that Sheridan's life was in danger for two weeks.

Patrick Costello testified that he was with Sheridan on the day in question. While they were in Cushing's, Sheridan's beer was accidently upset, by a man who was near by and when the latter's glass was filled Sheridan upset it and trouble began. Witness said that Tompkins came around and threw Sheridan into the street the latter striking on his head; the ejected man was rendered senseless. Sheridan had said he would wrestle any man in the place, if he got fair play.

A number of witnesses were examined during the afternoon session.

HAWAII

Dole Recognized as Head of Government.

May Have Been Given Out to Test Public Feeling.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The state department yesterday received a communication from Honolulu telegraphed from San Francisco. It arrived by the steamer China. It is written in the navy department cipher. Experts were set to work upon the dispatch and Secretary Gresham took a copy out to Woodley for a conference over the matter with President Cleveland. Nothing was given out from the state department as to the substance of the dispatch.

W. P. Hastings, secretary of the Hawaiian legation, was shown the dispatch from San Francisco containing the news that Minister Willis had arrived in Honolulu and was about to present his credentials to President Dole. This news was obviously a great relief to the mind of the members of the legation. They declined to talk about the matter, as usual, but the satisfaction expressed at the presentation by Minister Willis of his credentials to President Dole suggested that they might have feared that the minister would be found to have been accredited to the queen.

Hawaiians' Hopes Raised.

The plan of the Hawaiian representatives evidently is to stand rigidly up for the rights they have secured by the recognition of their government. Minister Thurston touched the marrow of their hopes when he said that any attempt to overturn the present government by a foreign power would be an act of war. An act of war requires the consent or declaration of congress.

Congress will undoubtedly take up the subject of Hawaii in some way immediately upon assembling in December. The fight, it is said, will be made on the administration policy on this line—that it has declared war without the consent of congress, and has therein done an unlawful act. What effect it would have on this proposed policy if the present government should peaceably yield to the persuasions of the Americans is also discussed. The question involved is whether so peaceable a resistance could be regarded as an act of war. It is argued it would be an act of aggression on a sovereign power none the less because the power peacefully yielded to the threats of so overwhelmingly superior a force.

Gresham's Policy a Puzzler.

It still remains an unanswerable problem to those of diplomatic experience how the American minister accredited to the Hawaiian government can, immediately upon presenting his credentials, set about to destroy that government. This gives rise to many surmises such as that the real policy to be pursued by the state department has not hitherto been announced at all, but that Secretary Gresham's report to the president was simply designed to give opportunity to read the public sentiment on the subject.

It is not at all probable that it is true, but it shows that the policy of Gresham is considered so entirely extraordinary that incredulity and speculations cluster about it. There is a surmise that the restoration of the queen to the throne may not be followed by the entire withdrawal of the influence of the United States, but that, with the work of the last administration once undone, a protectorate may be established over the monarchy.

One clear and certain result of the present incident would seem to be that annexation will never be profferred to the United States by the Hawaiians again. If there is ever to be annexation the movement will originate in this country.

Minister Thurston at Washington.

L. A. Thurston, the minister of the present government of Hawaii to the United States, returned to this city last night. He left this city some weeks ago to take charge of the Hawaiian exhibit at the World's fair.

Mr. Thurston was asked what course he proposed to pursue in view of the situation his government is placed in by the declation of the administration policy. He replied that he had not perfected his plans as yet. He thought he would be in Washington for several days at least, but intimated that his duties might call him away at any time.

Mr. Thurston has been a prominent leader in what is known as the reform movement which has been in progress in the Hawaiian Islands for a number of years past. He is one of the most influential of those who secured the reformed constitution from King Kalakua in 1887. He is a natural orator, and the recent revolution in the islands was due in no small part to his efforts.

His father and mother were born in the islands and were children of the early missionaries who went out in sailing vessels from New England around Cape Horn. He, also, was born in the islands, and after being educated in the United States studied law and commenced practice in Honolulu.

Consul Wilder's Opinion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—At the Hawaiian consulate in this city no word was received which would throw further light on the situation at the islands. Consul Wilder stated that in case the administration should ask the provisional government to step down and out, the request would not be granted; but in case that force should be threatened the provisional government could have but one course to pursue; resistance to the power of the United States would be useless, but it would protest with all its moral force against such a highhanded outrage. Should the United States protectorate of the monarchy be withdrawn, that monarchy would not last a day Unquestionably, the next revolution would not be as peaceable as the last and the monarchy would surely be overthrown once and for all.

A Startling Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—It is reported that the British warship Champion secretly left Esquimault for Honolulu Nov. 8, the day after Secretary Gresham's letter was made public.

Going Over Old Ground.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Sir Julian Pauncefote has entered upon negotiations with Secretary Gresham for the settlement of claims for British sealers seized in Behring sea previous to the modus vivendi of 1891.

Bank Robbers In Oregon.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 14.—Robbers entered the bank at Milton, Or., yesterday afternoon, shot the cashier and took over $900 in cash.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

BUFFALO, Nov. 14.—Seventy-five citizens of Buffalo lie under the charge of conspiracy, which will be presented to the grand jury when it meets. All of them are alleged to be members of the "American Protective association," the anti-Catholic secret society which has established several branches and already has a newspaper organ.

The case will be in the nature of a test to obtain an opinion from the courts whether this society comes within the scope of a criminal conspiracy and its literature under the ban of the law as matter tending to incite riot.

The names of the defendants cannot be obtained at the present writing, but it is known that the proprietor of the newspaper, printed as the organ of the American Protective association, several attorneys, merchants, business men, some civil officers and a clergymen are on the list. It has been a difficult task to obtain these lists for prosecution, as each member subscribes on solemn oath not to divulge his own connection with the order or the name of any fellow member. If it is possible the graver crime of treason against the state will be proved, which offense is punishable by 10 years' imprisonment.

DENNIS VESSEL LOST.

NORFOLK, Nov. 14—The British steamship Sutherland, from Charleston for Bremen, which put in here for coal, brought to this city Captain MacDonald and crew of six men belonging to the schooner Peter H. Crowell of Dennis, Mass.

The Crowell sailed from Norfolk Nov. 8 for Fall River, with a cargo of coal. She encountered bad weather from the first, and on Nov 5 there were five feet of water in her hold, which steadily increased When sighted by the Sutherland, Saturday morning, her decks had been swept, her sails lost and all her boats carried away. The men were in an exhausted condition, and had to be hauled on board the steamer with lines.

In Memoriam.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Sixty years ago Edwin Booth was born. In the concert hall in Madison Square Garden exercises were held yesterday to commemorate that day. Fifteen hundred people gathered there, among whom were those most prominent on the stage, in literature and in other fields. The hall was appropriately decorated. The remarks on the great actor's life and work by Joseph Jefferson, Henry Irving, Salvini and Parke Godwin were particularly touching.

Sang For the Queen.

LONDON, Nov. 14—The Carl Rosa Opera company gave a performance of "Fra Diavolo" at Balmoral castle yesterday. The ballroom had been converted into a theater. After the performance her majesty gave an audience to the principal singers and conversed cordially with them. Mrs Carl Rosa was present at the queen's special request.

Cincinnati Tribune In Trouble.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—A receiver has been asked for the Cincinnati Tribune by Augustus W. Bruck. He alleges that the company is not paying its obligations; is to the extent of $55,000 in debt, without prospect of extrication, and that the company is now thoroughly insolvent and unable legitimately to carry on its business.

Moody Merrill's Misdeeds.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—A petition for the disbarment of Moody Merrill, based on the alleged misconduct of Merrill in connection with a transaction about a mortgage which resulted in the loss of $4000 to Jennie A. Eastman, the administratrix of the estate of J. B. Eastman, has been filed by the Bar association.

Mercier Declares Himself.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—Ex-Premier Mercier, being twitted with disloyalty, avowed himself as in favor of Canadian independence and an entire cutting away from the mother country. He claimed that the first duty of Canadians was to Canada and not to Great Britain.

Cleveland Is For Modification.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Mr. Whiting of the ways and means committee says that he believes that the influence of President Cleveland will be exerted to modify the tariff bill as it now stands so that it will be acceptable to the Democrats of the house.

She May Died From Injuries.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

QUINCY, Nov. 14. One of the boldest burglaries ever perpetrated are those reported today. The houses entered are those of John Harkins and Mrs. A. A. Harlow, where $400 in jewelry, etc., was stolen. At the third house Mrs. Arnold, aged 70 years, was alone, and becoming frightened she jumped out of a second story window, receiving possible fatal injuries.

A Big Sale Reported.

It is reported that the entire newspaper establishment controlled by Consul Benj. Lenthier has been sold to a Boston and New York stock company. This will include the daily Le National of this city.

A Delightful Concert.

On Sunday evening last Mr. W. H. Bent held another delightful parlor concert at his residence on Livingstone avenue, at which orchestral and vocal music composed the program, Mr. Joseph Leach being the soloist. The members of the orchestra were: Violins, Miss Charlton, Mr. M. A. Cuttle, Dr. Amasa Howard, viola, Mr. Thomas Nesmith; 'cellos, Messrs. A. W. Whitney and John Sawyer; flute, Mr. Walter Sawyer. clarinet, Mr. S. R. Fleet; horn, Mr. D. E. Dudley; pianists, Mrs. Dudley and Mr. Solon Stevens.

The program was a difficult one and was admirably rendered. A large number of Mr. Bent's musical friends were present and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed.

A SWINDLER

And Found That His Paper Was Worthless.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—There are a large number of people in this city and Lynn besides the police who would like to learn the present whereabouts of a young man who a little while ago successfully swindled them out of large sums of money. This young man's right name is Talbot D. Gadd, but he was better known in this city as Ira McBride, for it was under that name that he passed here.

For a year and a half he worked for Superintendent Burgher of the Watkins Automatic Fire Alarm and Extinguisher company, in the capacity of special agent. While there he was an especially good employe, and it is said brought a good deal of business into the concern. McBride always dressed well and went in the very best of society. He is about 28 or 30 years of age. He made friends with everybody, and until he hastily left the city an enemy of his would have been hard to find. But within a week after his departure there were dozens looking for his scalp.

He always made his lodgings at the Grand hotel on Columbus avenue, and there used to entertain his friends in a most lavish manner. He was a great lover of wine, and this, together with a certain woman he adored, are thought to have caused his downfall, although there is but little doubt but that he has swindled people in a like manner in other cities, and this is looked upon as the reason for his going under an assumed name.

A Grand Sweep.

When he came to Boston about two years ago he was practically a stranger in this city, for his home is in the far west. With him, however, he brought several recommendations of a most complimentary nature, and he had but little trouble in getting a position from Superintendent Burgher. Everything went along well until shortly before his departure from Boston, and then he "worked" his friends and acquaintances, securing in different sums before he left money amounting to $3000 to $4000.

Shortly before his departure from Boston, say five or six weeks, there appeared on the scene a woman who claimed to be his wife, and who was formerly an actress connected with the McCaull Opera company. She lived with him at the hotel until his disappearance. She is now known to be in New York.

Soon after he came to Boston he made the acquaintance of a young man on Boylston street, and the latter became greatly interested in McBride, and for some time "chummed" with him. Often McBride would ask the young man to discount paper and cash checks for him, which he would do. He always found them good until the fellow left town, and then he discovered that he cashed paper for him to the extent of about $300 which was absolutely worthless.

This is the fact in a great many cases, and among his victims are Superintendent Burgher of the automatic company, who endorsed a draft for $150 which was worthless; W. H. Richardson & Co., gents' furnishers; Tailor Farrington; Proprietor Reynolds of the Hotel Grand; Jeweler Cohen; R. H. White & Co.; Louden & Wilson, tailors; Shoe Dealer Graham; Tailor Freidman and many others.

Just before his departure he went to Lynn and there swindled three firms on the representation that his employers had sent him to collect money, when in reality he had no authority to do this. From J. O. Marshall he obtained $200; Dearborn Bros., $100, and from M. Butman he also secured quite a sum. Others are anxious to find him.

When McBride went to Superintendent Burgher and told the latter that he had decided to go with his wife for a few days to the White mountains there was no objection offered and he started on his supposed journey, but he never came back. It was not until some time afterward that the office discovered that he had left behind his badge and other things belonging to the office, which first made them suspicious. It was then that his other crookedness came to light and the chief inspector was consulted. Since then his whereabouts have been unknown.

McBride came from a good family, and his father, E. T. Gadd, of the firm of E. T. Gadd & Co, wealthy real estate dealers of Lincoln, Neb., has often been called upon to clear the son of trouble and settle his debts This time he refused to aid the young man.

When quite young he left home and went to the south, where he became a Texas ranger. He afterward went into the real estate business, where he made quite a lot of money, but squandered it all on women. He afterward became treasurer of the McCaull Opera company. At one time it is said that he was also an actor.

He had for an intimate friend while in this city a young man named Scott who swindled the Bauermiller Piano company of New York out of a considerable amount of money and for whose arrest a reward has been offered. It is thought that both of the young swindlers are now together.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The 10 Russian convicts picked up on the Pacific coast are now held in jail at San Francisco at the request of the Russian minister.

BALLOT NOMINATIONS.

IT WAS SUCCESSFULLY TRIED IN LAWRENCE LAST WEEK.

It is Suggested That the Democrats of Lowell Use the Same Procedure in Order to Put Up the Very Strongest Aldermanic Ticket.

The absorbing topic in political circles, more especially in the democratic party, relative to the coming municipal contest, is how shall the nominations for aldermen be made—by city committee or by convention?

Yesterday afternoon a SUN reporter met Capt. Dolan of Lawrence in front of THE SUN building, and in conversation with him learned much of interest in regard to the experiment of the Lawrence democratic city committee, of which he is chairman, in having aldermanic nominations made by means of the Australian ballot, with the compliance to the law by having the city committee nominate officially the men who polled the highest vote in the election.

The new system has been previously mentioned in THE SUN and according to all reports, newspaper and otherwise, it was a grand success, and these reports are confirmed by Capt. Dolan in a most remarkable degree.

He said in course of his conversation "The idea of the Australian ballot was adopted for the reason that the democratic city committee wanted to put the very strongest ticket in the field to ensure a victory. The city is democratic, but still there is always that uncertainty about the city election which behooves the democrats to put up the best to win without fail. Now our municipal election history for a couple of years has not been of the best, so this year it was proposed to make a change. I suggested the ballot as I had done for two years previously, and although there was great objection to breaking away from the old plan, and although everything was done to prevent it, the new plan was put in practice and I think and can candidly say that never before after caucuses has there been such satisfaction, harmony and quietness, and so united a promise to support the party candidates. It is just this way—usually when the city committee made the nomination the men got on the ticket who had the biggest pull in the committee; this is not always the way but generally speaking the men nominated were not the strongest to select. And then in the convention often times many of the delegates were pledged for a man on the hope that if such a man was elected he would pay back for the favors in municipal patronage. A convention nominates a ticket and usually the men with the biggest pull goes on it; it is very seldom that a ticket is made up completely with representative, thoroughly qualified men. Now I never saw the time, after either city committee or convention nominations when everybody was satisfied. Usually there are candidates and their friends who talk and kick and threaten because they think the nominations were by "machine." This does not apply alone to Lawrence; in Boston it will be the same way; the city committee will nominate, and McEttrick and his friends will go to the workingmen and say that the democratic ticket was of "machine" nomination. There were many candidates in Lawrence and each thought he was a sure winner if nominated. I had advocated the Australian ballot system as the most satisfactory, and so when it was put into practice everybody waited to see the result.

"The caucuses came off, and every one was as quiet and orderly a meeting as a prayer meeting; why, it was something surprising. No wire pulling, no pushing of ballots in your face, but simply the ballot which you marked in your booth was needed.

"And today I don't think you can find a word of complaint in the whole city. And now every democrat will support the ticket.

"In the caucus over 3000 votes were cast, and in Ward Three alone nearly 800 votes were given. The ticket selected is undoubtedly the strongest the democrats have ever put up and it will be nominated by the city committee and will win.

"To show how thoroughly representive the aldermanic ticket is I will say—understanding that I use the prefix simply in the way it is generally used to denote a person of blood ties and of race descent—that the ticket includes three Irish Americans, one French American, one Englishman and one Scotchman, thus representing every faction of the party. If this isn't representation I would like to know how you could improve it."

Capt. Dolan had further remarks to make about the success of the system but the substance is concisely told as above.

Timothy D. Finnegan of Ward Three has announced his intention to enter the contest for the council. He is prominent in the A. O. H. and in the Foresters. John Murtagh of Crosby street has been a candidate for the council on several occasions and got beaten by a few votes. He has entered the race this year and hopes his friends will stand by him in the caucus. He is well known throughout the ward.

The friends of Mr. Shannahan in Ward Three are confident that he will be successful in securing the nomination for the school board. His competitor is George M. Harrigan, the present incumbent whose whose friends are hustling in his interest with strong hopes of winning.

Councilman P. J. O'Brien, James H. Smith and John J. Ryan, Mathew Mansfield, Owen Callahan, Patrick Barry, Frank J. McMahon are all working hard for the nomination for the council. They cannot all be nominated, but the voters of the ward will select some four from the entire list of candidates and it is a lengthy one.

The meeting of the city committee on Thursday evening will be an important one inasmuch as it will fix the date for the caucuses to nominate the tickets for council, and school committee.

Day by day the feeling that an unusually strong ticket must be put in the field by the democrats is growing. Lawrence has set a worthy example in the method of selecting the best men, viz. the men most likely to be elected. The plan is too new to be adopted at such short notice in Lowell. In Lawrence it had been advocated for years, and was finally tried as an experiment. The success of the trial has been far greater than was anticipated, and it is not improbable that the plan will be permanently adopted.

GETTING OUT OF IT.

Witherby Maintains His Dignity or Thinks He Does.

Mrs. Witherby—Oh, look out, dear! You are putting that mucilage brush in the ink bottle.

Witherby (jabbing it in)—Well, what of it?

Mrs. Witherby—There! If that isn't just like a man. So obstinate! You wouldn't admit you're wrong. I should think you would be ashamed to give way so to your feelings.

Witherby—Wrong! Obstinate! (Jabbing it in again.) What do you mean? I guess I can put a mucilage brush in an inkwell if I want to.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course, but how foolish! I should think you would have more self control. I never saw such a man!

Witherby (gaining time)—Didn't, eh? Umph. You don't know what you are talking about. How do you know but what I wanted that mucilage brush in that inkstand?

Mr. Witherby—How absurd! What could you possibly want it there for?

Witherby (sarcastically)—Well, it is barely possible that I put it there on purpose. Of course, being a woman, such a thing would never occur to you, but as I am only a common, ordinary man I suppose I shall have to go into detail. I believe you painted two pieces of china the other day, didn't you? And I also believe, madam, that you requested me to pack them in a plain soapbox and send them to your uncle in Chicago.

Mrs. Witherby—Yes. I supposed you had forgotten all about it.

Witherby—Certainly you did. It takes a woman to go on a supposition like that. The fact that I was never known to forget anything in my life counts as nothing. You jumped at the conclusion that I forgot. It is, however, of no consequence that I am continually misjudged. I am used to it. Now, madam, I presume you are aware that if that box ever reaches your uncle it must be properly addressed.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course.

Witherby—Precisely. And I presume you may be aware that writing the address on a card and tacking the said card on the box is a very unsafe, unbusinesslike method.

Mrs. Witherby—I don't know as I had thought about it.

Witherby—Certainly not. I have been thinking for you for the last 20 years, and it would be strange if you should begin now. Well, madam, to proceed, what is the most natural, feasible, simple method to get that box addressed? Why, with a brush and a little ink, isn't it?

Mrs. Witherby—But, my dear, I could have got you another brush. I——

Witherby—Certainly you could. I was aware of that. But in your simple, guileless, woman's way you are of course not supposed to know of the chemical value of the admixture of mucilage and ink for marking purposes. You are not aware, madam, that ordinary ink applied with an ordinary brush will run into wood. I am not surprised that you do not know that a little mucilage rightly administered is the exact thing to prevent this.

Mrs. Witherby—Well, it may be all right, but it certainly did look funny.

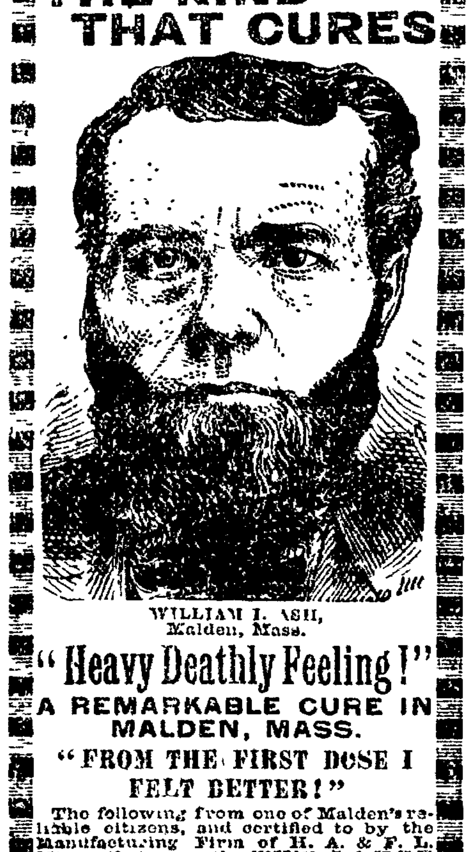

Witherby—Of course it looked funny. Every woman sees things in a funny light at rare intervals, even if they haven't a sense of humor. Now, if you will get that soapbox, I will fix it up.

Mrs. Witherby—Well, of course, darling, if that was your idea, why, all right. I'll fetch it right up. (Leaves the room.)

Witherby (wiping his brow)—Phew! That was a narrow escape. I wonder what I would have done if it hadn't been for that box?

Mrs. Witherby (after the box)—And he thinks I believe him!—New York Press.

THE KIND THAT CURES

"Heavy Deathly Feeling!"

A REMARKABLE CURE IN MALDEN, MASS.

"FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER!"

DANA SARSAPARILLA Co.,

GENTLEMEN:—About a year ago I was troubled with a HEAVY DEATHLY FEELING in my stomach, everything I ate caused severe distress.

I noticed your ad. in a Bangor paper and being a native of that place, and reading of the benefit old acquaintances had received from it, I secured a bottle of

at Miners' Drug Store in this city, they being the only ones that kept it in stock at that time. Strange to say that FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER and continued to improve and after taking two bottles I had a hearty appetite and could digest almost anything I ate. Have recommended it to at least a dozen friends, and all I have heard from, have derived great benefit from it.

Very truly yours, WM I. ASH.
No 1 Rockland Place, Malden, Mass

We hereby certify that we sold Mr Ash DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, and his statement we know to be true in every particular.
Very respectfully, H. A. & F. L. MINER.

UP ONE FLIGHT.

To All Whom It May Concern.

There are undoubtedly many people who feel at some time or another unwell, not really sick but very indisposed. Now, what such persons need at such times, is not medicine, nor high-priced prescriptions, but what is needed is some gentle, but sure stimulant, something to assist and at the same time enrich the blood, nature will do the rest. And the best medical authorities agree there is nothing better than pure wine.

A SHORT TRUE STORY FOR WOMEN

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.

CHAPTER I.—The $4 Eton.

Imagine such a thing! A double-breasted, reefer, Eton suit, of heavy flannel, warm enough for the lowest Lowell mercuries; strong and serviceable, in handsome shades of Navy blue, brown, dark green and black and as trim and stylish as anything seen on the street, and all for $4! The story starts well, doesn't it?

CHAPTER II.—The $6 Empire.

Have you seen our Empire Blouse Suit, made of Diagonal Serge in a wide variety of colors, and made doubly desirable for warmth and wear by being lined throughout? We are fitting the ladies of Lowell in this handsome suit for $6. We should be backward about disclosing this absurdly low price, only we know that in these hard times you won't think any the less of us for paring our prices way down to the core.

CHAPTER III.—Concerning Cashmeres.

The first two chapters have probably fairly well prepared you for surprises. That is fortunate, for here comes one of the surprises of your life. A Cashmere—a perfectly made, stylish, and beautifully made Cashmere Suit for $8! These are especially rich and heavy goods; and these suits (and the $4 and $6 suits as well) have the big 4½ yard skirt, now so distinctly AU FAIT.

CHAPTER IV.—$19 Tailor-Mades.

What woman does not admire a tailor-made suit? But tailor-made suits have hitherto been a little uppish in price. We have something in tailor-made that we are rather surprised at ourselves. It is All-Wool, Homespun, in various shades, and stitched throughout with silk and trimmed throughout with military braid: and we will fit you in it perfectly for $10. How can we do this, you ask? There are people in the trade asking the same thing?

CHAPTER V.—Our High Grade Custom work.

BANKERS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SCARE

Which Has Recently Affected the Business of the Country

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Two score of gentlemen who preside over Boston's treasure houses gathered at the Parker House yesterday afternoon to welcome James H. Eckels to the city, at the dinner of the Boston Bank Presidents' association. The young comptroller of the currency is here to meet Boston bankers, and incidentally to tell what he can, from his official position, that will interest and benefit them.

He received a cordial reception at the dinner, which was served at 3 o'clock, and made a speech. Phineas Pierce, president of the Continental bank, presided, and, after dinner had been disposed of, introduced Mr Eckels as the guest and speaker of the afternoon Mr Eckels said:

The commanding position which the banks of this country occupy in our financial world cannot be denied, nor the importance of our banking institutions overestimated. Established upon a safe basis and honestly conducted upon conservative lines, they are the greatest of all agencies for the promotion of a people's prosperity, but stripped of safeguards or dishonestly managed, the injury which they bring upon a people is only limited by the extent of their opportunities.

Benefits to All.

The supreme function which they fill is the distribution of the people's wealth, so as to make it a never ending source of benefit to all.

Take from them, without cause, support, and inevitably the injury falls upon all. Demand of them in a moment of fright the money given in their keeping that it may find lodgment in hiding places, and of necessity the banks must withdraw this life blood from the arteries of trade, and the shop and store and factory must close and labor go unemployed

Between May 4 and October of this year the withdrawals in individual deposits in national banks alone were $209,000,000 and of banks and bankers' deposits to the amount of $79,000,000, a total of $288,000,000.

To meet this drain the banks were compelled to call in loans, thus depleting the resources of active trade to the extent of $318,000,000, and from banks and bankers to the amount of $51,000,000, while to their borrowings was added $37,000,000.

Small Withdrawals Counted.

In the light of these figures, apart from the statistics of a like nature which could be added from state, savings and private banks, who can doubt but that the shrinkage in deposits on the one hand, contributing only to the fund of hoarded money and the calling in on the other of loans necessitated by the demands of depositors, withdrawing such vast sums from the activities of business, contributed more than all else to the stagnation from which we have suffered?

The most serious feature of the whole matter was the withdrawals of small amounts by depositors who were not borrowers, and whose accounts, as is well known to all bankers, are most valuable in the banking business, and constitute a most stable and important addition to the fixed capital of commercial banks, and is the fund which is used to meet the current demands of the business of each community.

This fact alone is sufficient to refute the charge that the financial stringency was the result of a bankers' panic, were it possible to believe that a body of intelligent, shrewd and prudent business men could be capable of setting in motion the machinery which would accomplish their own distress and ruin.

I trust and believe that this condition of affairs will soon give way to a better and different order of things, and industries now deadened through the action of an affrighted people quickened into life,

Outlook Is Bright.

Happily at last the financial measure which threw so much of doubt upon our monetary system, destroyed the confidence of the people in our banks and paralyzed the activities of business no longer remains upon the statute book to plague us. Its operation worked harm to us abroad; it wrought disaster at home

Its repeal leaves us at last free to enter upon financial legislation that will accord with those principles of sound economics which through all the past centuries have, and in the future will, control the world's monetary operations With such legislation aiding instead of retarding the unwritten laws of commerce and trade, the wealth of the American people must, in the very order of things, become as vast as their energies are unbounded.

In conclusion, permit me to say that the advocates of sound money must not rest content with the vantage ground which now is theirs. The declaimer advocating a money cheap and plenty is yet abroad in the land and will continue so long as there is hope of terms of compromise or yielding to his demands.

I am not unmindful of the fact that cheap money doctrines have time and time again taken a hold upon our people, but this seeming popularity is neither indicative of their real strength nor of their soundness as financial principles. No errors are so spontaneously popular with the mass of the people as financial ones, and none are so easily dispelled if aggressively attacked.

Scheig and Floyd Captured.

LONDON, Nov. 14—Philip Scheig, formerly paying teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, and Frank Floyd, were arrested at Southampton last night on board the steamer Saale from New York. Scheig is charged with stealing $75,000, and Floyd is charged with being an accomplice in the robbery.

Charley Mitchell as an Actor.

NEW YORK, Nov 14—Charley Mitchell has signed a contract with Theatrical Managers Powers and Edwards for 12 weeks at $300 per week. His engagement, it is said, will not affect the proposed fight, for it is agreed that he can break the theatrical contract at a day's notice.

Noted Southern Lady Dead.

A Boy's Awful Error.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The cause of the wreck on the Rock Island road last Wednesday, causing 12 deaths, was brought to light yesterday when C. C. Shields, a seven-year-old boy, confessed to having thrown on the rear of the wrecked train the fuse to notify the train following that the train was behind time. The boy said he did not know what the signal was for, and was released from custody.

SWIFT AND POWERFUL

Is the Cruiser Columbia, the Latest Addition to Our Navy.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Half a mile from Deer island innocently floats the Columbia, the swiftest warlike craft upon the wave. Given a whaleback, with a cruiser built on top of her, and you have the Columbia. The simple simile can be made even plainer by saying that the sides, gun and spar decks might be all shot away and there would then remain a veritable cast-iron nautilus.

Less imposing and less formidable than the New York, she will on the whole be more dreaded The New York having been so recently tested over the same course, comparisons are natural, although somewhat out of order for as fighters they belong to distinctly different classes of craft.

Both, however, are cruisers. The New York belongs to the belted family, having plates of steel along her sides. The Columbia falls within the lines of what are generally termed protected cruisers, her shield being the coat of steel beneath her lower deck, which curves downward at the sides and ends, giving the lines of a whale's back.

The Columbia's run from Philadelphia was remarkable for its speed, being accomplished in 13 hours and 7 minutes, or 1 hour and 28 minutes quicker than the New York. But the equivalent of 4500 more horses, or 21,000 Dobbins, was what made the achievement possible. Speed is the great desideratum these days, as shown by the lines of the Minneapolis and the Brooklyn, soon to follow the Columbia, but there is a limit to the size and strength of shafting

From this momentary obstacle, however, came a decided advantage. By subdividing the power by means of a third screw, the difficulty was not only obviated but increased economy secured, it being possible to disconnect the screws, the free revolution causing very little resistance to those in operation.

Chief Officer Aiken says that there are other exceptionally good points about the Columbia beside her speed.

SCIENTISTS PERISHED.

LONDON, Nov. 14—The crew of the whaler Aurora, which has just arrived at Dundee, report that they discovered in Baffin's bay the wreck of the schooner Ripple This is the vessel in which two Swedish men of science, Bjorlig and Kalvennius, left St. John's, N F., in June, 1892 Their purpose was to collect specimens of the flora and fauna of Greenland along Davis' strait.

The crew of the Dundee boat, after a search along the shore, found two cairns near the spot where the Ripple had gone to pieces. One was covered with the remains of human bodies Under the other cairn were found manuscripts and a note, written in English, asking the finder to send the papers to Baron Nordenskjold or the nearest consul. Near this cairn lay a skeleton, supposed to be that of either Bjorlig or Kalvennius

And They Were Experts!

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14—A shell from a large gun fired during the Crimean war was discovered buried in the ground at Dobraja Nadoshda. The shell was being examined by several alleged experts in such matters when one of them struck the missile with a hammer, causing it to explode, killing nine people on the spot and severely wounding a number of others.

Oriental Disasters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14—The steamship China brings news of two severe calamities in Japan. One was a flood at Oita, in which 300 persons were drowned and over 2000 houses destroyed, and the other was the foundering of 44 fishing boats off the western coast by a typhoon and the loss of all their occupants, numbering 142 men.

Jennie Is Persistent.

LONDON, Nov 14—Counsel for Miss Jennie Mighell, whose suit against Albert Baker (Sultan of Johore) for breach of promise of marriage was recently dismissed on the grounds that the sultan was a ruling sovereign over whom the English courts have no jurisdiction, has lodged an application against this decision.

Fight For Property Likely.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 14—William Bryant, a wealthy grocer of this city, died here in July last Now it is said that Bryant was really Levi Dean of Lincolnville, Me., who had deserted his family 30 years ago. Bryant had a wife and two children in this city and litigation over the estate of $100,000 is probable.

The Kaiser's Warning.

BERLIN, Nov. 14—The recent order of the emperor issued to the army as a result of the gambling trial at Hanover directs that proceedings concerning courts of honor be instituted against officers compromised in a trial Any officers who are found to have violated their rank and honor will be cashiered.

Dodds Is Making Progress.

PARIS, Nov. 14—Le Temps publishes dispatches from Kotonou saying that Colonel Dodds' column occupied Atcherite on Nov 7. All the tribes in the vicinity have surrendered, and they have turned over to the French 400 rifles and four cannons and a considerable amount of ammunition.

Foreigners Warned.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 14—In consequence of the renewed bombardment of Rio de Janeiro, stringent instructions have been received by the commanders of foreign warships to take all the necessary steps to protect foreign property in the city.

The Salvationists' Congress.

NEW YORK, Nov 14—The Salvation Army's Columbian congress began with a monster prayer meeting at the headquarters, Read street Commander Booth was the leader. There will be a parade of the congress tonight.

Reports Didn't Suit Authorities.

MADRID, Nov. 14—The correspondents of El Pais of Madrid and The Telegraph of London were expelled from Melilla, the authorities not approving of the character of the reports they sent to their papers.

Attempted Assassination.

PARIS, Nov. 14—M. K. Georgievitch, the Servian minister to France, was dining at a restaurant when a man fired a shot at him, wounding him in the side. The assailant was arrested.

Owen Sullivan of Danbury, Conn., aged 21, sentenced to the county jail for one year for theft, escaped from the Bridgeport hospital. He was transferred to that institution last Monday. Sullivan placed a dummy in his bed and jumped from the window.

James Brady, 60 years old, a farm laborer, died at the Hartford hospital. In a fit of delirium from typhoid fever he had crawled out of a window in the fourth story of the Columbian hotel on Market street, and held on to the sill by his hands until he dropped to the sidewalk.

Will Be Overcome by Action of Banks of New York.

WASHINGTON, Nov 14—A plan has just been perfected whereby the gold reserve of the treasury may be increased to its legal limit of $100,000,000. This is to be accomplished by means of an understanding with the banks of New York, whereby they are to increase the proport on of gold in their deposits with the New York sub treasury to cover the certified class that are presented by importers in payment of customs duties.

It is the system now in vogue for the banks to keep special deposits at the sub treasury for this use, and heretofore the gold has not averaged more than 1 per cent. The bulk of payments are made in treasury notes As the deficit in the gold reserve now is only $15,000,000 and the associated banks of New York have on hand fully $20,000,000 it is thought that this scheme, which is a result of the recent visit of the secretary to New York, will be carried through.

BACK TO JAIL.

Noted Crook Brought From Connecticut State Prison to Lynn.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 14.—William Marlow, one of the shrewdest crooks in this state, was brought here by State Officer Joseph Shaw from the Connecticut state prison after a tedious journey.

Marlow has a history never to be forgotten by the officers in this part of the state It was he who liberated several prisoners from Salem jail, escaping himself, in the spring of 1889 The men stole $200 from the safe besides securing some revolvers

Requisition papers were signed by Lieutenant Governor Wolcott Saturday, and when he was released from the state prison in Connecticut yesterday, where he had served for burglary, Officer Shaw took him and brought him to this city, and today he was sent to Salem, where he will serve out a sentence of 33 months. Marlow is 25 years of age.

For the benefit of those who contemplate house-keeping, whether on a large or small scale, we have prepared a set of Plans so arranged in goods and prices as to be adapted to the wants of all classes, and which will be found of the greatest assistance to beginners and others who aim to get the best possible results for their money, and which combine the greatest possible usefulness with the least possible expenditure. These Plans will be known as

and are the outcome of our very extensive dealings with the public and our thorough knowledge of their requirements. We claim for them the following essential elements on which we base their success:

ORIGINALITY. BECAUSE no house in our business has ever proposed or adopted any such plans for securing to the purchaser such benefits as these afford, and because no matter what competitors may promise or hold out in copying these plans (as they undoubtedly will) they must fall far short of the quality, even if the quantity and prices are the same. On this particular point you get our guarantee.

FEASIBILITY. BECAUSE these plans have been originated and prepared by us, not merely for an advertisement, but are intended as a positive benefit to the purchaser in helping him to secure such goods as will give the greatest satisfaction in every respect. AND WE GUARANTEE that the goods set forth in either plan, if taken altogether, shall be found from $15 to $50 cheaper than they can be bought for elsewhere.

POPULARITY. BECAUSE all intending purchasers can find in these plans the realization of their ideas, and because no matter which you accept, you will find it is just exactly as if you had named it yourself.

Some of the bricklayers have had their attention directed to a phase of the contract labor law which they think they can turn to their advantage. It appears from the information given by some of them last evening that during the recent strike some of the local master masons hired bricklayers from Canada and that the circumstances were such as to bring the transactions within the jurisdictions of the contract labor law.

A large crowd witnessed the old fashioned game of "peggy" which was played on the North Common yesterday, between two teams, on one John J. Ryan, Wm. H. Merritt and Barney Cahill, and on the other, J. P. Courtney, Frank O'Brien and Robert V. Saunders. The former team won two out of three rounds. James H. Smith was to have been referee, but was detained by political engagements. The winners will accept challenges.

An entertainment and banquet was given last evening by Merrimack lodge, I. O. O. F., at the hall on Middlesex street. A large attendance was present. The arrangements were in charge of Vice Grand David Burns, Noble Grand Jonathan Woods and others. A fine program was presented and supper was served in the upper hall. Speeches were made by Past Grand David Willman and Past Grand Masters Francis Jewett and A. B. Pimpton. Tonight Oberlin lodge will celebrate its 50th anniversary with appropriate exercises.

What "Old Hundred" Hayes Says

In speaking of Greenhalge's large vote Mr. Hayes, the famous "Old Hundred," says he was slightly disappointed on the vote in the city, and believes that if Hugh Montgomery had not declared for the republican ticket, Mr. Greenhalge would have carried Lowell by 1300. Mr. Hayes will lead in cheers for Gov-elect Greenhalge every day in the week and all day Sunday.

Work Will Continue.

Although there has been more or less talk about the stopping of work on the new post office because of the expenditures exceeding the appropriation, the situation seems to be about the same as when the U. S. inspector was here several weeks ago. He assumed that the building would be covered in, and if sufficient warmth was had, interior work could go on during the winter. Yesterday workmen were slating the roof. Superintendent Conlon says he expects that as soon as Mr. Staples is finished contracts for interior work will be given out. He also states that not over $125,000 of the $200,000 appropriation has been spent.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—On Thursday evening Annie Ward Tiffany will be seen here in "Lady Blarney," a new play written for her by Mr. Alfred Kennedy, who has succeeded in giving to the star a part which affords her numerous opportunities to display her versatility as a character actress. It is the best thing Miss Tiffany has done in late years. The climax of all the acts are dramatic and the dialog is bright and catchy.

"Hands Across the Sea" in its previous performances in this city has usually packed the theatres in Lowell, and still its drawing powers are as strong as ever. Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday matinee.

MUSIC HALL.—Little Allie Fisher proved herself a star of the first magnitude last night as Birdie Lamar, in "The Upper Hand." For so young a child her acting is surprisingly artistic. She was applauded to the echo, too, and will be the talk of the city before the week is half over. Mr. Meldon and Miss Tucker sustained the serious interest with their usual success. Messrs. Thomas, Watson and Lyle all made big hits in comedy parts and Joe Harrington had a bit as a Chinaman, that brought him and Mr. Thomas a scene call. Miss Williams played two parts well. The rest of the company was satisfactory, and the play was very well staged.

STREET NUMBERS.

How the Renumbering Troubles Letter Carriers and Others.

The work of renumbering Lowell's residences is assuming such progress as to add greatly to the labors of the local letter carriers. All the force is obliged to carry a book containing a list of the old and present number on each residence that has been renumbered. Much of the added labor could be spared if people who subscribe for regular papers, dailies, weeklies and monthlies would request the publisher to place the new number on their regular papers.

This is important in cases where sickness or accident prevent the regular carrier from working. Many of the carriers state that on streets which have been renumbered many months, papers bear the old number. The "boys" hope that subscribers will promptly request the publishers to alter their address and thus lessen their work for the coming winter.

The same cause leads to the failure in delivery of many papers. SUN subscribers should send in their new numbers.

THEIR JUST DESERTS.

Two Men Plead Guilty, But the Third One Said Not Guilty, Yet Had Nothing to Say in Defence of Himself.

After ten months confinement to the bed, the result of a most cowardly assault, Mr. Edward Rogers, the well known labor man, is able to be out again with the assistance of a pair of crutches.

It will be some time yet before he will be entirely recovered, so the ferocity of the assault may be imagined.

He was in court this morning to appear against the three men who are charged with having assaulted him. Two of them have pleaded guilty, and the third, Thomas Kelleher, who was arrested yesterday, pleaded not guilty.

He is not over 20 years of age.

The case was tried and Mr. Rogers testified that on the afternoon of September 18, he was standing on Appleton street in conversation with Thomas O'Boyle, when five men came along and pushed him off the sidewalk. He turned and asked them what they were trying to do, whereupon two of them turned and punched him, and later the three, one of the defendants punched him, knocking him to the ground and then kicked him in the face. The defendant in asking Mr Rogers questions, partly incriminated himself by saying that no one kicked him they only punched him.

Dr. Gage testified to the extent of the injuries which were serious.

Mr. O'Boyle and Officer Walsh also testified for the government.

For the defence Kelleher had nothing to say and the court sentenced him to the house of correction for one year, stating that such a sentence was warranted by the brutality of the offense. The sentence will go into effect upon the expiration of that which he is now serving for drunkenness.

Joseph O'Brien and Thomas Donnelly the other two were each sentenced to the House of Correction for one year for assault, and an additional four months in the same institution for drunkenness.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Pass a Big Batch of Petitions For Street Improvements

The board of aldermen held a special meeting last evening, Aldermen Lovejoy and F. W. Puffer absent.

The board of health sent in a communication calling attention to the necessity of a sewer to drain the section which now empties into River Meadow Brook. The communication was placed on file.

The following petitions were referred: G. W. Bagley and others for sewer in Foster street; Charles Callahan to open sewer in Lakeview avenue; William Nichols for an electric light at the junction of Moody and Tilden streets; J. F. Savage same at the corner of Tenth and Metheun streets; George Emsley same on Weed street; J. A. McQuade and others for appointment of J. A. Gately as constable; Ann Blessington for removal of trees on South street; Peter London, John B. Swift and others for new highway in southern portion of the city; A. J. Sumpson and others remonstrating against accepting James court; W. E. Fitch to build an addition to the brick building at the corner of Middlesex and Gorham streets.

A petition asking for a recount of the senatorial vote was received and it was voted to begin the recount at 2 30 this afternoon.

A resolution authorizing the city to seize land adjacent to the Edson cemetery for the purpose of providing additional accommodations for single graves, was passed unanimously.

The amendment to the ordinance regulating hackney coaches and express teams was passed to be ordained.

Several reports of the street committee were ordered to lie in the city clerk's office seven days.

The petition of W. W. Clark for an undertaker's license was referred to the board of health.

The following resolutions took their final passage: To accept sidewalk on the easterly side of Concord Street; to accept sidewalk on the southerly side of Shaw street upon petition of W. E. Potter; to change the name of a portion of Salem street to Pawtucket street; to remove trees on Bridge street upon petition of Margaret Manning. The following petitioners were given leave to withdraw: A. H. Milliken, that New School street be called School street; Alvin Hughes and Mary A. Hallisey, for abatement of sewer assessments.

Jammed Between the Cars.

A man named Thomas McCarty, residing at 64 Willie street, and employed by Davis & Sargent, was caught between the cars on Western avenue at 7 30 o'clock this morning and badly jammed. He was removed to St. John's hospital where upon examination it was found that he was badly injured internally.

PERSONAL.

Simon Towle, the veteran photographer arrived home yesterday from the World's Fair and other points where he has been for several weeks. He has taken many views of the Fair and other points of interest.

The engagement of Miss Gertrude Stanley, daughter of Ex-alderman George E. Stanley, and Mr. William L. Mack, son of Mr. W. A. Mack and junior partner in the firm, was announced yesterday.

The engagement of a well known newspaper man to a young lady of Belvidere will probably be announced in a few days, and likewise will be the engagement of a prominent society young lady to a New Yorker.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Harris have gone to Florida for the winter.

Rev. Claude Raboteau, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church, and Mrs. Raboteau, have returned from their trip abroad.

After an absence of four years in the south and west, Mr. Thomas F. Byron, has returned to Lowell and will make this city his home again. He was formerly editor of the Weekly Sun and is well known among the newspaper fraternity.

POLICE COURT.

Yesterday afternoon, a French youth names Philip Terrien went into J. L. Chalifoux's store and asked to see a pair of trousers. He was sohwn a $4 pair, and upon his request was shown to an apartment where he might try on the new pair. In a short time he was noticed going out of the store with the new trousers on, and the old ones tucked inside. Officer Clements "nailed" him and in court he was found guilty and sentenced to the Massachusetts Reformatory.

John Fay was charged with an atrocious act, stealing a pound of salt worth 5 cents, the property of H. W. Streeter. He was also charged with drunkenness.

James Ahani, who sold his $7 in wages for $3, while his wife, who is in a delicate condition was starving, was in court for non-support. He was found guilty and was sent to jail for four months.

Street Department Work

At the meeting of the street committee yesterday afternoon, Alderman Evans presided.

Alderman Evans desired to know if anything was to be done in regard to the Dummer street extension. Councilman Dolan replied that last year's committee voted to recommend a loan of $51,000 to pay for property destroyed. As improvements have been made since then he thought that a larger sum should be awarded.

Councilmen Hoban, Constantineau and Alderman Evans were appointed a committee to visit the premises and form an estimate of the amount required.

The committee then went into executive session and held a consultation over the Concord river bridge matter. It was finally voted to ask the city council for an appropriation of $60,000 for the new bridge.

A Lawrence clergyman, Rev. Geo. H. Young, rises to protest that a lecture given in that city on Sunday afternoon on "Patriotism," was nothing more or less than "a tirade" against another form of worship by Rev. Hugh Montgomery.

An Ulster Story.

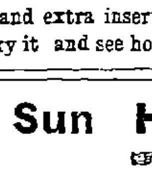

The King of Friezes will make hard sledding in the coat business this season judging by indications. A gentleman walked into the Merrimack Clothing Co.'s store Monday evening about 8.30 o'clock and in a very business like manner asked for the best ulster in the store for $15.50. The King of Friezes was shown him and after examining it critically with the assistance of a friend who accompanied him he spoke as follows: I have begun a way down city and looked at the fifteen dollar ulsters in the stores on my way through and am satisfied that this is the best I have seen. It is the first time we have done this going around and now I know it pays. I've been getting "soaked" long enough." The price of the king of friezes is $12.00 and being a heavy strictly wool frieze is ahead of anything ever seen in Lowell at the price. Talking about sales and big purchases we have purchased the biggest stock of clothing which came into Lowell this fall. We are here to prove it. Merrimack Clothing Co., opposite city hall.

CITE CASES OF DESTITUTION TO THE CHURCH LEAGUE.

An Interesting Gathering and a Lively Debate.

The Church League met in the board of trade rooms last evening.

The purpose of the meeting was to receive and act upon the report of the committee, which inquired into the condition of the needy; and also to act upon the suggestion that a central bureau of relief be formed.

The meeting was called to order by Pres. George A. Batchelder and Rev. Dr. Seymour invoked divine blessing. Rev. Mr. Merriam served as secretary pro tem. until Rev Mr. Tilton was unanimously elected. The latter not being present, Rev. Mr. Raboteau was chosen secretary pro tem.

Rev. Mr. Johnson said he had received a call from Mrs. F. C. Clarke of Boston who represents a midnight mission for fallen women in Boston. She is here to visit the local clergy, and to try to institute such a mission here. Mr. Johnson suggested that the executive committee of the league consider the advisability of inviting her to appear before the league as soon as other matters are disposed of.

The president then read a letter from Rev. J. O. Campbell tendering his resignation from the executive committee.

The president then called for the report of the committee appointed to investigate the extent of destitution in Lowell, and Mr. Merriam, as chairman, submitted the following report:

The day following the appointment of the committee, we placed a book in the Young Men's Christian association rooms to receive names of applicants for work and relief. The first day there were ten; the second day 60. We paid $5 to a young man recommended by Secretary Harlow to keep the records, but unfortunately he disappeared, records and all, and has not yet returned, so I am unable to give the valuable information contained in that book. Only a few of all who solicited aid were what might be termined unworthy. They were of the better class of wage earners. I inquired among the leading industries of Lowell and was given a great deal of information which tended to show the spread of destitution and suffering. In the order of my inquiries the first mill owner said his mill was running short handed on half time, and he ventured to say that those who claimed to be running full time tell deliberate falsehoods. Second, the employes he is unable to furnish work for are suffering to a pinch. Another, running full time, and lots of applicants for work. The next usually employed 600, now 300, lots of applicants, the number increasing largely the past two weeks. Another said he had but six or eight applicants daily but this was because it is generally known that no extra help is being employed here. One mill has nearly 1000 men about its gates every day, but the speaker questioned the character of the men as a whole. Another who employs intelligent men is 300 short of full quota with lots of applicants. One was running 41 short of full force and on three-quarters time, lots of applicants. Another one-half to three-quarter full force, five days a week and scores of applicants. Two others were running part force all the time, and one full force of 2100 all the time; all however had lots of applicants.

The evasive replies I received showed things to be worse than the mill men cared to admit. The conclusion reached as based upon our investigation is that the mills are only running on partial time with a partial force, and that great numbers are out of work and need assistance.

Destitute Women.

Miss Mudge of Y. W. C. A. tells me that her experience with destitute and needy women shows that there is great suffering among them. They are unquestionably in a deplorable condition, and I dread to conjecture the result if their condition is not soon improved. These are some of the individual cases investigated by Miss Mudge.

Young woman, 20 years of age, with her mother dependent on her, earns but 22 cents for a whole day's work. She is a worthy Christian girl and says it is impossible for her to live at this rate.

A young girl of 18 has a mother and three little brothers dependant on her. Gets only $3 per week and this only pays for rent, fuel, food, &c. Goes into mill at 7.30 and gets out at 4 p. m. Does not earn enough to exist.

Young girl in family of ten says the older boys have no work; all that comes in is what the father earns. Anxious to get work to help out family.

Young girl of family of ten; pays board for herself and three younger children. Cannot get living wages in the mill.

Single girl, Catholic, Irish, boarding—no means of paying board; needs work badly and does anything.

Widow, Irish, Catholic, does housework but has been out of work since last summer; money is nearly spent and she has none for board.

Three Protestant girls who have done table work, are not experienced in other work and can find none; cannot pay board; expects to have to leave any day. One girl turned out of boarding house at night, no place to go.

Girl 19 years old, no parents, is out of work five weeks; does housework; very needy.

American girl, worked in box shop, ten in family, mother and father dead, brothers pay her board, work in machine shop—wages cut down.

A young girl, one of a family of ten, Canadians, father works in woolen mill, brothers work in mill when they can get work, no means of support but what father earns.

A young girl, Irish Catholic, out of work three months, boarding, no friends in this country but cousins—needs work.

American, members of First Congregational church, father no work, machinist, or works about machine shop, four others out of work; brother painter, no work; sisters work in plush mill, not running for two months.

I investigated the pawn shops and was told that up to two weeks ago pledges had been mostly received from the lower classes but times have continued so hard that they seem to have nothing to pawn and cannot redeem their pledges. The more respectable people are now coming in with pledges.

The labor bureaus are over-run with applicants for assistance as well as the employment offices."

He then submitted the following recommendations:

Whereas the facts already collected seem to indicate that actual distress is impending within our city;

Resolved, 1. That we establish an agency for relief to become the servant of the Church league in ministering to the poor of the city.

2. That all churches be invited to contribute such a sum of money as shall meet the necessary expenses incident in carry forward such ministration and in providing for this need.

3. That the pastor and delegates of each church be the committee to receive the funds for this relief.

4. That the people of Lowell be invited to place at the disposal of such agency such supplies of fuel, clothing, etc., as their generosity shall prompt.

CHARLES L. MERRIAM.
WM. H. WIGGIN.
FRANCIS E. SAUNDERS.

The report was then discussed.

Dr. Dana said the people were not so badly off but what they could keep the premiums paid up on their life insurances.

Mr. Merriam remarked that the poor people will refuse to meet all other obligations in order to keep their policies paid, as a manager of a life insurance company had informed him. Dr. Dana then spoke at some length on the condition of things in the city during which he denounced the "$60,000 piece of fallacyism."

The matter was further discussed pro. and con., by Revs. Dana, Merriam, Hall, Mallory, Greene, Huntington, Seymour, and Mr. Saunders.

The matter was finally referred to the executive committee to be carried out as deemed expedient. The meeting then adjourned.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Pass a Big Batch of Petitions For Street Improvements.

The board of aldermen held a special meeting last evening, Aldermen Lovejoy and F. W. Puffer absent.

The board of health sent in a communication calling attention to the necessity of a sewer to drain the section which now empties into River Meadow Brook. The communication was placed on file.

The following petitions were referred: G. W. Bagley and others for sewer in Foster street; Charles Callahan to open sewer in Lakeview avenue; William Nichols for an electric light at the junction of Moody and Tilden streets; J. F. Savage same at the corner of Tenth and Methuen streets; George Emsley same on Weed street; J. A. McQuade and others for appointment of J. A. Gately as constable; Ann Blessington for removal of trees on South street; Peter London, John B. Swift and others for new highway in southern portion of the city; A. J. Simpson and others remonstrating against accepting James court; W. E. Fitch to build an addition to the brick building at the corner of Middlesex and Gorham streets.

A petition asking for a recount of the senatorial vote was received and it was voted to begin the recount at 2.30 this afternoon.

A resolution authorizing the city to seize land adjacent to the Edson cemetery for the purpose of providing additional accommodations for single graves, was passed unanimously.

The amendment to the ordinance regulating hackney coaches and express teams was passed to be ordained.

Several reports of the street committee were ordered to lie in the city clerk's office seven days.

The petition of W. W. Clark for an undertaker's license was referred to the board of health.

The following resolutions took their final passage: To accept sidewalk on the easterly side of Concord Street; to accept sidewalk on the southerly side of Shaw street upon petition of W. E. Potter; to change the name of a portion of Salem street to Pawtucket street; to remove trees on Bridge street upon petition of Margaret Manning. The following petitioners were given leave to withdraw: A. H. Milliken, that New School street be called School street; Alvin Hughes and Mary A. Hallisey, for abatement of sewer assessments.

Street Department Work.

At the meeting of the street committee yesterday afternoon, Alderman Evans presided.

Alderman Evans desired to know if anything was to be done in regard to the Dummer street extension. Councilman Dolan replied that last year's committee voted to recommend a loan of $51,000 to pay for property destroyed. As improvements have been made since then he thought that a larger sum should be awarded.

Councilmen Hoban, Constantineau and Alderman Evans were appointed a committee to visit the premises and form an estimate of the amount required.

The committee then went into executive session and held a consultation over the Concord river bridge matter. It was finally voted to ask the city council for an appropriation of $60,000 for the new bridge.

Jammed Between the Cars.

A man named Thomas McCarty, residing at 64 Willie street, and employed by Davis & Sargent, was caught between the cars on Western avenue at 7.30 o'clock this morning and badly jammed. He was removed to St. John's hospital where upon examination it was found that he was badly injured internally.

An Apple Famine.

We have often heard of off years for apples, but this year apples are very scarce. Housewives are asking, what shall we do for our pies? The finest pies in the land are made from crystallized pie preparation. With it you can make all kinds of pies. Get it at the Boston Branch Grocery, 455 Middlesex street.

A Big Sale Reported.

It is reported that the entire newspaper establishment controlled by Consul Benj. Lenthier has been sold to a Boston and New York stock company. This will include the daily Le National of this city.

HAWAII

Dole Recognized as Head of Government.

May Have Been Given Out to Test Public Feeling.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The state department yesterday received a communication from Honolulu telegraphed from San Francisco. It arrived by the steamer China. It is written in the navy department cipher. Experts were set to work upon the dispatch and Secretary Gresham took a copy out to Woodley for a conference over the matter with President Cleveland. Nothing was given out from the state department as to the substance of the dispatch.

W. P. Hastings, secretary of the Hawaiian legation, was shown the dispatch from San Francisco containing the news that Minister Willis had arrived in Honolulu and was about to present his credentials to President Dole. This news was obviously a great relief to the mind of the members of the legation. They declined to talk about the matter, as usual, but the satisfaction expressed at the presentation by Minister Willis of his credentials to President Dole suggested that they might have feared that the minister would be found to have been accredited to the queen.

Hawaiians' Hopes Raised.

The plan of the Hawaiian representatives evidently is to stand rigidly up for the rights they have secured by the recognition of their government. Minister Thurston touched the marrow of their hopes when he said that any attempt to overturn the present government by a foreign power would be an act of war. An act of war requires the consent or declaration of congress.

Congress will undoubtedly take up the subject of Hawaii in some way immediately upon assembling in December. The fight, it is said, will be made on the administration policy on this line—that it has declared war without the consent of congress, and has therein done an unlawful act. What effect it would have on this proposed policy if the present government should peaceably yield to the persuasions of the Americans is also discussed. The question involved is whether so peaceable a resistance could be regarded as an act of war. It is argued it would be an act of aggression on a sovereign power none the less because the power peacefully yielded to the threats of so overwhelmingly superior a force.

Gresham's Policy a Puzzler.

It still remains an unanswerable problem to those of diplomatic experience how the American minister accredited to the Hawaiian government can, immediately upon presenting his credentials, set about to destroy that government. This gives rise to many surmises such as that the real policy to be pursued by the state department has not hitherto been announced at all, but that Secretary Gresham's report to the president was simply designed to give opportunity to read the public sentiment on the subject.

It is not at all probable that it is true, but it shows that the policy of Gresham is considered so entirely extraordinary that incredulity and speculations cluster about it. There is a surmise that the restoration of the queen to the throne may not be followed by the entire withdrawal of the influence of the United States, but that, with the work of the last administration once undone, a protectorate may be established over the monarchy.

One clear and certain result of the present incident would seem to be that annexation will never be profferred to the United States by the Hawaiians again. If there is ever to be annexation the movement will originate in this country.

Minister Thurston at Washington.

L. A. Thurston, the minister of the present government of Hawaii to the United States, returned to this city last night. He left this city some weeks ago to take charge of the Hawaiian exhibit at the World's fair.

Mr. Thurston was asked what course he proposed to pursue in view of the situation his government is placed in by the declation of the administration policy. He replied that he had not perfected his plans as yet. He thought he would be in Washington for several days at least, but intimated that his duties might call him away at any time.

Mr. Thurston has been a prominent leader in what is known as the reform movement which has been in progress in the Hawaiian Islands for a number of years past. He is one of the most influential of those who secured the reformed constitution from King Kalakua in 1887. He is a natural orator, and the recent revolution in the islands was due in no small part to his efforts.

His father and mother were born in the islands and were children of the early missionaries who went out in sailing vessels from New England around Cape Horn. He, also, was born in the islands, and after being educated in the United States studied law and commenced practice in Honolulu.

Consul Wilder's Opinion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—At the Hawaiian consulate in this city no word was received which would throw further light on the situation at the islands. Consul Wilder stated that in case the administration should ask the provisional government to step down and out, the request would not be granted; but in case that force should be threatened the provisional government could have but one course to pursue; resistance to the power of the United States would be useless, but it would protest with all its moral force against such a highhanded outrage. Should the United States protectorate of the monarchy be withdrawn, that monarchy would not last a day. Unquestionably, the next revolution would not be as peaceable as the last and the monarchy would surely be overthrown once and for all.

A Startling Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—It is reported that the British warship Champion secretly left Esquimault for Honolulu Nov. 8, the day after Secretary Gresham's letter was made public.

Going Over Old Ground.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Sir Julian Pauncefote has entered upon negotiations with Secretary Gresham for the settlement of claims for British sealers seized in Behring sea previous to the modus vivendi of 1891.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

BUFFALO, Nov. 14.—Seventy-five citizens of Buffalo lie under the charge of conspiracy, which will be presented to the grand jury when it meets. All of them are alleged to be members of the "American Protective association," the anti-Catholic secret society which has established several branches and already has a newspaper organ.

The case will be in the nature of a test to obtain an opinion from the courts whether this society comes within the scope of a criminal conspiracy and its literature under the ban of the law as matter tending to incite riot.

The names of the defendants cannot be obtained at the present writing, but it is known that the proprietor of the newspaper, printed as the organ of the American Protective association, several attorneys, merchants, business men, some civil officers and a clergymen are on the list. It has been a difficult task to obtain these lists for prosecution, as each member subscribes on solemn oath not to divulge his own connection with the order or the name of any fellow member. If it is possible the graver crime of treason against the state will be proved, which offense is punishable by 10 years' imprisonment.

DENNIS VESSEL LOST.

NORFOLK, Nov. 14.—The British steamship Sutherland, from Charleston for Bremen, which put in here for coal, brought to this city Captain MacDonald and crew of six men belonging to the schooner Peter H. Crowell of Dennis, Mass.

The Crowell sailed from Norfolk Nov. 3 for Fall River, with a cargo of coal. She encountered bad weather from the first, and on Nov. 5 there were five feet of water in her hold, which steadily increased. When sighted by the Sutherland, Saturday morning, her decks had been swept, her sails lost and all her boats carried away. The men were in an exhausted condition, and had to be hauled on board the steamer with lines.

In Memoriam.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Sixty years ago Edwin Booth was born. In the concert hall in Madison Square Garden exercises were held yesterday to commemorate that day. Fifteen hundred people gathered there, among whom were those most prominent on the stage, in literature and in other fields. The hall was appropriately decorated. The remarks on the great actor's life and work by Joseph Jefferson, Henry Irving, Salvini and Parke Godwin were particularly touching.

Sophs Suspended.

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 14.—The whole sophomore class of Bates college was suspended yesterday, because of the strong backing it gave to two of its men who were caught disturbing a public literary meeting of the freshmen last week. The two sophomores expelled the gas from the pipes with an air pump, and thus suddenly left the class and audience in darkness.

By Way of Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Marcos Morales, president of the Cuban league in this state has received dispatches which aver that, a rebellion is in full sway in Cuba. He says that the natives of that island have risen in force and have determined to throw off the yoke of Spain. They expect help from their countrymen in the United States and President Morales says it will be given.

Sang For the Queen.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Carl Rosa Opera company gave a performance of "Fra Diavolo" at Balmoral castle yesterday. The ballroom had been converted into a theater. After the performance her majesty gave an audience to the principal singers and conversed cordially with them. Mrs. Carl Rosa was present at the queen's special request.

Cincinnati Tribune In Trouble.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—A receiver has been asked for the Cincinnati Tribune by Augustus W. Bruck. He alleges that the company is not paying its obligations; is to the extent of $35,000 in debt, without prospect of extrication, and that the company is now thoroughly insolvent and unable legitimately to carry on its business.

Moody Merrill's Misdeeds.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—A petition for the disbarment of Moody Merrill, based on the alleged misconduct of Merrill in connection with a transaction about a mortgage which resulted in the loss of $4000 to Jennie A. Eastman, the administratrix of the estate of J. B. Eastman, has been filed by the Bar association.

Mercier Declares Himself.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—Ex-Premier Mercier, being twitted with disloyalty, avowed himself as in favor of Canadian independence and an entire cutting away from the mother country. He claimed that the first duty of Canadians was to Canada and not to Great Britain.

Cleveland Is For Modification.

A Majority of 80,900.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—The full vote for McKinley in the state was 432,900; Neal, 352,000.

A Delightful Concert.

On Sunday evening last Mr. W. H. Bent held another delightful parlor concert at his residence on Livingstone avenue, at which orchestral and vocal music composed the program, Mr. Joseph Leach being the soloist. The members of the orchestra were: Violins, Miss Charlton, Mr. M. A. Cottle, Dr. Amasa Howard, viola, Mr. Thomas Nesmith; 'cellos, Messrs. A. W. Whitney and John Sawyer; flute, Mr. Walter Sawyer. clarinet, Mr. S. R. Fleethorn, Mr. D. E. Dudley; pianists, Mrs. Dudley and Mr. Solon Stevens.

The program was a difficult one and was admirably rendered. A large number of Mr. Bent's musical friends were present and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed.

A SWINDLER

And Found That His Paper Was Worthless.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—There are a large number of people in this city and Lynn besides the police who would like to learn the present whereabouts of a young man who a little while ago successfully swindled them out of large sums of money. This young man's right name is Talbot D. Gadd, but he was better known in this city as Ira McBride, for it was under that name that he passed here.

For a year and a half he worked for Superintendent Burgher of the Watkins Automatic Fire Alarm and Extinguisher company, in the capacity of special agent. While there he was an especially good employe, and it is said brought a good deal of business into the concern. McBride always dressed well and went in the very best of society. He is about 28 or 30 years of age. He made friends with everybody, and until he hastily left the city an enemy of his would have been hard to find. But within a week after his departure there were dozens looking for his scalp.

He always made his lodgings at the Grand hotel on Columbus avenue, and there used to entertain his friends in a most lavish manner. He was a great lover of wine, and this, together with a certain woman he adored, are thought to have caused his downfall, although there is but little doubt but that he has swindled people in a like manner in other cities, and this is looked upon as the reason for his going under an assumed name.

A Grand Swoop.

When he came to Boston about two years ago he was practically a stranger in this city, for his home is in the far west. With him, however, he brought several recommendations of a most complimentary nature, and he had but little trouble in getting a position from Superintendent Burgher. Everything went along well until shortly before his departure from Boston, and then he "worked" his friends and acquaintances, securing in different sums before he left money amounting to $3000 to $4000.

Shortly before his departure from Boston, say five or six weeks, there appeared on the scene a woman who claimed to be his wife, and who was formerly an actress connected with the McCaull Opera company. She lived with him at the hotel until his disappearance. She is now known to be in New York.

Soon after he came to Boston he made the acquaintance of a young man on Boylston street, and the latter became greatly interested in McBride, and for some time "chummed" with him. Often McBride would ask the young man to discount paper and cash checks for him, which he would do. He always found them good until the fellow left town, and then he discovered that he cashed paper for him to the extent of about $300 which was absolutely worthless.

This is the fact in a great many cases, and among his victims are Superintendent Burgher of the automatic company, who endorsed a draft for $150 which was worthless; W. H. Richardson & Co., gents' furnishers; Tailor Farrington; Proprietor Reynolds of the Hotel Grand; Jeweler Cohen; R. H. White & Co.; Louden & Wilson, tailors; Shoe Dealer Graham; Tailor Freidman and many others.

Just before his departure he went to Lynn and there swindled three firms on the representation that his employers had sent him to collect money, when in reality he had no authority to do this. From J. O. Marshall he obtained $200; Dearborn Bros., $100, and from M. Butman he also secured quite a sum. Others are anxious to find him.

When McBride went to Superintendent Burgher and told the latter that he had decided to go with his wife for a few days to the White mountains there was no objection offered and he started on his supposed journey, but he never came back. It was not until some time afterward that the office discovered that he had left behind his badge and other things belonging to the office, which first made them suspicious. It was then that his other crookedness came to light and the chief inspector was consulted. Since then his whereabouts have been unknown.

McBride came from a good family, and his father, E. T. Gadd, of the firm of E. T. Gadd & Co., wealthy real estate dealers of Lincoln, Neb., has often been called upon to clear the son of trouble and settle his debts. This time he refused to aid the young man.

When quite young he left home and went to the south, where he became a Texas ranger. He afterward went into the real estate business, where he made quite a lot of money, but squandered it all on women. He afterward became treasurer of the McCaull Opera company. At one time it is said that he was also an actor.

He had for an intimate friend while in this city a young man named Scott who swindled the Bauermiller Piano company of New York out of a considerable amount of money and for whose arrest a reward has been offered. It is thought that both of the young swindlers are now together.

France Will Do the Right Thing.

BALLOT NOMINATIONS.

IT WAS SUCCESSFULLY TRIED IN LAWRENCE LAST WEEK.

It Is Suggested That the Democrats of Lowell Use the Same Procedure In Order to Put Up the Very Strongest Aldermanic Ticket.

The absorbing topic in political circles, more especially in the democratic party, relative to the coming municipal contest, is how shall the nominations for aldermen be made—by city committee or by convention?

Yesterday afternoon a SUN reporter met Capt. Dolan of Lawrence in front of THE SUN building, and in conversation with him learned much of interest in regard to the experiment of the Lawrence democratic city committee, of which he is chairman, in having aldermanic nominations made by means of the Australian ballot, with the compliance to the law by having the city committee nominate officially the men who polled the highest vote in the election.

The new system has been previously mentioned in THE SUN and according to all reports, newspaper and otherwise, it was a grand success, and these reports are confirmed by Capt. Dolan in a most remarkable degree.

He said in course of his conversation "The idea of the Australian ballot was adopted for the reason that the democratic city committee wanted to put the very strongest ticket in the field to ensure a victory. The city is democratic, but still there is always that uncertainty about the city election which behooves the democrats to put up the best to win without fail. Now our municipal election history for a couple of years has not been of the best, so this year it was proposed to make a change. I suggested the ballot as I had done for two years previously, and although there was great objection to breaking away from the old plan, and although everything was done to prevent it, the new plan was put in practice and I think and can candidly say that never before after caucuses has there been such satisfaction, harmony and quietness, and so united a promise to support the party candidates. It is just this way—usually when the city committee made the nomination the men got on the ticket who had the biggest pull in the committee; this is not always the way but generally speaking the men nominated were not the strongest to select. And then in the convention often times many of the delegates were pledged for a man on the hope that if such a man was elected he would pay back for the favors in municipal patronage. A convention nominates a ticket and usually the men with the biggest pull goes on it; it is very seldom that a ticket is made up completely with representative, thoroughly qualified men. Now I never saw the time, after either city committee or convention nominations when everybody was satisfied. Usually there are candidates and their friends who talk and kick and threaten because they think the nominations were by "machine." This does not apply alone to Lawrence; in Boston it will be the same way; the city committee will nominate, and McEttrick and his friends will go to the workingmen and say that the democratic ticket was of "machine" nomination. There were many candidates in Lawrence and each thought he was a sure winner if nominated. I had advocated the Australian ballot system as the most satisfactory, and so when it was put into practice everybody waited to see the result.

"The caucuses came off, and every one was as quiet and orderly a meeting as a prayer meeting; why, it was something surprising. No wire pulling, no pushing of ballots in your face, but simply the ballot which you marked in your booth was needed.

"And today I don't think you can find a word of complaint in the whole city. And now every democrat will support the ticket.

"In the caucus over 3000 votes were cast, and in Ward Three alone nearly 800 votes were given. The ticket selected is undoubtedly the strongest the democrats have ever put up and it will be nominated by the city committee and will win.

"To show how thoroughly representive the aldermanic ticket is I will say—understanding that I use the prefix simply in the way it is generally used to denote a person of blood ties and of race descent—that the ticket includes three Irish Americans, one French American, one Englishman and one Scotchman, thus representing every faction of the party. If this isn't representation I would like to know how you could improve it."

Capt. Dolan had further remarks to make about the success of the system but the substance is concisely told as above.

Timothy D. Finnegan of Ward Three has announced his intention to enter the contest for the council. He is prominent in the A. O. H. and in the Foresters. John Murtagh of Crosby street has been a candidate for the council on several occasions and got beaten by a few votes. He has entered the race this year and hopes his friends will stand by him in the caucus. He is well known throughout the ward.

The friends of Mr. Shannahan in Ward Three are confident that he will be successful in securing the nomination for the school board. His competitor is George M. Harrigan, the present incumbent whose whose friends are hustling in his interest with strong hopes of winning.

Councilman P. J. O'Brien, James H. Smith and John J. Ryan, Mathew Mansfield, Owen Callahan, Patrick Barry, Frank J. McMahon are all working hard for the nomination for the council. They cannot all be nominated, but the voters of the ward will select some four from the entire list of candidates and it is a lengthy one.

The meeting of the city committee on Thursday evening will be an important one inasmuch as it will fix the date for the caucuses to nominate the tickets for council, and school committee.

Day by day the feeling that an unusually strong ticket must be put in the field by the democrats is growing. Lawrence has set a worthy example in the method of selecting the best men, viz. the men most likely to be elected. The plan is too new to be adopted at such short notice in Lowell. In Lawrence it had been advocated for years, and was finally tried as an experiment. The success of the trial has been far greater than was anticipated, and it is not improbable that the plan will be permanently adopted.

A number of vague rumors have been afloat for some time to the effect that Fr. McManus in Ward Three and [illegible] Burke in Ward One were about to [illegible] as candidates for the school board [illegible] is no foundation for such [illegible] far as the former [illegible] writer has [illegible] that the report [illegible] is equally groundless [illegible] Ward One are Thomas [illegible] Thomas Muldoon.

The republicans of Ward [illegible] favor the nomination of John [illegible] ward alderman, who ran within [illegible] election last year. The present [illegible] for the makeup of the republican [illegible] as follows: Aldermen-at-large, [illegible] Westall and Evans; Ward One, [illegible] Choate; Ward Two, Councilman [illegible] Ward Three, John C. Wilson; Ward [illegible] W. A. Dickinson; Ward Five, E. W. [illegible] joy; Ward Six, Alfred Chadwick.

It's simply a question of what kind of clothing you wish for—as to whether or not we can meet your wants.

We can supply you with the good kind—with the other sort—no.

Materials must be durable, strong in color, cutting properly done, care paid for making to ensure good work—or the clothes don't go into our stock.

Our black and blue All-Wool Kersey Overcoats, single and double breast, for $10, or the fashionable rough faced blue Serge Suit for $12, speak for themselves.

High-fa-lutin statements as to what these ought to bring,—might mislead you,—but wouldn't make them worth a penny more.

Less price for other qualities, more money for better ones, but full value and rightly-tailored clothes in every case. The best test—your money back for what you don't like.

WILL THE street numbering committee have completed its work in time to have the new numbers given in next year's directory? Probably.

THE MAN who is maligned can afford to wait if truth and justice are on on his side. The potency of either will, if used a right, easily secure his vindication.

MR GLADSTONE officiated as chief pall bearer at the funeral of his physician, the other day. He is still hale and hearty after seeing three generations pass away.

IT SEEMS probable that the empire will be restored in Brazil if the rebels succeed in their plans. The republican form of government is sadly abused in these southern republics.

THAT ANTI-saloon league which Rev. Mr. Montgomery handed over to the republican party should receive fresh encouragement from the advertising it has received, viz if such a body exists.

WILL THE democrats who flopped over in the state election recover their equilibrium sufficiently before December to vote the straight ticket. If they do they will elect a mayor at lenst six aldermen.

BUSINESS IS rapidly improving. The results of the repeal of the Sherman law are beginning to be felt but the republicans will claim that the change is due to the recent victory.

The republicans of Massachusetts are to have a distinctively party Sunday paper. It is to be called the Boston Common.—Newport News.

The name is quite common isn't it?

THE DEMOCRATIC city committee should take care to hold the French vote by nominating one or two strong aldermanic candidates from among the French residents. The French residents can be held in the democratic party by proper treatment, but if their representatives be set up merely to be knocked down the democratic party in this city will soon be minus the French vote.

THE ANNEXATION of Dracut or the Navy Yard and Dracut Centre would lead to great development in that direction. Were the boundary line of Lowell placed beyond the Navy Yard there would soon be a movement for the annexation of Collinsville, but Mr. Collins would probably oppose that since he practically owns the town. This would be the quickest and easiest way of making Lowell the second largest city in the state.

THE CENTRAL Labor council is to circulate a petition among the local labor organizations for a relief fund for the Olneyville strikers. It is a sad state of affairs that exists at Olneyville, but nevertheless, very little relief can be expected of the working people of Lowell, who had themselves such a long period of idleness. The best thing the Olneyville strikers can do is to return to work and settle their demands when prosperous times return. If they had followed the example of the Lowell unions they would not need relief today. The local labor men in their anxiety to aid their distressed brethren should remember where charity begins.

GETTING OUT OF IT.

Witherby Maintains His Dignity or Thinks He Does.

Mrs. Witherby—Oh, look out, dear! You are putting that mucilage brush in the ink bottle.

Witherby (jabbing it in)—Well, what of it?

Mrs. Witherby—There! If that isn't just like a man. So obstinate! You wouldn't admit you're wrong. I should think you would be ashamed to give way so to your feelings.

Witherby—Wrong! Obstinate! (Jabbing it in again.) What do you mean? I guess I can put a mucilage brush in an inkwell if I want to.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course, but how foolish! I should think you would have more self control. I never saw such a man!

Witherby (gaining time)—Didn't, eh? Umph. You don't know what you are talking about. How do you know but what I wanted that mucilage brush in that inkstand?

Mr. Witherby—How absurd! What could you possibly want it there for?

Witherby (sarcastically)—Well, it is barely possible that I put it there on purpose. Of course, being a woman, such a thing would never occur to you, but as I am only a common, ordinary man I suppose I shall have to go into detail. I believe you painted two pieces of china the other day, didn't you? And I also believe, madam, that you requested me to pack them in a plain soapbox and send them to your uncle in Chicago.

Mrs. Witherby—Yes. I supposed you had forgotten all about it.

Witherby—Certainly you did. It takes a woman to go on a supposition like that. The fact that I was never known to forget anything in my life counts as nothing. You jumped at the conclusion that I forgot. It is, however, of no consequence that I am continually misjudged. I am used to it. Now, madam, I presume you are aware that if that box ever reaches your uncle it must be properly addressed.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course.

Witherby—Precisely. And I presume you may be aware that writing the address on a card and tacking the said card on the box is a very unsafe, unbusiness-like method.

Mrs. Witherby—I don't know as I had thought about it.

Witherby—Certainly not. I have been thinking for you for the last 30 years, and it would be strange if you should begin now. Well, madam, to proceed, what is the most natural, feasible, simple method to get that box addressed? Why, with a brush and a little ink, isn't it?

Mrs. Witherby—But, my dear, I could have got you another brush. I——

Witherby—Certainly you could. I was aware of that. But in your simple, guileless, woman's way you are of course not supposed to know of the chemical value of the admixture of mucilage and ink for marking purposes. You are not aware, madam, that ordinary ink applied with an ordinary brush will run into wood. I am not surprised that you do not know that a little mucilage rightly administered is the exact thing to prevent this.

Mrs. Witherby—Well, it may be all right, but it certainly did look funny.

Witherby—Of course it looked funny. Every woman sees things in a funny light at rare intervals, even if they haven't a sense of humor. Now, if you will get that soapbox, I will fix it up.

Witherby (wiping his brow)—Phew! That was a narrow escape. I wonder what I would have done if it hadn't been for that box?

Mrs. Witherby (after the box)—And he thinks I believe him!—New York Press.

SUN HOUSE-LOT CONTEST.

One Vote for _____

The Lowell Daily Sun will present

AS A CHRISTMAS GIFT

To the Most Popular Society Officer in Lowell.

All officers of benevolent, literary, military, social, religious, political and benefit organizations, societies, clubs, companies or associations in this city are eligible as contestants. The officer whose name appears on the greatest number of the above coupons will be awarded the House-lot.

The lot is located on Columbia street near Middlesex street. It contains 5000 square feet of land, is level and beautifully situated with a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 100 feet. It is designated as lot No. 61 on a plan of land owned by H. E. Shaw and J. V. Meigs, Jr. Plans showing the lot and the surroundings and giving full particulars of the contest may be obtained free at THE SUN office.

The last ballot will be printed Friday, December 15, and the polls will close at THE SUN office at 9 o'clock, Monday evening, December 18, 1893. The final result will be announced as soon as possible after the 18th and the deed will be passed before Christmas. Vote early and as often as you please. Send ballots by messenger or mail to THE SUN office with the name, office and organization plainly written on each ballot. ☞The vote up to date is printed on the first page.

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.

CHAPTER I.—The $4 Eton.

Imagine such a thing! A double-breasted, reefer, Eton suit, of heavy flannel, warm enough for the lowest Lowell mercuries; strong and serviceable. In handsome shades of Navy blue, brown, dark green and black and as trim and stylish as anything seen on the street, and all for $4! The story starts well, doesn't it?

CHAPTER II.—The $6 Empire.

Have you seen our Empire Blouse Suit, made of Diagonal Serge in a wide variety of colors, and made doubly desirable for warmth and wear by being lined throughout? We are fitting the ladies of Lowell in this handsome suit for $6. We should be backward about disclosing this absurdly low price, only we know that in these hard times you won't think any the less of us for paring our prices way down to the core.

CHAPTER III.—Concerning Cashmeres.

The first two chapters have probably fairly well prepared you for surprises. That is fortunate, for here comes one of the surprises of your life... A Cashmere—a perfectly made, stylish, and beautifully made Cashmere Suit for $81. These are especially rich and heavy goods; and these suits (and the $4 and $6 suits as well) have the big 4½ yard skirt, now so distinctly AU FAIT.

CHAPTER IV.—$19 Tailor-Mades.

What woman does not admire a tailor-made suit? But tailor-made suits have hitherto been a little uppish in price. We have something in tailor-made that we are rather surprised at ourselves. It is All-Wool, Homespun, in various shades, and stitched throughout with silk and trimmed throughout with military braid; and we will fit you in it perfectly for $10. How can we do this, you ask? There are people in the trade asking the same thing?

CHAPTER V.—Our High Grade Custom work.

If you want something extraordinarily nice, something full of individuality, that will perfectly suit your personality, as well as perfectly fit your figure, we will make up a tailor-made suit in different fabric for from $10 to $35. We have just received a beautiful line of serges and other goods for winter suits, all of superior quality; and our custom department, you must remember, is in charge of a lady of long experience at home and abroad, with a thorough knowledge of what is correct and in good taste.

For the rest of this interesting story, call at our new store, which is full of all that is latest, best and most reasonable in Suits, Cloaks, Capes and Furs.

BANKERS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SCARE

Which Has Recently Affected the Business of the Country.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Two score of gentlemen who preside over Boston's treasure houses gathered at the Parker House yesterday afternoon to welcome James H. Eckels to the city, at the dinner of the Boston Bank Presidents' association. The young comptroller of the currency is here to meet Boston bankers, and incidentally to tell what he can, from his official position, that will interest and benefit them.

He received a cordial reception at the dinner, which was served at 3 o'clock, and made a speech. Phineas Pierce, president of the Continental bank, presided, and, after dinner had been disposed of, introduced Mr. Eckels as the guest and speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Eckels said:

The commanding position which the banks of this country occupy in our financial world cannot be denied, nor the importance of our banking institutions overestimated. Established upon a safe basis and honestly conducted upon conservative lines, they are the greatest of all agencies for the promotion of a people's prosperity, but stripped of safeguards or dishonestly managed, the injury which they bring upon a people is only limited by the extent of their opportunities.

Benefits to All.

The supreme function which they fill is the distribution of the people's wealth, so as to make it a never-ending source of benefit to all.

Take from them, without cause, support, and inevitably the injury falls upon all. Demand of them in a moment of fright the money given in their keeping that it may find lodgment in hiding places, and of necessity the banks must withdraw this life blood from the arteries of trade, and the shop and store and factory must close and labor go unemployed.

Between May 4 and October of this year the withdrawals in individual deposits in national banks alone were $200,000,000 and of banks and bankers' deposits to the amount of $79,000,000, a total of $378,000,000.

To meet this drain the banks were compelled to call in loans, thus depleting the resources of active trade to the extent of $318,000,000, and from banks and bankers to the amount of $51,000,000, while to their borrowings was added $37,000,000.

Small Withdrawals Counted.

In the light of these figures, apart from the statistics of a like nature which could be added from state, savings and private banks, who can doubt but that the shrinkage in deposits on the one hand, contributing only to the fund of hoarded money and the calling in on the other of loans necessitated by the demands of depositors, withdrawing such vast sums from the activities of business, contributed more than all else to the stagnation from which we have suffered?

The most serious feature of the whole matter was the withdrawals of small amounts by depositors who were not borrowers, and whose accounts, as is well known to all bankers, are most valuable in the banking business, and constitute a most stable and important addition to the fixed capital of commercial banks, and is the fund which is used to meet the current demands of the business of each community.

This fact alone is sufficient to refute the charge that the financial stringency was the result of a bankers' panic, were it possible to believe that a body of intelligent, shrewd and prudent business men could be capable of setting in motion the machinery which would accomplish their own distress and ruin.

I trust and believe that this condition of affairs will soon give way to a better and different order of things, and industries now deadened through the action of an affrighted people quickened into life.

Outlook Is Bright.

Happily at last the financial measure which threw so much of doubt upon our monetary system, destroyed the confidence of the people in our banks and paralyzed the activities of business no longer remains upon the statute book to plague us. Its operation worked harm to us abroad; it wrought disaster at home.

Its repeal leaves us at last free to enter upon financial legislation that will accord with those principles of sound economics which through all the past centuries have, and in the future will, control the world's monetary operations. With such legislation aiding instead of retarding the unwritten laws of commerce and trade, the wealth of the American people must, in the very order of things, become as vast as their energies are unbounded.

In conclusion, permit me to say that the advocates of sound money must not rest content with the vantage ground which now is theirs. The declaimer advocating a money cheap and plenty is yet abroad in the land and will continue so long as there is hope of terms of compromise or yielding to his demands.

I am not unmindful of the fact that cheap money doctrines have time and time again taken a hold upon our people, but this seeming popularity is neither indicative of their real strength nor of their soundness as financial principles. No errors are so spontaneously popular with the mass of the people as financial ones, and none are so easily dispelled if aggressively attacked.

Scheig and Floyd Captured.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Philip Scheig, formerly paying teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, and Frank Floyd, were arrested at Southampton last night on board the steamer Saale from New York. Scheig is charged with stealing $75,000, and Floyd is charged with being an accomplice in the robbery.

Charley Mitchell as an Actor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Charley Mitchell has signed a contract with Theatrical Managers Powers and Edwards for 12 weeks at $2.00 per week. His engagement, it is said, will not affect the proposed fight, for it is agreed that he can break the theatrical contract at a day's notice.

Noted Southern Lady Dead.

A Boy's Awful Error.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The cause of the wreck on the Rock Island road last Wednesday, causing 12 deaths, was brought to light yesterday when C. C. Shields, a 12-year-old boy, confessed to having thrown from the rear of the wrecked train the fuse set to notify the train following that the suburban was behind time. The boy said he did not know what the signal was for, and was released from custody.

SWIFT AND POWERFUL

Is the Cruiser Columbia, the Latest Addition to Our Navy.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Half a mile from Deer island innocently floats the Columbia, the swiftest warlike craft upon the wave. Given a whaleback, with a cruiser built on top of her, and you have the Columbia. The simple simile can be made even plainer by saying that the sides, gun and spar decks might be all shot away and there would then remain a veritable cast-iron nautilus.

Less imposing and less formidable than the New York, she will on the whole be more dreaded. The New York having been so recently tested over the same course, comparisons are natural, although somewhat out of order, for as fighters they belong to distinctly different classes of craft.

Both, however, are cruisers. The New York belongs to the belted family, having plates of steel along her sides. The Columbia falls within the lines of what are generally termed protected cruisers, her shield being the coat of steel beneath her lower deck, which curves downward at the sides and ends, giving the lines of a whale's back.

The Columbia's run from Philadelphia was remarkable for its speed, being accomplished in 13 hours and 7 minutes, or 1 hour and 28 minutes quicker than the New York. But the equivalent of 4500 more horses, or 21,000 Dobbins, was what made the achievement possible. Speed is the great desideratum these days, as shown by the lines of the Minneapolis and the Brooklyn, soon to follow the Columbia; but there is a limit to the size and strength of shafting.

From this momentary obstacle, however, came a decided advantage. By subdividing the power by means of a third screw, the difficulty was not only obviated but increased economy secured, it being possible to disconnect the screws, the free revolution causing very little resistance to those in operation.

Chief Officer Aiken says that there are other exceptionally good points about the Columbia beside her speed.

SCIENTISTS PERISHED.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The crew of the whaler Aurora, which has just arrived at Dundee, report that they discovered in Baffin's bay the wreck of the schooner Ripple. This is the vessel in which two Swedish men of science, Bjorlfg and Kalvennius, left St. John's, N. F., in June, 1892. Their purpose was to collect specimens of the flora and fauna of Greenland along Davis' strait.

The crew of the Dundee boat, after a search along the shore, found two cairns near the spot where the Ripple had gone to pieces. One was covered with the remains of human bodies. Under the other cairn were found manuscripts and a note, written in English, asking the finder to send the papers to Baron Nordenskjold or the nearest consul. Near this cairn lay a skeleton, supposed to be that of either Bjorlfg or Kalvennius.

And They Were Experts!

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—A shell from a large gun fired during the Crimean war was discovered buried in the ground at Dobraja Nadoshda. The shell was being examined by several alleged experts in such matters when one of them struck the missile with a hammer, causing it to explode, killing nine people on the spot and severely wounding a number of others.

Oriental Disasters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The steamship China brings news of two severe calamities in Japan. One was a flood at Oita, in which 300 persons were drowned and over 2000 houses destroyed, and the other was the foundering of 44 fishing boats off the western coast by a typhoon and the loss of all their occupants, numbering 142 men.

Jennie Is Persistent.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Counsel for Miss Jennie Mighell, whose suit against Albert Baker (Sultan of Johore) for breach of promise of marriage was recently dismissed on the grounds that the sultan was a ruling sovereign over whom the English courts have no jurisdiction, has lodged an application against this decision.

Fight For Property Likely.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—William Bryant, a wealthy grocer of this city, died here in July last. Now it is said that Bryant was really Levi Dean of Lincolnville, Me., who had deserted his family 30 years ago. Bryant had a wife and two children in this city and litigation over the estate of $100,000 is probable.

The Kaiser's Warning.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The recent order of the emperor issued to the army as a result of the gambling trial at Hanover directs that proceedings concerning courts of honor be initiated against officers compromised in a trial. Any officers who are found to have violated their rank and honor will be cashiered.

Dodds Is Making Progress.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Le Temps publishes dispatches from Kotonou saying that Colonel Dodds' column occupied Atcherite on Nov. 7. All the tribes in the vicinity have surrendered, and they have turned over to the French 400 rifles and four cannons and a considerable amount of ammunition.

Foreigners Warned.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 14.—In consequence of the renewed bombardment of Rio de Janeiro, stringent instructions have been received by the commanders of foreign warships to take all the necessary steps to protect foreign property in the city.

The Salvationists' Congress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Salvation Army's Columbian congress began with a monster prayer meeting at the headquarters, Read street. Commander Booth was the leader. There will be a parade of the congress tonight.

Reports Didn't Suit Authorities.

MADRID, Nov. 14.—The correspondents of El Pais of Madrid and The Telegraph of London were expelled from Melilla, the authorities not approving of the character of the reports they sent to their papers.

Attempted Assassination.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—M. K. Georgievitch, the Servian minister to France, was dining at a restaurant when a man fired a shot at him, wounding him in the side. The assailant was arrested.

Miss Mary Reed of Cincinnati, a nurse among the lepers in India, has contracted the disease herself. Her last letter home, instead of lamenting that fact, asks that $50 dollars of her small salary be withheld and given to the flood sufferers in the south.

Owen Sullivan of Danbury, Conn., aged 21, sentenced to the county jail for one year for theft, escaped from the Bridgeport hospital. He was transferred to that institution last Monday. Sullivan placed a dummy in his bed and jumped from the window.

James Brady, 60 years old, a farm laborer, died at the Hartford hospital. In a fit of delirium from typhoid fever he had crawled out of a window in the fourth story of the Columbian hotel on Market street, and held on to the sill by his hands until he dropped to the sidewalk.

Will Be Overcome by Action of Banks of New York.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A plan has just been perfected whereby the gold reserve of the treasury may be increased to its legal limit of $100,000,000. This is to be accomplished by means of an understanding with the banks of New York, whereby they are to increase the proportion of gold in their deposits with the New York subtreasury to cover the certified class that are presented by importers in payment of customs duties.

It is the system now in vogue for the banks to keep special deposits at the subtreasury for this use, and heretofore the gold has not averaged more than 1 per cent. The bulk of payments are made in treasury notes. As the deficit in the gold reserve now is only $15,000,000 and the associated banks of New York have on hand fully $80,000,000 it is thought that this scheme, which is a result of the recent visit of the secretary to New York, will be carried through.

BACK TO JAIL.

Noted Crook Brought From Connecticut State Prison to Lynn.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 14.—William Marlow, one of the shrewdest crooks in this state, was brought here by State Officer Joseph Shaw from the Connecticut state prison after a tedious journey.

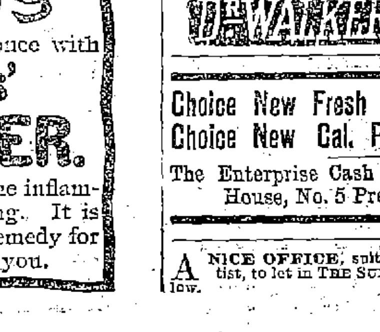

Marlow has a history never to be forgotten by the officials in this part of the state. It was he who liberated several prisoners from Salem jail, escaping himself, in the spring of 1889. The men stole $200 from the safe besides securing some revolvers.

Requisition papers were signed by Lieutenant Governor Wolcott Saturday, and when he was released from the state prison in Connecticut yesterday, where he had served for burglary, Officer Shaw took him and brought him to this city, and today he was sent to Salem, where he will serve out a sentence of 32 months. Marlow is 25 years of age.

For the benefit of those who contemplate house-keeping, whether on a large or small scale, we have prepared a set of Plans so arranged in goods and prices as to be adapted to the wants of all classes, and which will be found of the greatest assistance to beginners and others who aim to get the best possible results for their money, and which combine the greatest possible usefulness with the least possible expenditure. These Plans will be known as

and are the outcome of our very extensive dealings with the public and our thorough knowledge of their requirements. We claim for them the following essential elements, on which we base their success:

ORIGINALITY, BECAUSE no house in our business has ever proposed or adopted any such plans for securing to the purchaser such benefits as these afford, and because no matter what competitors may promise or hold out in copying these plans (as they undoubtedly will) they must fall far short of the quality, even if the quantity and prices are the same. On this particular point you get our guarantee.

FEASIBILITY, BECAUSE these plans have been originated and prepared by us, not merely for an advertisement, but are intended as a positive benefit to the purchaser in helping him to secure such goods as will give the greatest satisfaction in every respect. AND WE GUARANTEE that the goods set forth in either plan, if taken altogether, shall be found from $15 to $50 cheaper than they can be bought for elsewhere.

POPULARITY, BECAUSE all intending purchasers can find in these plans the realization of their ideas, and because no matter which you accept, you will find it is just exactly as if you had ramed it yourself.

A Well Known Printer's Testimony.

MR. LYMAN METCALF, 46 Middle Street, one of the best known printers in Lowell, says: "Last winter I was troubled with congestion, and a distressing catarrhal trouble of the stomach. I tried two prominent Boston physicians and paid them a lot of money; but they did me no good. I was then induced by a friend to try a sample bottle of

I felt immediate relief, and before I had finished the whole bottle I was completely cured, and the troubles have never returned. I then recommended it to a friend of mine, who was also cured of a severe throat trouble after he had used half a bottle. I have so much faith in it that I urge all who suffer with Congestion, or Lung Troubles, to try it."

Quality, Not Quantity.

THE SIZE Of a newspaper is no guarantee of its excellence. The public wants quality, not quantity, in a newspaper. News that is old is not improved by spreading it over a large number of pages, where the reader must hunt to find it. You can read in the padded sheets tomorrow much of what you see in THE SUN today.

The Central Labor union's aid committee having in charge the work of raising funds for the Olneyville strikers, went before Social assembly, Knights of Labor, last night, and as a result secured a pledge of $25.

A countryman, while driving along Gorham street yesterday afternoon, fell from his wagon to the ground. When picked up it was found that he was intoxicated, and so he was taken in the patrol to the police station.

Post 42 G. A. R. has secured new quarters in the Associate building at the corner of Worthen and Merrimack streets. The new quarters will be ready for occupancy about Dec. 1, and arrangements have been made whereby rooms will be provided for the band, Women's relief corps and the post.

J. P. Campbell, late resident manager has placed a keeper at the Bijou, for salary due, and the Bascom heirs have a claim for rent. It is said Mr. Campbell has leased the theatre in Brockton, run by Mr. Spitz, and will continue as manager till the end of the season.

Tonight, the board of trade meets and will consider municipal matters under the head of the charter revision. The directors for the ensuing year to be voted for at the December meeting will be put in nomination. An amendment to the by-laws, reducing the number of directors to 25, will be offered.

A man came into THE SUN office with a grievance. He said that on last Tuesday he was in the public library when some poorly clad men came into the building. The janitor, he says, told them to get out, calling them tramps. Now, this man wishes to state that it is wrong to call an unemployed man a tramp, and spoke fluently on tramps, the unemployed, etc.

The failure, reported last week in the Boston papers, of Stacks Brothers, manufacturers of fine clothing, furnishes a grand opportunity for Lowell people to buy overcoats, suits and pants at 46 cents on the dollar. J. L. Chalifoux was the lucky man to secure the goods and he proposes to sell them at 46 cents on the dollar. Read his advertisement, it is self explanatory. Commences Thursday morning at 8 o'clock.

The Annual Meeting.

The N. E. A. A. U., held its annual meeting in the B. A. A. club house, last night, and Fisher H. Pearson, T. P. Sullivan and J. H. Comber represented the L. C. A. A.

It was a harmonious meeting and much business pertaining to athletics was done. Fisher H. Pearson was elected upon the governing board for the next year. John F. McAuley was chosen official handicapper.

He Should be Adjutant General.

The name of Col. Wm. L. Chase is mentioned in connection with the Adjutant-Generalcy. Gov. Greenhalge could hardly make a more satisfactory appointment for the militia. Col. Chase is able, active and immensely popular with both officers and men of the militia. He is a thorough tactician and has made a careful study of the needs of citizen soldiery. He would be a model official.—Lawrence Telegram.

Col. Chase would be a vast improvement over the present incumbent of the office who has become a back number in the service, so rapid has been the development of the militia. And besides it is about time that the ordinary, everybody sort of military gets a share in the advantages of new equipment, etc., and time that the naval battalion and several other newly organized branches were allowed the opportunity of wearing the newness off equipment, uniforms, etc. Col. Chase's appointment would do more for the militia today than any other change which could be suggested.

Pipe With a History.

In a show-case in Gallagher's cigar store on Merrimack street, there is a pipe, which from the history connected with it, is quite a curiosity. The pipe is badly battered, and is only held together by the aid of pieces of tin. The pipe belongs to Martin Riley of Belvidere and he makes the following statement: "This pipe was the property of General Santefey of Mexico. The general presented it to one of his officers in the Mexican war. This officer was killed in an engagement and the pipe was taken from his pocket by one of the American soldiers and carried in the rebellion by a private in a Baltimore regiment. It changed hands from the Union to the rebel soldiers, was taken and returned a dozen times and finally carried triumphant out of the fields by one of our Union soldiers and presented to the present owner by a veteran of Baltimore, Md."

THE SUN acknowledges the receipt with compliments of Representative James Stuart Murphy, a copy of the report on manual training and industrial education by the state commission. It is a valuable volume and gives much interesting information in the special branches of school work.

Some of the bricklayers have had their attention directed to a phase of the contract labor law which they think they can turn to their advantage. It appears from the information given by some of them last evening that during the recent strike some of the local master masons hired bricklayers from Canada and that the circumstances were such as to bring the transactions within the jurisdictions of the contract labor law.

A large crowd witnessed the old fashioned game of "peggy" which was played on the North Common yesterday, between two teams, on one John J. Ryan, Wm. H. Merritt and Barney Cahill, and on the other, J. F. Courtney, Frank O'Brien and Robert V. Saunders. The former team won two out of three rounds. James H. Smith was to have been referee, but was detained by political engagements. The winners will accept challenges.

An entertainment and banquet was given last evening by Merrimack lodge, I. O. O. F., at the hall on Middlesex street. A large attendance was present. The arrangements were in charge of Vice Grand David Barns, Noble Grand Jonathan Woods and others. A fine program was presented and supper was served in the upper hall. Speeches were made by Past Grand David Willman and Past Grand Masters Francis Jewett and A. B. Plimpton. Tonight Oberlin lodge will celebrate its 50th anniversary with appropriate exercises.

What "Old Hundred" Hayes Says.

In speaking of Greenhalge's large vote Mr. Hayes, the famous "Old-Hundred," says he was slightly disappointed on the vote in the city, and believes that if Hugh Montgomery had not declared for the republican ticket, Mr. Greenhalge would have carried Lowell by 1300. Mr. Hayes will lead in cheers for Gov-elect Greenhalge every day in the week and all day Sunday.

Work Will Continue.

Although there has been more or less talk about the stopping of work on the new post office because of the expenditures exceeding the appropriation, the situation seems to be about the same as when the U. S. inspector was here several weeks ago. He assumed that the building would be covered in, and if sufficient warmth was had, interior work could go on during the winter. Yesterday workmen were slating the roof. Superintendent Conlon says he expects that as soon as Mr. Staples is finished contracts for interior work will be given out. He also states that not over $125,000 of the $200,000 appropriation has been spent.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—On Thursday evening Annie Ward Tiffany will be seen here in "Lady Blarney," a new play written for her by Mr. Alfred Kennedy, who has succeeded in giving for the star a part which affords her numerous opportunities to display her versatility as a character actress. It is the best thing Miss Tiffany has done in late years. The climaxes of all the acts are dramatic and the dialogue is bright and catchy.

"Hands Across the Sea" in its previous performances in this city has usually packed the theatres in Lowell, and still its drawing powers are as strong as ever. Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday matinee.

MUSIC HALL.—Little Allie Fisher proved herself a star of the first magnitude last night as Birdie Lamar, in "The Upper Hand." For so young a child her acting is surprisingly artistic. She was applauded to the echo, too, and will be the talk of the city before the week is half over. Mr. Meldon and Miss Tucker sustained the serious interest with their usual success. Messrs. Thomas, Watson and Lyle all made big hits in comedy parts and Joe Harrington had a bit as a Chinaman, that brought him and Mr. Thomas a scene call. Miss Williams played two parts well. The rest of the company was satisfactory, and the play was very well staged.

STREET NUMBERS.

How the Renumbering Troubles Letter Carriers and Others.

The work of renumbering Lowell's residences is assuming such progress as to add greatly to the labors of the local letter carriers. All the force is obliged to carry a book containing a list of the old and present number on each residence that has been renumbered. Much of the added labor could be spared if people who subscribe for regular papers, dailies, weeklies and monthlies would request the publisher to place the new number on their regular papers.

This is important in cases where sickness or accident prevent the regular carrier from working. Many of the carriers state that on streets which have been renumbered many months, papers bear the old number. The "boys" hope that subscribers will promptly request the publishers to alter their address and thus lessen their work for the coming winter.

The same cause leads to the failure in delivery of many papers. SUN subscribers should send in their new numbers.

CATHOLIC CHURCH AT FALL RIVER BURNED TODAY.

Police Think it Was Set on Fire—Loss Will Reach $30,000 and There is Insurance on It.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

FALL RIVER, Nov. 13—The church of Notre Dame de Lourdes on Bassett street, Flint Village, was destroyed by fire this morning.

At 12.30 o'clock Rev. Fr. Bessette, while returning from a sick call, discovered a blaze making great headway. He gave an alarm by ringing the church bell, and after a few moments help arrived, and the sacred vessels and vestments were saved.

Before water could be secured by the fire department the building was a mass of flames that lit up the whole city.

Two general alarms were rung in quick succession, and the firemen were kept busy until 5 o'clock this morning.

The total loss will be $30,000, and the insurance is $16,000.

The origin of the fire is uncertain.

The building could accommodate 2000 people and was located only a short distance from the little church that was burned at noon yesterday. The police think the fire was of incendiary origin, but have no clue to the identity of the firebug.

The church was the place of worship for the 10,000 French Canadians living in Flint village, and was to be supplanted by a church now in process of construction, to cost $300,000, and accommodate from 4000 to 5000 persons. This new church will not be ready for occupancy for some months.

MONSON HAD A BLAZE.

The Loss is Estimated at $50,000.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

PALMER, Nov. 13. A disastrous fire broke out this morning in Monson about 2 o'clock.

It was first discovered in the north basement of the Central block, which is owned by Norcross & Reynolds. The block was a three story wooden building.

The loss is estimated at not less than $50,000, which is covered by insurance.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

BOSTON, Nov. 13. John Moylan, one of a gang of workmen at work on the new block, corner of E and 1st street, South Boston, was today precipitated from a staging into the cellar. He was killed, and a companion, Bartholomew Fogarty, was fatally hurt.

The Rumor Is Denied.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. The report that President Cleveland is dangerously ill is denied by his private secretary.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Progress of Y. W. C. A. Work Reported by Officers.

The Young Women's Christian association held a public meeting at the First Congregational church, yesterday afternoon. Rev. George F. Kenngott acted as presiding officer of the meeting and invocation was offered by Rev. Dr. Court. This was followed by scriptural reading by Rev. H. Lockhart. Mrs. H. B. Shattuck then submitted a report of the work done by the association in this city. Included in the report was the following statement:

From June 1, 1892, to June 1, 1893: 4 corporation prayer meeting—attendance, 79; 52 young women's gospel meetings, 1293; 28 noon prayer meetings, 748; 2 workers' prayer meetings, 30; 21 bible training classes, 111; 12 general bible classes, 144; 2 special public religious meetings, 60; 12 directed to boarding houses; applications for help and places in employment bureau for eight months, 137; daily average attendance at rooms, 30; total for all purposes, 10,746; 7 socials and receptions; 4 educational classes; students enrolled, 40; 1 club swinging class, students enrolled, 8; total number of members, 350; 75 members of committees. classes for 1893—Current events, English literature, English grammar, New Testament Greek, penmanship, French, dressmaking, Workers' Bible Training class, general bible class.

Mrs. W. H. Pepin rendered a vocal selection and Mrs. Joseph Cook of Boston gave an address on the work of the association.

Addresses were also delivered by Revs. Dr. Thomas, Dr. Dana, J. O. Campbell and Dr. Seymour.

Rev. Dr. Greene offered prayer and the meeting closed with benediction by Rev. G. F. Kenngott. During the meeting the ladies' quartette responded with several selections.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Ex-Mayor Palmer says he wants a fine saddle horse, one of majestic bearing, with long mane and tail, of chestnut color, which will be fit for a colonel to ride, and which will set off a colonel's uniform.

While Warrant Officer Peter A. Cawley is away Seizure Officer Donaldson will take his place in court, keeping the list, sympathizing with offenders, collecting fines, jollying the reporters and a few other things.

A number of the male friends of Mr. John Cassidy who has been unwell for some time past, visited him at his home on Sherman street yesterday afternoon. The guests entertained with musical selections, while few could be more hospitable than the host. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

It is reported that two of the machine shop officials, having been frightened by the trouble at the Lawrence mills, started out yesterday with huge rubber boots covering their pedal extremities, to inspect the canal walls near the machine shop and that while crossing the canal on a plank both fell in and were wet up to the neck, and chilled through though fortunately not drowned.

Rev. Mother Vincent, O. S. D., of St. Catharine's convent, Springfield, Ky., who has been visiting the Dominican nuns in Centralville, returned to Boston yesterday where she will remain a week at the houses of the order in the near vicinity of Boston. While here she was visited by many of St. Michael's parishioners. She is accompanied by Sr. Raymunda. Both were greatly pleased at the flourishing condition of the schools.

Who Is He?

Does any one know Thomas Moore, a man, aged 45 years?

He died yesterday at the House of Correction in Cambridge.

He was sent there from this city on September 30, having been arrested three times in as many days for drunkeness.

When arrested he would not give any residence, and it is thought he had none in this country.

A Self Supporting Society.

A new musical organization has been formed in this city with a membership of about 35. The officers are: President, George H. Taylor; vice president, George A. Foster; secretary, Robert Leatham, Jr.; treasurer, Harry Stocks; director, F. R. Rix; pianist, H. T. Gilday; advisory committee, C. R. Thomas, G. A. Foster, Miss Irene Pinder, Mrs. M. P. Tenney, G. H. Taylor, F. R. Rix; music committee, G. H. Taylor, G. A. Foster, F. R. Rix.

The society will produce cantatas and part songs in their lighter sphere. They expect to give a concert some time next month. One feature of the society is that all its expenses will be defrayed jointly by the members.

THEIR NARROW ESCAPE.

CONGREGATION INHALED GAS AND WERE STUPIFIED.

Late Comers to Church Discovered the Cause of so Much Sleepiness.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 14. The entire congregation of St. Paul's Catholic church was more or less asphyxiated by escaping gas yesterday.

So gradually had they inhaled the fluid that no one observed its effect until one of the altar boys fell over into a priest's arms. Even then, so stupefied had the congregation become, that the fainting of the boy caused no excitement.

A member of the congregation, who happened to come late into church, noticed the smell of gas and the sleepy condition of the congregation, and at once opened the doors and windows, thus doubtless, saving many lives.

BIG BANK RAID.

ROBBERS OPENED FIRE FIRST AND WOUNDED OFFICER.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 14. A daring bank robbery, with an attempt to murder the president of the bank of Milton, took place at Milton, Ore., 10 mile south of this city, yesterday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock, when few persons were on the street, three men, well mounted, without attracting any special attention, rode leisurely into town and dismounted at the door of the bank of Milton.

Two entered the bank, while the third stood guard outside and held the horses.

Pres. A. Hopson, cashier N. A. Davis and assistant cashier William Hopson were in the bank at the time.

The first intimation of the coming of the robbers they had was when two shots were fired by the intruders before making any verbal demand.

Both shots took effect in Pres. Hopson's body, inflicting painful flesh wounds and felling him to the floor.

The revolver was held so close to the head of cashier Davis that the concussion knocked him down.

The noise of the shots spread the alarm, and within five minutes an armed and mounted posse was in pursuit, but all traces were lost after a short distance.

The weather was very foggy, and it was impossible to see more than 200 yards.

Salvationists Bring Suit.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

HILLSBORO', Ill., Nov. 14. Members of the Salvation Army have brought suit against the aldermen and policemen of Pana for $4,000 damages for false imprisonment. Over 100 witnesses have been subpoened to appear at the trial.

His Arm Torn in a Machine.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

ELLSWORTH, Nov. 14. George Haynes had his arm terribly lacerated in a planing machine in Hopkins' foundry yesterday. He would have been drawn in bodily if the machine had not been shut down.

Will Not Give Consent.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Nov. 14—The West Virginia, South Virginia and West Michegan Episcopalian standing committees have refused assent to the consecration of Rev. Fr. Hall as bishop of Vermont.

Shot His Sweetheart.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 14. Yesterday Michael McNamara shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. Ellen Sweeney and her daughter Mary, then shooting himself in the head. He will die.

Marriage Intentions.

The following intentions were recorded at the city clerk's office today:

What the Ministers Found Out by Investigation.

CITE CASES OF DESTITUTION TO THE CHURCH LEAGUE.

An Interesting Gathering and a Lively Debate.

The Church League met in the board of trade rooms last evening.

The purpose of the meeting was to receive and act upon the report of the committee which inquired into the condition of the needy; and also to act upon the suggestion that a central bureau of relief be formed.

The meeting was called to order by Pres. George A. Batchelder and Rev. Dr. Seymour invoked divine blessing. Rev. Mr. Merriam served as secretary pro tem. until Rev Mr. Tilton was unanimously elected. The latter not being present, Rev. Mr. Raboteau was chosen secretary pro tem.

Rev. Mr. Johnson said he had received a call from Mrs. F. C. Clarke of Boston who represents a midnight mission for fallen women in Boston. She is here to visit the local clergy, and to try to institute such a mission here. Mr. Johnson suggested that the executive committee of the league consider the advisability of inviting her to appear before the league as soon as other matters are disposed of.

The president then read a letter from Rev. J. O. Campbell tendering his resignation from the executive committee.

The president then called for the report of the committee appointed to investigate the extent of destitution in Lowell, and Mr. Merriam, as chairman, submitted the following report:

The day following the appointment of the committee, we placed a book in the Young Men's Christian association rooms to receive names of applicants for work and relief. The first day there were ten; the second day 60. We paid $5 to a young man recommended by Secretary Harlow to keep the records, but unfortunately he disappeared, records and all, and has not yet returned, so I am unable to give the valuable information contained in that book. Only a few of all who solicited aid were what might be termined unworthy. They were of the better class of wage earners. I inquired among the leading industries of Lowell and was given a great deal of information which tended to show the spread of destitution and suffering. In the order of my inquiries the first mill owner said his mill was running short handed on half time, and he ventured to say that those who claimed to be running full time tell deliberate falsehoods. Second, the employes he is unable to furnish work for are suffering to a pinch. Another, running full time, and lots of applicants for work. The next usually employed 600, now 300, lots of applicants, the number increasing largely the past two weeks. Another said he had but six or eight applicants daily but this was because it is generally known that no extra help is being employed here. One mill has nearly 1000 men about its gates every day, but the speaker questioned the character of the men as a whole. Another who employs intelligent men is 300 short of full quota with lots of applicants. One was running 41 short of full force and on three-quarters time, lots of applicants. Another one-half to three-quarter full force, five days a week and scores of applicants. Two others were running part force all the time, and one full force of 2100 all the time; all however had lots of applicants.

The evasive replies I received showed things to be worse than the mill men cared to admit. The conclusion reached as based upon our investigation is that the mills are only running on partial time with a partial force, and that great numbers are out of work and need assistance.

Destitute Women.

Miss Mudge of Y. W. C. A. tells me that her experience with destitute and needy women shows that there is great suffering among them. They are unquestionably in a deplorable condition, and I dread to conjecture the result if their condition is not soon improved. These are some of the individual cases investigated by Miss Mudge.

Young woman, 20 years of age, with her mother dependent on her, earns but 22 cents for a whole day's work. She is a worthy Christian girl and says it is impossible for her to live at this rate.

A young girl of 18 has a mother and three little brothers dependent on her. Gets only $3 per week and this only pays for rent, fuel, food, &c. Goes into mill at 7.30 and gets out at 4 p. m. Does not earn enough to exist.

Young girl in family of ten says the older boys have no work; all that comes in is what the father earns. Anxious to get work to help out family.

Young girl of family of ten; pays board for herself and three younger children. Cannot get living wages in the mill.

Single girl, Catholic, Irish, boarding—no means of paying board; needs work badly and does anything.

Widow, Irish, Catholic, does housework but has been out of work since last summer; money is nearly spent and she has none for board.

Three Protestant girls who have done table work, are not experienced in other work and can find none; cannot pay board; expects to have to leave any day. One girl turned out of boarding house at night, no place to go.

Girl 19 years old, no parents, is out of work five weeks; does housework; very needy.

American girl, worked in box shop, ten in family, mother and father dead, brothers pay her board, work in machine shop—wages cut down.

A young girl, one of a family of ten, Canadians, father works in woolen mill, brothers work in mill when they can get work, no means of support but what father earns.

A young girl, Irish Catholic, out of work three months, boarding, no friends in this country but cousins—needs work.

American, members of First Congregational church, father no work, machinist, or works about machine shop, four others out of work; brother painter, no work; sisters work in plush mill, not running for two months.

I investigated the pawn shops and was told that up to two weeks ago pledges had been mostly received from the lower classes but times have continued so hard that they seem to have nothing to pawn and cannot redeem their pledges. The more respectable people are now coming in with pledges.

The labor bureaus are over-run with applicants for assistance as well as the employment offices."

He then submitted the following recommendations:

Whereas the facts already collected seem to indicate that actual distress is impending within our city;

Resolved, 1. That we establish an agency for relief to become the servant of the Church league in ministering to the poor of the city.

2. That all churches be invited to contribute such a sum of money as shal meet the necessary expenses incident in carry forward such ministration and in providing for this need.

3. That the pastor and delegates of each church be the committee to receive the funds for this relief.

4. That the people of Lowell be invited to place at the disposal of such agency such supplies of fuel, clothing, etc., as their generosity shall prompt.

CHARLES L. MERRIAM,
WM. H. WIGGIN,
FRANCIS E. SAUNDERS.

The report was then discussed.

Dr. Dana said the people were not so badly off but what they could keep the premiums paid up on their life insurances.

Mr. Merriam remarked that the poor people will refuse to meet all other obligations in order to keep their policies paid, as a manager of a life insurance company had informed him. Dr. Dana then spoke at some length on the condition of things in the city during which he denounced the "$60,000 piece of fallacyism."

The matter was further discussed pro. and con., by Revs. Dana, Merriam, Hall, Mallory, Greene, Huntington, Seymour, and Mr. Saunders.

The matter was finally referred to the executive committee to be carried out as deemed expedient. The meeting then adjourned.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

A special meeting of the common council will be held at 8 o'clock, this evening.

The Turtle club met on Sunday afternoon and added four new names to the list making a membership of 137. There will be a meeting at 7.30 tomorrow evening.

C. James McNeiley of Manchester and Miss Carrie M. Tupper of Nashua were united in marriage at the Immaculate Conception church in this city Friday.

The shop of Joseph Mellen on Charles street was broken into last night and a number of articles stolen. The thieves entered by means of a rear window. The police have been notified.

Next Sunday evening Dr. Kane of the New England Keeley Cure institute, will lecture to the Lowell Reform club on the influence of alcohol on the human system. J. N. Nichols will also speak.

A Lawrence clergyman, Rev. Geo. H. Young, rises to protest that a lecture given in that city on Sunday afternoon on "Patriotism," was nothing more or less than "a tirade" against another form of worship by Rev. Hugh Montgomery.

Hartley Midgley, engineer for the United States Bunting company, while working in a portion of the works, came across a sparrow hawk, which had been injured in some manner. He captured it and found that it measured 35 inches from tip to tip.

Mr. John A. Nicholls, the well known and popular lecturer, is to deliver his new lecture on "A night in the slums of New York," at the Pawtucket church, Tuesday, Nov. 21, and a week later at the same place a lecture upon "Mary, Queen of Scots."

It is reported that Miss Halley has received a complaint from an operative in the Byfield Manufacturing company's employ, in which it is said that the company has no special pay day, and pay their help whenever they choose. An investigation is being made.

Yesterday afternoon, while Mr. James H. Riley and Mr. Frank Callaghan of Lakeview avenue were out riding, the horse shied at some obstacle on the side of the road when passing through Billerica. The buggy upset, and the occupants were thrown out, but escaped serious injury. The "Doctor" dressed the wounds.

TRIAL FOR ASSAULT.

Sheridan, Who Was Thrown Out of a Barroom, Has Recovered.

The case of Jeremiah Tompkins for assault and battery on James Sheridan was put on trial in the police court at 11 o'clock.

Sheridan has been in the hospital for some time suffering with brain trouble the result, it is alleged, of having been thrown out of Cushing's saloon on Concord street by the clerk Tompkins.

Lawyer Courtney appears for the defendant.

Sheridan testified that in the evening of Sept. 15, he went into Curtis' barroom on Concord street and had a drink. He had had a few before. While there words arose with Tompkins and the latter threw him out. On cross-examination witness said he had a few drinks when he got through work. He had trouble with several bystanders in the saloon and upset a glass of beer belonging to a man named Quinn. Some of the bystanders held him away from Quinn, and Tompkins came around and put him out. Pat. Finerty put on witness' coat once after he had taken it off in the bar room. Witness said he was passing jokes when he took off his coat.

Dr. Jones testified that Sheridan's life was in danger for two weeks.

Patrick Costello testified that he was with Sheridan on the day in question. While they were in Cushing's, Sheridan's beer was accidently upset, by a man who was near by and when the latter's glass was filled Sheridan upset it and trouble began. Witness said that Tompkins came around and threw Sheridan into the street the latter striking on his head; the ejected man was rendered senseless. Sheridan had said he would wrestle any man in the place, if he got fair play.

A number of witnesses were examined during the afternoon session.

HAWAII

Dole Recognized as Head of Government.

May Have Been Given Out to Test Public Feeling.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The state department yesterday received a communication from Honolulu telegraphed from San Francisco. It arrived by the steamer China. It is written in the navy department cipher. Experts were set to work upon the dispatch and Secretary Gresham took a copy out to Woodley for a conference over the matter with President Cleveland. Nothing was given out from the state department as to the substance of the dispatch.

W. P. Hastings, secretary of the Hawaiian legation, was shown the dispatch from San Francisco containing the news that Minister Willis had arrived in Honolulu and was about to present his credentials to President Dole. This news was obviously a great relief to the mind of the members of the legation. They declined to talk about the matter, as usual, but the satisfaction expressed at the presentation by Minister Willis of his credentials to President Dole suggested that they might have feared that the minister would be found to have been accredited to the queen.

Hawaiians' Hopes Raised.

The plan of the Hawaiian representatives evidently is to stand rigidly up for the rights they have secured by the recognition of their government. Minister Thurston touched the marrow of their hopes when he said that any attempt to overturn the present government by a foreign power would be an act of war. An act of war requires the consent or declaration of congress.

Congress will undoubtedly take up the subject of Hawaii in some way immediately upon assembling in December. The fight, it is said, will be made on the administration policy on this line—that it has declared war without the consent of congress, and has therein done an unlawful act. What effect it would have on this proposed policy if the present government should peaceably yield to the persuasions of the Americans is also discussed. The question involved is whether so peaceable a resistance could be regarded as an act of war. It is argued it would be an act of aggression on a sovereign power none the less because the power peacefully yielded to the threats of so overwhelmingly superior a force.

Gresham's Policy a Puzzler.

It still remains an unanswerable problem to those of diplomatic experience how the American minister accredited to the Hawaiian government can, immediately upon presenting his credentials, set about to destroy that government. This gives rise to many surmises such as that the real policy to be pursued by the state department has not hitherto been announced at all, but that Secretary Gresham's report to the president was simply designed to give opportunity to read the public sentiment on the subject.

It is not at all probable that it is true, but it shows that the policy of Gresham is considered so entirely extraordinary that incredulity and speculations cluster about it. There is a surmise that the restoration of the queen to the throne may not be followed by the entire withdrawal of the influence of the United States, but that, with the work of the last administration once undone, a protectorate may be established over the monarchy.

One clear and certain result of the present incident would seem to be that annexation will never be profferred to the United States by the Hawaiians again. If there is ever to be annexation the movement will originate in this country.

L. A. Thurston, the minister of the present government of Hawaii to the United States, returned to this city last night. He left this city some weeks ago to take charge of the Hawaiian exhibit at the World's fair.

Mr. Thurston was asked what course he proposed to pursue in view of the situation his government is placed in by the declation of the administration policy. He replied that he had not perfected his plans as yet. He thought he would be in Washington for several days at least, but intimated that his duties might call him away at any time.

Mr. Thurston has been a prominent leader in what is known as the reform movement which has been in progress in the Hawaiian Islands for a number of years past. He is one of the most influential of those who secured the reformed constitution from King Kalakua in 1887. He is a natural orator, and the recent revolution in the islands was due in no small part to his efforts.

His father and mother were born in the islands and were children of the early missionaries who went out in sailing vessels from New England around Cape Horn. He, also, was born in the islands, and after being educated in the United States studied law and commenced practice in Honolulu.

Consul Wilder's Opinion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—At the Hawaiian consulate in this city no word was received which would throw further light on the situation at the islands. Consul Wilder stated that in case the administration should ask the provisional government to step down and out, the request would not be granted; but in case that force should be threatened the provisional government could have but one course to pursue; resistance to the power of the United States would be useless, but it would protest with all its moral force against such a highhanded outrage. Should the United States protectorate of the monarchy be withdrawn, that monarchy would not last a day. Unquestionably, the next revolution would not be as peaceable as the last and the monarchy would surely be overthrown once and for all.

A Startling Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—It is reported that the British warship Champion secretly left Esquimault for Honolulu Nov. 8, the day after Secretary Gresham's letter was made public.

Going Over Old Ground.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Sir Julian Pauncefote has entered upon negotiations with Secretary Gresham for the settlement of claims for British sealers seized in Behring sea previous to the modus vivendi of 1891.

Bank Robbers In Oregon.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 14—Robbers entered the bank at Milton, Or., yesterday afternoon, shot the cashier and took over $900 in cash.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

BUFFALO, Nov. 14.—Seventy-five citizens of Buffalo lie under the charge of conspiracy, which will be presented to the grand jury when it meets. All of them are alleged to be members of the "American Protective association," the anti-Catholic secret society which has established several branches and already has a newspaper organ.

The case will be in the nature of a test to obtain an opinion from the courts whether this society comes within the scope of a criminal conspiracy and its literature under the ban of the law as matter tending to incite riot.

The names of the defendants cannot be obtained at the present writing, but it is known that the proprietor of the newspaper, printed as the organ of the American Protective association, several attorneys, merchants, business men, some civil officers and a clergymen are on the list. It has been a difficult task to obtain these lists for prosecution, as each member subscribes on solemn oath not to divulge his own connection with the order or the name of any fellow member. If it is possible the graver crime of treason against the state will be proved, which offense is punishable by 10 years' imprisonment.

DENNIS VESSEL LOST.

NORFOLK, Nov. 14.—The British steamship Sutherland, from Charleston for Breman, which put in here for coal, brought to this city Captain MacDonald and crew of six men belonging to the schooner Peter H. Crowell of Dennis, Mass.

The Crowell sailed from Norfolk Nov. 3 for Fall River, with a cargo of coal. She encountered bad weather from the first, and on Nov. 5 there were five feet of water in her hold, which steadily increased. When sighted by the Sutherland, Saturday morning, her decks had been swept, her sails lost and all her boats carried away. The men were in an exhausted condition, and had to be hauled on board the steamer with lines.

In Memoriam.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—Sixty years ago Edwin Booth was born. In the concert hall in Madison Square Garden exercises were held yesterday to commemorate that day. Fifteen hundred people gathered there, among whom were those most prominent on the stage, in literature and in other fields. The hall was appropriately decorated. The remarks on the great actor's life and work by Joseph Jefferson, Henry Irving, Salvini and Parke Godwin were particularly touching.

Sang For the Queen.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Carl Rosa Opera company gave a performance of "Fra Diavolo" at Balmoral castle yesterday. The ballroom had been converted into a theater. After the performance her majesty gave an audience to the principal singers and conversed cordially with them. Mrs. Carl Rosa was present at the queen's special request.

Cincinnati Tribune In Trouble.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—A receiver has been asked for the Cincinnati Tribune by Augustus W. Bruck. He alleges that the company is not paying its obligations; is to the extent of $55,000 in debt, without prospect of extrication, and that the company is now thoroughly insolvent and unable legitimately to carry on its business.

Moody Merrill's Misdeeds.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—A petition for the disbarment of Moody Merrill, based on the alleged misconduct of Merrill in connection with a transaction about a mortgage which resulted in the loss of $4000 to Jennie A. Eastman, the administratrix of the estate of J. B. Eastman, has been filed by the Bar association.

Mercier Declares Himself.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—Ex-Premier Mercier, being twitted with disloyalty, avowed himself as in favor of Canadian independence and an entire cutting away from the mother country. He claimed that the first duty of Canadians was to Canada and not to Great Britain.

Cleveland Is For Modification.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Mr. Whiting of the ways and means committee says that he believes that the influence of President Cleveland will be exerted to modify the tariff bill as it now stands so that it will be acceptable to the Democrats of the house.

She May Died From Injuries.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

QUINCY, Nov. 14. One of the boldest burglaries ever perpetrated are those reported today. The houses entered are those of John Harkins and Mrs. A. A. Harlow, where $400 in jewelry, etc., was stolen. At the third house Mrs. Arnold, aged 70 years, was alone, and becoming frightened she jumped out of a second story window, receiving possible fatal injuries.

It is reported that the entire newspaper establishment controlled by Consul Benj. Lenthier has been sold to a Boston and New York stock company. This will include the daily Le National of this city.

A Delightful Concert.

On Sunday evening last Mr. W. H. Bent held another delightful parlor concert at his residence on Livingstone avenue, at which orchestral and vocal music composed the program, Mr. Joseph Leach being the soloist. The members of the orchestra were: Violins, Miss Charlton, Mr. M. A. Cuttle, Dr. Amasa Howard, viola, Mr. Thomas Nesmith; 'cellos, Messrs. A. W. Whitney and John Sawyer; flute, Mr. Walter Sawyer, clarinet, Mr. S. R. Fleethorn, Mr. D. E. Dudley; pianists, Mrs. Dudley and Mr. Solon Stevens.

The program was a difficult one and was admirably rendered. A large number of Mr. Bent's musical friends were present and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed.

A SWINDLER

Victimizes Many in Boston and Lynn.

And Found That His Paper Was Worthless.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—There are a large number of people in this city and Lynn besides the police who would like to learn the present whereabouts of a young man who a little while ago successfully swindled them out of large sums of money. This young man's right name is Talbot D. Gadd, but he was better known in this city as Ira McBride, for it was under that name that he passed here.

For a year and a half he worked for Superintendent Burgher of the Watkins Automatic Fire Alarm and Extinguisher company, in the capacity of special agent. While there he was an especially good employe, and it is said brought a good deal of business into the concern. McBride always dressed well and went in the very best of society. He is about 28 or 30 years of age. He made friends with everybody, and until he hastily left the city an enemy of his would have been hard to find. But within a week after his departure there were dozens looking for his scalp.

He always made his lodgings at the Grand hotel on Columbus avenue, and there used to entertain his friends in a most lavish manner. He was a great lover of wine, and this, together with a certain woman he adored, are thought to have caused his downfall, although there is but little doubt but that he has swindled people in a like manner in other cities, and this is looked upon as the reason for his going under an assumed name.

A Grand Swoop.

When he came to Boston about two years ago he was practically a stranger in this city, for his home is in the far west. With him, however, he brought several recommendations of a most complimentary nature, and he had but little trouble in getting a position from Superintendent Burgher. Everything went along well until shortly before his departure from Boston, and then he "worked" his friends and acquaintances, securing in different sums before he left money amounting to $3000 to $4000.

Shortly before his departure from Boston, say five or six weeks, there appeared on the scene a woman who claimed to be his wife, and who was formerly an actress connected with the McCaull Opera company. She lived with him at the hotel until his disappearance. She is now known to be in New York.

Soon after he came to Boston he made the acquaintance of a young man on Boylston street, and the latter became greatly interested in McBride, and for some time "chummed" with him. Often McBride would ask the young man to discount paper and cash checks for him, which he would do. He always found them good until the fellow left town, and then he discovered that he cashed paper for him to the extent of about $800 which was absolutely worthless.

This is the fact in a great many cases, and among his victims are Superintendent Burgher of the automatic company, who endorsed a draft for $150 which was worthless; W. H. Richardson & Co., gents' furnishers; Tailor Farrington; Proprietor Reynolds of the Hotel Grand; Jeweler Cohen; R. H. White & Co.; Louden & Wilson, tailors; Shoe Dealer Graham; Tailor Freidman and many others.

Just before his departure he went to Lynn and there swindled three firms on the representation that his employers had sent him to collect money, when in reality he had no authority to do this. From J. O. Marshall he obtained $200; Dearborn Bros., $100, and from M. Butman he also secured quite a sum. Others are anxious to find him.

When McBride went to Superintendent Burgher and told the latter that he had decided to go with his wife for a few days to the White mountains there was no objection offered and he started on his supposed journey, but he never came back. It was not until some time afterward that the office discovered that he had left behind his badge and other things belonging to the office, which first made them suspicious. It was then that his other crookedness came to light and the chief inspector was consulted. Since then his whereabouts have been unknown.

McBride came from a good family, and his father, E. T. Gadd, of the firm of E. T. Gadd & Co., wealthy real estate dealers of Lincoln, Neb., has often been called upon to clear the son of trouble and settle his debts. This time he refused to aid the young man.

When quite young he left home and went to the south, where he became a Texas ranger. He afterward went into the real estate business, where he made quite a lot of money, but squandered it all on women. He afterward became treasurer of the McCaull Opera company. At one time it is said that he was also an actor.

He had for an intimate friend while in this city a young man named Scott who swindled the Bauermiller Piano company of New York out of a considerable amount of money and for whose arrest a reward has been offered. It is thought that both of the young swindlers are now together.

BALLOT NOMINATIONS.

IT WAS SUCCESSFULLY TRIED IN LAWRENCE LAST WEEK.

It is Suggested That the Democrats of Lowell Use the Same Procedure in Order to Put Up the Very Strongest Aldermanic Ticket.

The absorbing topic in political circles, more especially in the democratic party, relative to the coming municipal contest, is how shall the nominations for aldermen be made—by city committee or by convention?

Yesterday afternoon a SUN reporter met Capt. Dolan of Lawrence in front of THE SUN building, and in conversation with him learned much of interest in regard to the experiment of the Lawrence democratic city committee, of which he is chairman, in having aldermanic nominations made by means of the Australian ballot, with the compliance to the law by having the city committee nominate officially the men who polled the highest vote in the election.

The new system has been previously mentioned in THE SUN and according to all reports, newspaper and otherwise, it was a grand success, and these reports are confirmed by Capt. Dolan in a most remarkable degree.

He said in course of his conversation "The idea of the Australian ballot was adopted for the reason that the democratic city committee wanted to put the very strongest ticket in the field to ensure a victory. The city is democratic, but still there is always that uncertainty about the city election which behooves the democrats to put up the best to win without fail. Now our municipal election history for a couple of years has not been of the best, so this year it was proposed to make a change. I suggested the ballot as I had done for two years previously, and although there was great objection to breaking away from the old plan, and although everything was done to prevent it, the new plan was put in practice and I think and can candidly say that never before after caucuses has there been such satisfaction, harmony and quietness, and so united a promise to support the party candidates. It is just this way —usually when the city committee made the nomination the men got on the ticket who had the biggest pull in the committee; this is not always the way but generally speaking the men nominated were not the strongest to select. And then in the convention often times many of the delegates were pledged for a man on the hope that if such a man was elected he would pay back for the favors in municipal patronage. A convention nominates a ticket and usually the men with the biggest pull goes on it; it is very seldom that a ticket is made up completely with representative, thoroughly qualified men. Now I never saw the time, after either city committee or convention nominations when everybody was satisfied. Usually there are candidates and their friends who talk and kick and threaten because they think the nominations were by "machine." This does not apply alone to Lawrence; in Boston it will be the same way; the city committee will nominate, and McEttrick and his friends will go to the workingmen and say that the democratic ticket was of "machine" nomination. There were many candidates in Lawrence and each thought he was a sure winner if nominated. I had advocated the Australian ballot system as the most satisfactory, and so when it was put into practice everybody waited to see the result.

"The caucuses came off, and every one was as quiet and orderly a meeting as a prayer meeting; why, it was something surprising. No wire pulling, no pushing of ballots in your face, but simply the ballot which you marked in your booth was needed.

"And today I don't think you can find a word of complaint in the whole city. And now every democrat will support the ticket.

"In the caucus over 3000 votes were cast, and in Ward Three alone nearly 800 votes were given. The ticket selected is undoubtedly the strongest the democrats have ever put up and it will be nominated by the city committee and will win.

"To show how thoroughly representive the aldermanic ticket is I will say—understanding that I use the prefix simply in the way it is generally used to denote a person of blood ties and of race descent—that the ticket includes three Irish Americans, one French American, one Englishman and one Scotchman, thus representing every faction of the party. If this isn't representation I would like to know how you could improve it."

Timothy D. Finnegan of Ward Three has announced his intention to enter the contest for the council. He is prominent in the A. O. H. and in the Foresters. John Murtagh of Crosby street has been a candidate for the council on several occasions and got beaten by a few votes. He has entered the race this year and hopes his friends will stand by him in the caucus. He is well known throughout the ward.

The friends of Mr. Shannahan in Ward Three are confident that he will be successful in securing the nomination for the school board. His competitor is George M. Harrigan, the present incumbent whose whose friends are hustling in his interest with strong hopes of winning.

Councilman P. J. O'Brien, James H. Smith and John J. Ryan, Mathew Mansfield, Owen Callahan, Patrick Barry, Frank J. McMahon are all working hard for the nomination for the council. They cannot all be nominated, but the voters of the ward will select some four from the entire list of candidates and it is a lengthy one.

The meeting of the city committee on Thursday evening will be an important one inasmuch as it will fix the date for the caucuses to nominate the tickets for council, and school committee.

Day by day the feeling that an unusually strong ticket must be put in the field by the democrats is growing. Lawrence has set a worthy example in the method of selecting the best men, viz. the men most likely to be elected. The plan is too new to be adopted at such short notice in Lowell. In Lawrence it had been advocated for years, and was finally tried as an experiment. The success of the trial has been far greater than was anticipated, and it is not improbable that the plan will be permanently adopted.

A number of vague rumors have been afloat for some time to the effect that Rev. Fr. McManus in Ward Three and Rev. Fr. Burke in Ward One were about to stand as candidates for the school board. There is no foundation for such a statement so far as the former is concerned, and the writer [illegible] that the report concerning [illegible] is equally groundless. The ca[illegible] Ward One are Thomas J. Mulligan and Thomas Muldoon.

The republicans of Ward Three will favor the nomination of John C. Wilson as ward alderman, who ran within 180 votes of election last year. The present prediction for the makeup of the republican ticket is as follows: Aldermen-at-large, Aldermen Westall and Evans; Ward One, Alderman Choate; Ward Two, Councilman [illegible] Ward Three, John C. Wilson; Ward [illegible] W. A. Dickinson; Ward Five, E. W[illegible] joy; Ward Six, Alfred Chadwick.

Thomas Hoban of Ward Six is rapidly growing in popularity as an alder[illegible] candidate. He is a good democrat.

It's simply a question of what kind of clothing you wish for—as to whether or not we can meet your wants.

We can supply you with the good kind—with the other sort—no.

Materials must be durable, strong in color, cutting properly done, enough paid for making to ensure good work—or the clothes don't go into our stock.

Our black and blue All Wool Kersey Overcoats, single and double breast, for $10, or the fashionable rough faced blue Serge Suit for $12, speak for themselves.

High-fa-lutin statements as to what these ought to bring, might mislead you—but wouldn't make them worth a penny more.

Less price for other qualities, more money for better ones, but full value and rightly-tailored clothes in every case. The best test—your money back for what you don't like.

An Ulster Story.

The King of Friezes will make ha[illegible] ding in the coat business this season judging by indications. A gentleman [illegible] into the Merrimack Clothing Co. store Monday evening about 8.30 o'clock and in a very business like manner, asked for the best ulster in the store for $15. The King of Friezes was shown him and after examining it critically with the assistance of a friend who accompanied him he spoke as follows: I have begun a way down city and looked at the fifteen dollar ulsters in the stores on my way through and am satisfied that this is the best I have seen. It is the first time we have done this going around and now I know it pays, I've been getting soaked long enough." The price of the king of friezes is $12.00 and being a heavy strictly wool frieze is ahead of anything ever seen in Lowell at the price. Talking about sales and big purchases we have purchased the biggest stock of clothing which came into Lowell this fall. We are here to prove it. Merrimack Clothing Co., opposite city hall.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Marin, aged 63 years, died last night at her home, 228 Cross street.

Barnabus Logue, aged 70 years, and a resident of Lowell for the past 23 years, died today at his home, 4 Smith avenue. Deceased was well known in Lowell, and is survived by a wife and two daughters. He was a member of Mechanics lodge, I. O. O. F., and Monomake Encampment.

Placintia Baker, 07 years of age, died today at her home, 3 New Spalding avenue.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral of Cyrill Pigean took place this morning from 64 Hall street and was well attended. Interment was in the Edson cemetery.

The funeral of Katie Collins, who died yesterday at 810 Adams street, took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon and was largely attended. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

An Unfounded Rumor.

The rumor which has been in circulation that Rev. Fr. Gleason of St. Patrick's church was to be transferred to St. Michael's church, and that Rev. Fr. William O'Brien of St. Micqael's church was to be transferred to St. Patrick's church, has been investigated by THE SUN and it is authoritatively denied.

WILL THE street numbering committee have completed its work in time to have the new numbers given in next year's directory? Probably.

THE MAN who is maligned can afford to wait if truth and justice are on on his side. The potency of either will, if used a right, easily secure his vindication.

MR GLADSTONE officiated as chief pall bearer at the funeral of his physician, the other day. He is still hale and hearty after seeing three generations pass away.

IT SEEMS probable that the empire will be restored in Brazil if the rebels succeed in their plans. The republican form of government is sadly abused in these southern republics.

THAT ANTI-saloon league which Rev. Mr. Montgomery handed over to the republican party should receive fresh encouragement from the advertising it has received, viz if such a body exists.

WILL THE democrats who flopped over in the state election recover their equilibrium sufficiently before December to vote the straight ticket. If they do they will elect a mayor at least six aldermen.

BUSINESS is rapidly improving. The resuls of the repeal of the Sherman law are beginning to be felt but the republicans will claim that the change is due to the recent victory.

The republicans of Massachusetts are to have a distinctively party Sunday paper. It is to be called the Boston Common.—Newport News.

The name is quite common isn't it?

THE RE-NUMBERING of the streets is causing endless perplexity to letter carriers, newsboys and others. There is no way of finding what the old numbers were except by inquiry. It would have been well to have left some means of ascertaining the old numbers.

DEMOCRATS BE ready to vote "no" on every question proposed in the new city charter. Some of the provisions might be adopted without detriment to the democrats; but the main features are so drawn as to provide for republican ascendancy. Vote no on the charter revision.

THE RESTORATION of Queen "Lilly" in the Sandwich Islands will excite much criticism, because once she is again on the throne it will be harder than ever to displace her. However, it is as well for the United States not to assume the role of conqueror among defenceless tribes.

A LABOR representative has written Mr. Greenhalge asking his position on the eight hour law. Mr. Greenhalge will not answer such a question and would hardly sign such a bill if presented to him. The corporations are not ready for eight hours just yet and they own the republican party.

REV. HUGH MONTGOMERY is reported to have said that he is a republican because he is opposed to the papacy. The party will eventually have to insert an anti-Catholic plank in their platform on which none but fanatics will be allowed to stand or sit. A slight tariff in the shape of an admission fee would leave this portion of the platform tenantless.

THE DEMOCRATIC city committee should take care to hold the French vote by nominating one or two strong aldermanic candidates from among the French residents. The French residents can be held in the democratic party by proper treatment, but if their representatives be set up merely to be knocked down the democratic party in this city will, soon be minus the French vote.

THE ANNEXATION of Dracut or the Navy Yard and Dracut Centre would lend to great development in that direction. Were the boundary line of Lowell placed beyond the Navy Yard there would soon be a movement for the annexation of Collinsville, but Mr. Collins would probably oppose that since he practically owns the town. This would be the quickest and easiest way of making Lowell the second largest city in the state.

THE CENTRAL Labor council is to circulate a petition among the local labor organizations for a relief fund for the Olneyville strikers. It is a sad state of affairs that exists at Olneyville, but nevertheless, very little relief can be expected of the working people of Lowell, who had themselves such a long period of idleness. The best thing the Olneyville strikers can do is to return to work and made their demands when prosperous times return. If they had followed the example of the Lowell unions they would not need relief today. The local labor men in their anxiety to aid their distressed brethren should remember where charity begins.

GETTING OUT OF IT.

Witherby Maintains His Dignity or Thinks He Does.

Mrs. Witherby—Oh, look out, dear! You are putting that mucilage brush in the ink bottle.

Witherby (jabbing it in)—Well, what of it?

Mrs. Witherby—There! If that isn't just like a man. So obstinate! You wouldn't admit you're wrong. I should think you would be ashamed to give way so to your feelings.

Witherby—Wrong! Obstinate! (Jabbing it in again.) What do you mean? I guess I can put a mucilage brush in an inkwell if I want to.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course, but how foolish! I should think you would have more self control. I never saw such a man!

Witherby (gaining time)—Didn't, eh? Umpin. You don't know what you are talking about. How do you know but what I wanted that mucilage brush in that inkstand?

Mr. Witherby—How absurd! What could you possibly want it there for?

Witherby (sarcastically)—Well, it is barely possible that I put it there on purpose. Of course, being a woman, such a thing would never occur to you, but as I am only a common, ordinary man I suppose I shall have to go into detail. I believe you painted two pieces of china the other day, didn't you? And I also believe, madam, that you requested me to pack them in a plain soapbox and send them to your uncle in Chicago.

Mrs. Witherby—Yes. I supposed you had forgotten all about it.

Witherby—Certainly you did. It takes a woman to go on a supposition like that. The fact that I was never known to forget anything in my life counts as nothing. You jumped at the conclusion that I forgot. It is, however, of no consequence that I am continually misjudged. I am used to it. Now, madam, I presume you are aware that if that box ever reaches your uncle it must be properly addressed.

Mrs. Witherby—Of course.

Witherby—Precisely. And I presume you may be aware that writing the address on a card and tacking the said card on the box is a very unsafe, unbusinesslike method.

Mrs. Witherby—I don't know as I had thought about it.

Witherby—Certainly not. I have been thinking for you for the last 20 years, and it would be strange if you should begin now. Well, madam, to proceed, what is the most natural, feasible, simple method to get that box addressed? Why, with a brush and a little ink, isn't it?

Mrs. Witherby—But, my dear, I could have got you another brush. I——

Witherby—Certainly you could. I was aware of that. But in your simple, guileless, woman's way you are of course not supposed to know of the chemical value of the admixture of mucilage and ink for marking purposes. You are not aware, madam, that ordinary ink applied with an ordinary brush will run into wood. I am not surprised that you do not know that a little mucilage rightly administered is the exact thing to prevent this.

Mrs. Witherby—Well, it may be all right, but it certainly did look funny.

Witherby—Of course it looked funny. Every woman sees things in a funny light at rare intervals, even if they haven't a sense of humor. Now, if you will get that soapbox, I will fix it up.

Mrs. Witherby—Well, of course, darling, if that was your idea, why, all right. I'll fetch it right up. (Leaves the room.)

Witherby (wiping his brow)—Phew! That was a narrow escape. I wonder what I would have done if it hadn't been for that box?

Mrs. Witherby (after the box)—And he thinks I believe him!—New York Press.

UP ONE FLIGHT.

To All Whom It May Concern.

There are undoubtedly many people who feel at some time or another unwell, not really sick but very indisposed. Now, what such persons need at such times, is not medicine, nor high-priced prescriptions, but what is needed is some gentle, but sure stimulant, something to assist and at the same time enrich the blood; nature will do the rest. And the best medical authorities agree there is nothing better than pure wine.

A SHORT TRUE STORY FOR WOMEN

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.

CHAPTER I.—The $4 Eton.

Imagine such a thing! A double-breasted, reefer, Eton suit, of heavy flannel, warm enough for the lowest Lowell mercuries; strong and serviceable, in handsome shades of Navy blue, brown, dark green and black and as trim and stylish as anything seen on the street, and all for $4! The story starts well, doesn't it?

CHAPTER II.—The $6 Empire.

Have you seen our Empire Blouse Suit, made of Diagonal Serge in a wide variety of colors, and made doubly desirable for warmth and wear by being lined throughout? We are fitting the ladies of Lowell in this handsome suit for $6. We should be backward about disclosing this absurdly low price, only we know that in these hard times you won't think any the less of us for paring our prices way down to the core.

CHAPTER III.—Concerning Cashmeres.

The first two chapters have probably fairly well prepared you for surprises. That is fortunate, for here comes one of the surprises of your life. A Cashmere—a perfectly made, stylish, and beautifully made Cashmere Suit for $8! These are especially rich and heavy goods; and these suits (and the $4 and $6 suits as well) have the big 4½ yard skirt, now so distinctly AU FAIT.

CHAPTER IV.—$19 Tailor-Mades.

What woman does not admire a tailor-made suit? But tailor-made suits have hitherto been a little uppish in price. We have something in tailor-made that we are rather surprised at ourselves. It is All-Wool, Homespun, in various shades, and stitched throughout with silk and trimmed throughout with military braid; and we will fit you in it perfectly for $10. How can we do this, you ask? There are people in the trade asking the same thing?

CHAPTER V.—Our High Grade Custom work.

If you want something extraordinarily nice, something full of individuality, that will perfectly suit your personality, as well as perfectly fit your figure, we will make up a tailor-made suit in different fabric for from $10 to $35. We have just received a beautiful line of serges and other goods for winter suits, all of superior quality; and our custom department, you must remember, is in charge of a lady of long experience at home and abroad, with a thorough knowledge of what is correct and in good taste.

For the rest of this interesting story, call at our new store, which is full of all that is latest, best and most reasonable in Suits, Cloaks, Capes and Furs.

THE KIND THAT CURES

"Heavy Deathly Feeling!"

A REMARKABLE CURE IN MALDEN, MASS.

"FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER!"

The following from one of Malden's reliable citizens, and certified to by the manufacturer, Firm of H. A. & F. L. Miner, that owns the "TWO LARGE STORES at No. 378 and No. 382 Pleasant St., made like a fairy tale.

"YET THIS TRUE, EVERY WORD OF IT."

DANA SARSAPARILLA Co.,

GENTLEMEN:—About a year ago I was troubled with HEAVY DEATHLY FEELING in my stomach, everything I ate caused severe distress.

I noticed your ad. in a Boston paper and being a native of that place, and reading of the benefit old acquaintances had received from it, I secured a bottle of at Mixers' Drug Store in this city, they being the only ones that had it in stock at that time. Strange to say that FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER and continued to improve and after two bottles I had a hearty appetite and could digest almost anything I ate. I have recommended it to at least a dozen friends, and all I have heard from, have received great benefit from it.

Very truly yours, WM. I. ASH.

No. 1 Rockland Place, Malden, Mass.

We hereby certify that we sold Mr. Ash DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, and his statement we know to be true in every particular.

Very respectfully, H. A. & F. L. MINER.

BUSINESS

BANKERS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SCARE

Which Has Recently Affected the Business of the Country

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Two score of gentlemen who preside over Boston's treasure houses gathered at the Parker House yesterday afternoon to welcome James H. Eckels to the city, at the dinner of the Boston Bank Presidents' association. The young comptroller of the currency is here to meet Boston bankers, and incidentally to tell what he can, from his official position, that will interest and benefit them.

He received a cordial reception at the dinner, which was served at 3 o'clock, and made a speech. Phineas Pierce, president of the Continental bank, presided, and, after dinner had been disposed of, introduced Mr. Eckels as the guest and speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Eckels said:

The commanding position which the banks of this country occupy in our financial world cannot be denied, nor the importance of our banking institutions overestimated. Established upon a safe basis and honestly conducted upon conservative lines, they are the greatest of all agencies for the promotion of a people's prosperity, but stripped of safeguards or dishonestly managed, the injury which they bring upon a people is only limited by the extent of their opportunities.

Benefits to All.

The supreme function which they fill is the distribution of the people's wealth, so as to make it a never-ending source of benefit to all.

Take from them, without cause, support, and inevitably the injury falls upon all. Demand of them in a moment of fright the money given in their keeping that it may find lodgement in hiding places, and of necessity the banks must withdraw this life blood from the arteries of trade, and the shop and store and factory must close and labor go unemployed.

Between May 4 and October of this year the withdrawals in individual deposits in national banks alone were $209,000,000 and of banks and bankers' deposits to the amount of $170,000,000, a total of $378,-000,000.

To meet this drain the banks were compelled to call in loans, thus depleting the resources of active trade to the extent of $318,000,000, and from banks and bankers to the amount of $51,000,000, while to their borrowings was added $37,000,000.

Small Withdrawals Counted.

In the light of these figures, apart from the statistics of a like nature which could be added from state, savings and private banks, who can doubt but that the shrinkage in deposits on the one hand, contributing only to the fund of hoarded money and the calling in on the other of loans necessitated by the demands of depositors, withdrawing such vast sums from the activities of business, contributed more than all else to the stagnation from which we have suffered?

The most serious feature of the whole matter was the withdrawals of small amounts by depositors who were not borrowers, and whose accounts, as is well known to all bankers, are most valuable in the banking business, and constitute a most stable and important addition to the fixed capital of commercial banks, and is the fund which is used to meet the current demands of the business of each community.

This fact alone is sufficient to refute the charge that the financial stringency was the result of a bankers' panic, were it possible to believe that a body of intelligent, shrewd and prudent business men could be capable of setting in motion the machinery which would accomplish their own distress and ruin.

I trust and believe that this condition of affairs will soon give way to a better and different order of things, and industries now deadened through the action of an affrighted people quickened into life.

Outlook Is Bright.

Happily at last the financial measure which threw so much of doubt upon our monetary system, destroyed the confidence of the people in our banks and paralyzed the activities of business no longer remains upon the statute book to plague us. Its operation worked harm to us abroad; it wrought disaster at home.

Its repeal leaves us at last free to enter upon financial legislation that will accord with those principles of sound economics which through all the past centuries have, and in the future will, control the world's monetary operations. With such legislation aiding instead of retarding the unwritten laws of commerce and trade, the wealth of the American people must, in the very order of things, become as vast as their energies are unbounded.

In conclusion, permit me to say that the advocates of sound money must not rest content with the vantage ground which now is theirs. The declaimer advocating a money cheap and plenty is yet abroad in the land and will continue so long as there is hope of terms of compromise or yielding to his demands.

I am not unmindful of the fact that cheap money doctrines have time and time again taken a hold upon our people, but this seeming popularity is neither indicative of their real strength nor of their soundness as financial principles. No errors are so spontaneously popular with the mass of the people as financial ones, and none are so easily dispelled if aggressively attacked.

Scheig and Floyd Captured.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Philip Scheig, formerly paying teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, and Frank Floyd, were arrested at Southampton last night on board the steamer Saale from New York. Scheig is charged with stealing $75,000, and Floyd is charged with being an accomplice in the robbery.

Charley Mitchell as an Actor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Charley Mitchell has signed a contract with Theatrical Managers Powers and Edwards for 12 weeks at $200 per week. His engagement, it is said, will not affect the proposed fight, for it is agreed that he can break the theatrical contract at a day's notice.

Noted Southern Lady Dead.

A Boy's Awful Error.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The cause of the wreck on the Rock Island road last Wednesday, causing 12 deaths, was brought to light yesterday when C. C. Shields, a 12-year-old boy, confessed to having thrown from the rear of the wrecked train the fuse set to notify the train following that the suburban was behind time. The boy said he did not know what the signal was for, and was released from custody.

SWIFT AND POWERFUL

Is the Cruiser Columbia, the Latest Addition to Our Navy.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Half a mile from Deer island innocently floats the Columbia, the swiftest warlike craft upon the wave. Given a whaleback, with a cruiser built on top of her, and you have the Columbia. The simple simile can be made even plainer by saying that the sides, gun and spar decks might be all shot away and there would then remain a veritable cast-iron nautilus.

Less imposing and less formidable than the New York, she will on the whole be more dreaded. The New York having been so recently tested over the same course, comparisons are natural, although somewhat out of order, for as fighters they belong to distinctly different classes of craft.

Both, however, are cruisers. The New York belongs to the belted family, having plates of steel along her sides. The Columbia falls within the lines of what are generally termed protected cruisers, her shield being the coat of steel beneath her lower deck, which curves downward at the sides and ends, giving the lines of a whale's back.

The Columbia's run from Philadelphia was remarkable for its speed, being accomplished in 13 hours and 7 minutes, or 1 hour and 28 minutes quicker than the New York. But the equivalent of 4500 more horses, or 21,000 Dobbins, was what made the achievement possible. Speed is the great desideratum these days, as shown by the lines of the Minneapolis and the Brooklyn, soon to follow the Columbia; but there is a limit to the size and strength of shafting.

From this momentary obstacle, however, came a decided advantage. By subdividing the power by means of a third screw, the difficulty was not only obviated but increased economy secured, it being possible to disconnect the screws, the free revolution causing very little resistance to those in operation.

Chief Officer Aiken says that there are other exceptionally good points about the Columbia beside her speed.

SCIENTISTS PERISHED.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The crew of the whaler Aurora, which has just arrived at Dundee, report that they discovered in Baffin's bay the wreck of the schooner Ripple. This is the vessel in which two Swedish men of science, Bjorlfg and Kalvennius, left St. John's, N. F., in June, 1892. Their purpose was to collect specimens of the flora and fauna of Greenland along Davis' strait.

The crew of the Dundee boat, after a search along the shore, found two cairns near the spot where the Ripple had gone to pieces. One was covered with the remains of human bodies. Under the other cairn were found manuscripts and a note, written in English, asking the finder to send the papers to Baron Nordenskjold or the nearest consul. Near this cairn lay a skeleton, supposed to be that of either Bjorlfg or Kalvennius.

And They Were Experts!

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—A shell from a large gun fired during the Crimean war was discovered buried in the ground at Dobraja Nadoshda. The shell was being examined by several alleged experts in such matters when one of them struck the missile with a hammer, causing it to explode, killing nine people on the spot and severely wounding a number of others.

Oriental Disasters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The steamship China brings news of two severe calamities in Japan. One was a flood at Oita, in which 300 persons were drowned and over 2000 houses destroyed, and the other was the foundering of 44 fishing boats off the western coast by a typhoon and the loss of all their occupants, numbering 142 men.

Jennie Is Persistent.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Counsel for Miss Jennie Mighell, whose suit against Albert Baker (Sultan of Johore) for breach of promise of marriage was recently dismissed on the grounds that the sultan was a ruling sovereign over whom the English courts have no jurisdiction, has lodged an application against this decision.

Fight For Property Likely.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—William Bryant, a wealthy grocer of this city, died here in July last. Now it is said that Bryant was really Levi Dean of Lincolnville, Me., who had deserted his family 30 years ago. Bryant had a wife and two children in this city and litigation over the estate of $100,000 is probable.

The Kaiser's Warning.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The recent order of the emperor issued to the army as a result of the gambling trial at Hanover, directs that proceedings concerning courts of honor be initiated against officers compromised in a trial. Any officers who are found to have violated their rank and honor will be cashiered.

Dodds Is Making Progress.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Le Temps publishes dispatches from Kotonou saying that Colonel Dodds' column occupied Atcherite on Nov. 7. All the tribes in the vicinity have surrendered, and they have turned over to the French 400 rifles and four cannons and a considerable amount of ammunition.

Foreigners Warned.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 14.—In consequence of the renewed bombardment of Rio de Janeiro, stringent instructions have been received by the commanders of foreign warships to take all the necessary steps to protect foreign property in the city.

The Salvationists' Congress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Salvation Army's Columbian congress began with a monster prayer meeting at the headquarters, Read street. Commander Booth was the leader. There will be a parade of the congress tonight.

Reports Didn't Suit Authorities.

MADRID, Nov. 14.—The correspondents of El Pais of Madrid and The Telegraph of London were expelled from Melilla, the authorities not approving of the character of the reports they sent to their papers.

Attempted Assassination.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—M. K. Georgievitch, the Servian minister to France, was dining at a restaurant when a man fired a shot at him, wounding him in the side. The assailant was arrested.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

A fire at Monson, Mass., caused a loss of about $50,000.

Ex-Member of the House of Commons Lalor is dead.

Boston's water supply has held its own since the last rains.

Rev. Dr. Morrison, founder of the Scotch Evangelical Union church, died at Glasgow.

The failure of Brown & Freeman, granite contractors of Mt. Desert, Me., is announced.

Mrs. Mary Luce, aged 80, fell down stairs at New Bedford, Mass., and died from the shock.

John McCullough of Portland, Me., aged 37, committed suicide. The cause was despondency.

Requisition papers have been granted to bring William Marlow, an escaped convict, back to Massachusetts.

Governor McKinley of Ohio has accepted the invitation of the Home Market club of Boston to speak at its dinner Nov. 24.

The British parliament will not be prorogued until the parish councils and employers' liability bill shall have passed.

Baron Alexander Von Bach, the Austrian statesman, is dead. He was born in 1813 and was in public life for nearly 40 years.

Henry Labouchere denounces the British government for allowing the wholesale slaughter of Matabeles by the Chartered company.

"Chicken" Welsh, for assault with intent to murder, was given seven years in state prison by Judge Hopkins at Plymouth, Mass.

Two hundred and fifty people killed, 80 missing, 400 wounded and $2,500,000 loss, is the latest estimate of the disaster at Santander, Spain.

John H. McLaren, manager of the Royal Insurance company, and the greatest English authority on fire insurance, died at Birkenhead, Eng.

An unknown man who registered as J. Hine at the Central House, New Haven, was found dead in bed. Death was due to suffocation by illuminating gas.

By the new measurement of the federal geodetic survey of the height of mountains in Vermont, Mt. Killington's height is given as 170 feet, therefore being the loftiest peak in the state.

Miss Mary Reed of Cincinnati, a nurse among the lepers in India, has contracted the disease herself. Her last letter home, instead of lamenting that fact, asks that $50 dollars of her small salary be withheld and given to the flood sufferers in the south.

Owen Sullivan of Danbury, Conn., aged 21, sentenced to the county jail for one year for theft, escaped from the Bridgeport hospital. He was transferred to that institution last Monday. Sullivan placed a dummy in his bed and jumped from the window.

James Brady, 60 years old, a farm laborer, died at the Hartford hospital. In a fit of delirium from typhoid fever he had crawled out of a window in the fourth story of the Columbian hotel on Market street, and held on to the sill by his hands until he dropped to the sidewalk.

Will Be Overcome by Action of Banks of New York.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A plan has just been perfected whereby the gold reserve of the treasury may be increased to its legal limit of $100,000,000. This is to be accomplished by means of an understanding with the banks of New York, whereby they are to increase the proportion of gold in their deposits with the New York subtreasury to cover the certified class that are presented by importers in payment of customs duties.

It is the system now in vogue for the banks to keep special deposits at the subtreasury for this use, and heretofore the gold has not averaged more than 1 per cent. The bulk of payments are made in treasury notes. As the deficit in the gold reserve now is only $15,000,000 and the associated banks of New York have on hand fully $00,000,000 it is thought that this scheme, which is a result of the recent visit of the secretary to New York, will be carried through.

BACK TO JAIL.

Noted Crook Brought From Connecticut State Prison to Lynn.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 14.—William Marlow, one of the shrewdest crooks in this state, was brought here by State Officer Joseph Shaw from the Connecticut state prison after a tedious journey.

Marlow has a history never to be forgotten by the officials in this part of the state. It was he who liberated several prisoners from Salem jail, escaping himself, in the spring of 1889. The men stole $200 from the safe besides securing some revolvers.

Requisition papers were signed by Lieutenant Governor Wolcott Saturday, and when he was released from the state prison in Connecticut yesterday, where he had served for burglary, Officer Shaw took him and brought him to this city, and today he was sent to Salem, where he will serve out a sentence of 32 months. Marlow is 25 years of age.

Tories Have a Home Rule Scheme.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—It is reported that the Tories are preparing an Irish home rule scheme, which will be published after the return of Joseph Chamberlain to England.

These Plans will be known as

and are the outcome of our very extensive dealings with the public and our thorough knowledge of their requirements. We claim for them the following essential elements on which we base their success:

ORIGINALITY, BECAUSE no house in our business has ever proposed or adopted any such plans for securing to the purchaser such benefits as these afford, and because no matter what competitors may promise or hold out in copying these plans (as they undoubtedly will) they must fall far short of the quality, even if the quantity and prices are the same. On this particular point you get our guarantee.

FEASIBILITY, BECAUSE these plans have been originated and prepared by us, not merely for an advertisement, but are intended as a positive benefit to the purchaser in helping him to secure such goods as will give the greatest satisfaction in every respect. AND WE GUARANTEE that the goods set forth in either plan, if taken altogether, shall be found from $15 to $50 cheaper than they can be bought for elsewhere.

POPULARITY, BECAUSE all intending purchasers can find in these plans the realization of their ideas, and because no matter which you accept, you will find it is just exactly as if you had framed it yourself.

A Well Known Printer's Testimony.

MR. LYMAN METCALF, 46 Middle Street, one of the best known printers in Lowell, says: "Last winter I was troubled with congestion, and a distressing catarrhal trouble of the stomach. I tried two prominent Boston physicians and paid them a lot of money; but they did me no good. I was then induced by a friend to try a sample bottle of

I felt immediate relief, and before I had finished the whole bottle I was completely cured, and the troubles have never returned. I then recommended it to a friend of mine, who was also cured of a severe throat trouble after he had used half a bottle. I have so much faith in it that I urge all who suffer with Congestion, or Lung Troubles, to try it."

Quality, Not Quantity.

THE SIZE Of a newspaper is no guarantee of its excellence. The public wants quality, not quantity, in a newspaper. News that is old is not improved by spreading it over a large number of pages, where the reader must hunt to find it. You can read in the padded sheets tomorrow much of what you see in THE SUN today.

LOCAL NEWS.

Smoke Tower's Corner cigar.

Prof. Henry Baril entertained a large audience at the Eliot church, last evening.

It is stated that several of the Lowell mills may have to run overtime to keep up with the orders.

Music hall restaurant under new management. Come and board with us; we will make you fat.

The canal bridge on Central street is undergoing much needed repairs and travel is bothered considerably thereby.

The Central Labor union's aid committee having in charge the work of raising funds for the Olneyville strikers, went before Social assembly, Knights of Labor, last night, and as a result secured a pledge of $25.

A countryman, while driving along Gorham street yesterday afternoon, fell from his wagon to the ground. When picked up it was found that he was intoxicated, and so he was taken in the patrol to the police station.

Post 42 G. A. R. has secured new quarters in the Associate building at the corner of Worthen and Merrimack streets. The new quarters will be ready for occupancy about Dec. 1, and arrangements have been made whereby rooms will be provided for the band, Women's relief corps and the post.

J. P. Campbell, late resident manager has placed a keeper at the Bijou, for salary due, and the Bascom heirs have a claim for rent. It is said Mr. Campbell has leased the theatre in Brockton, run by Mr. Spitz, and will continue as manager till the end of the season.

Tonight, the board of trade meets and will consider municipal matters under the head of the charter revision. The directors for the ensuing year to be voted for at the December meeting will be put in nomination. An amendment to the by-laws, reducing the number of directors to 25, will be offered.

A man came into THE SUN office with a grievance. He said that on last Tuesday he was in the public library when some poorly clad men came into the building. The janitor, he says, told them to get out, calling them tramps. Now, this man wishes to state that it is wrong to call an unemployed man a tramp, and spoke fluently on tramps, the unemployed, etc.

The failure, reported last week in the Boston papers, of Stacks Brothers, manufacturers of fine clothing, furnishes a grand opportunity for Lowell people to buy overcoats, suits and pants at 46 cents on the dollar. J. L. Chalifoux was the lucky man to secure the goods and he proposes to sell them at 46 cents on the dollar. See advertisement, "self explanatory." Sale commences Thursday morning at 8 o'clock.

The Annual Meeting.

The N. E. A. A. U., held its annual meeting in the B. A. A. club house, last night, and Fisher H. Pearson, T. P. Sullivan and J. H. Comber represented the L. C. A. A.

It was a harmonious meeting and much business pertaining to athletics was done. Fisher H. Pearson was elected upon the governing board for the next year. John F. Moakley was chosen official handicapper.

He Should be Adjutant General.

The name of Col. Wm. L. Chase is mentioned in connection with the Adjutant-Generalcy. Gov. Greenhalge could hardly make a more satisfactory appointment for the militia. Col. Chase is able, active and immensely popular with both officers and men of the militia. He is a thorough tactician and has made a careful study of the needs of citizen soldiery. He would be a model official.—Lawrence Telegram.

Col. Chase would be a vast improvement over the present incumbent of the office who has become a back number in the service, so rapid has been the development of the militia. And besides it is about time that the ordinary, everybody sort of military gets a share in the advantages of new equipment, etc., and time that the naval battalion and several other newly organized branches were allowed the opportunity of wearing the newness off equipment, uniforms, etc. Col. Chase's appointment would do more for the militia today than any other change which could be suggested.

Pipe With a History.

In a show-case in Gallagher's cigar store on Merrimack street, there is a pipe, which from the history connected with it, is quite a curiosity. The pipe is badly battered, and is only held together by the aid of pieces of tin. The pipe belongs to Martin Riley of Belvidere and he makes the following statement: "This pipe was the property of General Santefey of Mexico. The general presented it to one of his officers in the Mexican war. This officer was killed during an engagement and the pipe was taken from his pocket by one of the American soldiers and carried in the rebellion by a private in a Baltimore regiment. It changed hands from the Union to the rebel soldiers, was taken and returned a dozen times and finally carried triumphant out of the fields by one of our Union soldiers and presented to the present owner by a veteran of Baltimore, Md."

BOWLING NEWS.

THE SUN acknowledges the receipt with compliments of Representative James Stuart Murphy, a copy of the report on manual training and industrial education by the state commission. It is a valuable volume and gives much interesting information in the special branches of school work.

Some of the bricklayers have had their attention directed to a phase of the contract labor law which they think they can turn to their advantage. It appears from the information given by some of them last evening that during the recent strike some of the local master masons hired bricklayers from Canada and that the circumstances were such as to bring the transactions within the jurisdictions of the contract labor law.

A large crowd witnessed the old fashioned game of "peggy" which was played on the North Common yesterday, between two teams, on one John J. Ryan, Wm. H. Merritt and Barney Cahill, and on the other, J. F. Courtney, Frank O'Brien and Robert V. Saunders. The former team won two out of three rounds. James H. Smith was to have been referee, but was detained by political engagements. The winners will accept challenges.

An entertainment and banquet was given last evening by Merrimack lodge, I. O. O. F., at the hall on Middlesex street. A large attendance was present. The arrangements were in charge of Vice Grand David Burns, Noble Grand Jonathan Woods and others. A fine program was presented and supper was served in the upper hall. Speeches were made by Past Grand David Willman and Past Grand Masters Francis Jewett and A. B. Plimpton. Tonight Oberlin lodge will celebrate its 50th anniversary with appropriate exercises.

What "Old Hundred" Hayes Says.

In speaking of Greenhalge's large vote Mr. Hayes, the famous "Old Hundred," says he was slightly disappointed on the vote in the city, and believes that if Hugh Montgomery had not declared for the republican ticket, Mr. Greenhalge would have carried Lowell by 1300. Mr. Hayes will lead in cheers for Gov.-elect Greenhalge every day in the week and all day Sunday.

Work Will Continue.

Although there has been more or less talk about the stopping of work on the new post office because of the expenditures exceeding the appropriation, the situation seems to be about the same as when the U. S. inspector was here several weeks ago. He assumed that the building would be covered in, and if sufficient warmth was had, interior work could go on during the winter. Yesterday workmen were slating the roof. Superintendent Conlon says he expects that as soon as Mr. Staples is finished contracts for interior work will be given out. He also states that not over $125,000 of the $200,000 appropriation has been spent.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE.—On Thursday evening Annie Ward Tiffany will be seen here in "Lady Blarney," a new play written for her by Mr. Alfred Kennedy, who has succeeded in giving for the star a part which affords her numerous opportunities to display her versatility as a character actress. It is the best thing Miss Tiffany has done in late years. The climaxes of all the acts are dramatic and the dialogue is bright and catchy.

"Hands Across the Sea" in its previous performances in this city has usually packed the theatres in Lowell, and still its drawing powers are as strong as ever. Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday matinee.

MUSIC HALL.—Little Allie Fisher proved herself a star of the first magnitude last night as Birdie Lamar, in "The Upper Hand." For so young a child her acting is surprisingly artistic. She was applauded to the echo, too, and will be the talk of the city before the week is half over. Mr. Meldon and Miss Tucker sustained the serious interest with their usual success, Messrs. Thomas, Watson and Lyle all made big hits in comedy parts and Joe Harrington had a bit as a Chinaman, that brought him and Mr. Thomas a scene call. Miss Williams played two parts well. The rest of the company was satisfactory, and the play was very well staged.

STREET NUMBERS.

How the Renumbering Troubles Letter Carriers and Others.

The work of renumbering Lowell's residences is assuming such progress as to add greatly to the labors of the local letter carriers. All the force is obliged to carry a book containing a list of the old and present number on each residence that has been renumbered. Much of the added labor could be spared if people who subscribe for regular papers, dailies, weeklies and monthlies would request the publisher to place the new number on their regular papers.

This is important in cases where sickness or accident prevent the regular carrier from working. Many of the carriers state that on streets which have been renumbered many months, papers bear the old number. The "boys" hope that subscribers will promptly request the publishers to alter their address and thus lessen their work for the coming winter.

The same cause leads to the failure in delivery of many papers. SUN subscribers should send in their new numbers.

THEIR JUST DESERTS.

Two Men Plead Guilty, But the Third One Said Not Guilty, Yet Had Nothing to Say in Defence of Himself.

After ten months confinement to the bed, the result of a most cowardly assault, Mr. Edward Rogers, the well known labor man, is able to be out again with the assistance of a pair of crutches.

It will be some time yet before he will be entirely recovered, so the ferocity of the assault may be imagined.

He was in court this morning to appear against the three men who are charged with having assaulted him. Two of them have pleaded guilty, and the third, Thomas Kelleher, who was arrested yesterday, pleaded not guilty.

He is not over 20 years of age.

The case was tried and Mr. Rogers testified that on the afternoon of September 18, he was standing on Appleton street in conversation with Thomas O'Boyle, when five men came along and pushed him off the sidewalk. He turned and asked them what they were trying to do, whereupon two of them turned and punched him, and later the three, one of the defendants punched him, knocking him to the ground and then kicked him in the face. The defendant in asking Mr. Rogers questions, partly incriminated himself by saying that no one kicked him they only punched him.

Dr. Gage testified to the extent of the injuries which were serious.

For the defence Kelleher had nothing to say and the court sentenced him to the house of correction for one year, stating that such a sentence was warranted by the brutality of the offense. The sentence will go into effect upon the expiration of that which he is now serving for drunkenness.

Joseph O'Brien and Thomas Donnelly the other two were each sentenced to the House of Correction for one year for assault, and an additional four months in the same institution for drunkenness.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Pass a Big Batch of Petitions For Street Improvements.

The board of aldermen held a special meeting last evening, Aldermen Lovejoy and F. W. Puffer absent.

The board of health sent in a communication calling attention to the necessity of a sewer to drain the section which now empties into River Meadow Brook. The communication was placed on file.

The following petitions were referred: G. W. Bagley and others for sewer in Foster street; Charles Callahan to open sewer in Lakeview avenue; William Nichols for an electric light at the junction of Moody and Tilden streets; J. F. Savage same at the corner of Tenth and Metheun streets; George Emsley same on Weed street; J. A. McQuade and others for appointment of J. A. Gately as constable; Ann Blessington for removal of trees on South street; Peter London, John B. Swift and others for new highway in southern portion of the city; A. J. Simpson and others remonstrating against accepting James court; W. E. Fitch to build an addition to the brick building at the corner of Middlesex and Gorham streets.

A petition asking for a recount of the senatorial vote was received and it was voted to begin the recount at 2.30 this afternoon.

A resolution authorizing the city to seize land adjacent to the Edson cemetery for the purpose of providing additional accommodations for single graves, was passed unanimously.

The amendment to the ordinance regulating hackney coaches and express teams was passed to be ordained.

Several reports of the street committee were ordered to lie in the city clerk's office seven days.

The petition of W. W. Clark for an undertaker's license was referred to the board of health.

The following resolutions took their final passage: To accept sidewalk on the easterly side of Concord Street; to accept sidewalk on the southerly side of Shaw street upon petition of W. E. Potter; to change the name of a portion of Salem street to Pawtucket street; to remove trees on Bridge street upon petition of Margaret Manning. The following petitioners were given leave to withdraw: A. H. Milliken, that New School street be called School street; Alvin Hughes and Mary A. Halisey, for abatement of sewer assessments.

Jammed Between the Cars.

A man named Thomas McCarty, residing at 64 Willie street, and employed by Davis & Sargent, was caught between the cars on Western avenue at 7.30 o'clock this morning and badly jammed. He was removed to St. John's hospital where upon examination it was found that he was badly injured internally.

PERSONAL.

Simon Towle, the veteran photographer arrived home yesterday from the World's Fair and other points where he has been for several weeks. He has taken many views of the Fair and other points of interest.

The engagement of Miss Gertrude Stanley, daughter of Ex-alderman George E. Stanley, and Mr. William L. Mack, son of Mr. W. A. Mack and junior partner in the firm, was announced yesterday.

The engagement of a well known newspaper man to a young lady of Belvidere will probably be announced in a few days, and likewise will be the engagement of a prominent society young lady to a New Yorker.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Harris have gone to Florida for the winter.

Rev. Claude Raboteau, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church, and Mrs. Raboteau, have returned from their trip abroad.

After an absence of four years in the south and west, Mr. Thomas F. Byron, has returned to Lowell and will make this city his home again. He was formerly editor of the Weekly Sun and is well known among the newspaper fraternity.

POLICE COURT.

Hadley, J.

Fifteen drunks.

Two of them aged farmers from the suburbs were released.

Yesterday afternoon, a French youth names Philip Terrien went into J. L. Chalifoux's store and asked to see a pair of trousers. He was sohwn a $4 pair, and upon his request was shown to an apartment where he might try on the new pair. In a short time he was noticed going out of the store with the new trousers on, and the old ones tucked inside. Officer Clements "nailed" him and in court he was found guilty and sentenced to the Massachusetts Reformatory.

John Fay was charged with an atrocious act, stealing a pound of salt worth 5 cents, the property of H. W. Streeter. He was also charged with drunkenness.

James Aham, who sold his $7 in wages for $3, while his wife, who is in a delicate condition was starving, was in court for non-support. He was found guilty and was sent to jail for four months.

Street Department Work.

At the meeting of the street committee yesterday afternoon, Alderman Evans presided.

Alderman Evans desired to know if anything was to be done in regard to the Dummer street extension. Councilman Dolan replied that last year's committee voted to recommend a loan of $51,000 to pay for property destroyed. As improvements have been made since then he thought that a larger sum should be awarded.

Councilmen Hoban, Constantineau and Alderman Evans were appointed a committee to visit the premises and form an estimate of the amount required.

The committee then went into executive session and held a consultation over the Concord river bridge matter. It was finally voted to ask the city council for an appropriation of $60,000 for the new bridge.

Marriage Intentions.
